The Island Capital

Few cities of its size on the continent will compare with Charlottetown in the spaciousness and cleanliness of its streets, the neatness of its residential properties, and number and architectural beauty of its churches, and the general air of prosperity and well-being which it exhibits.

Places of interest in and around the City include the historic Legislative Building, Government House and Victoria Park, Prince of Wales College, head of the educational system of the Province, St. Dunstan's University, St. Dunstan's Basilica, St. Peter's Cathedral, St. James Church and many other fine religious edifices, as well as public buildings, squares and gardens.

The Charlottetown and Prince Edward Island Hospitals and Provincial Sanatorium are situated within the city, and have high standards of efficiency and public service.

The Dominion Experimental Farm, on the outskirts of the city, is the headquarters for all information on agricultural matters.

Also on the outskirts are the splendidly situated and equipped Driving Park and Provincial Exhibition Association fair grounds, which accommodate many thousands of spectators during the annual Exhibition week.

The Charlottetown Hotel, under the C. N. R. management, is regarded as one of the finest hotels in the Maritime Provinces. In addition there are many other up-to-date hostelrys, catering both to permanent and transient guests.

Centre of the mercantile trade of the Province, the wholesale and retail stores of Charlottetown do a thriving business and carry a large and varied assortment of goods.

A large export trade, particularly in seed potatoes, is carried on by rail and steamer.

Branches of five of the leading banks of Canada are located in the city, and several of the larger financial houses are also represented.

The civic government is composed of a Mayor and eight Councillors elected every two years. The water and sewerage systems are operated municipally, as are the fire and police departments which maintain high standards of efficiency.
