The contest formed a part of the regular home and school association meeting which was attended by a large number of interested people.

Owen Oliver was announced winner in the keen competition. The judges were Merrit Callaghan, supervisor of schools, and James McNeill, a member of the teaching staff in O'Leary.

Following their report, awards were presented by Mrs. C. H. Weeks on behalf of Alberton Women's Institute. The name of the winner will be inscribed on the plaque which was presented three years ago for annual competition in public speaking or debate.

POTATO BOARD PLEBISCITE

A plebiscite on the future of the Potato Board will be held on April twenty first.

It is the right and the duty of every producer of potatoes to exercise his or her privilege and vote on this very important matter and thereby express an interest and have a voice in the future of the industry.

It is estimated the 1964 crop will bring an amount in excess of twenty million potato dollars to this province. This certainly is most reassuring to all, and especially to those directly connected with this very important part of our Island industry.

Potato dollars will continue, as always, to have a tremendous influence on the economy of Prince Edward Island. While the present favourable situation is due to many unforeseen factors a good portion has been achieved through the combined teamwork of producers, dealers, and others working in close harmony with your board.

We urge every potato producer to carefully consider the importance of a well organized effort to extend the promotion of this industry.

Your vote is important—it is important that you vote.
