LOADING

HEAVY FOWL, CHICKEN, CAPON

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 21

8:30 A.M. to 2 P.M.

You all realize the problems that 1951 will ask us to face in the poultry business. Better salesmanship, better poultry, definitely better sales appeal poultry. An increase in advertising. Lower production costs. Some improvement in marketing. The positive necessity of production and consumption under perfect control. I am experimenting on the marketing angle, with the trade showing a keen interest. I have good reasons in asking you to throw the full weight of your poultry strength to the aid of our poultry truck loadings.

Mrs. Jones Tells Story of Famous Toy Rocker Being Shipped via Aircraft Carrier Magnificent And Expresses Appreciation of P.E.I. Hospitality

—A story of exceptional human interest was published in The Guardian on Oct. 25, via the Canadian Press from Portsmouth, England, concerning a toy rocking chair, made by Mr. E. V. Jones, of Bristol, Eng., for his grandchildren in Summerside, P.E.I., which was being taken to Canada on board the 1400-ton aircraft carrier "Magnificent."

The Guardian is in receipt of the following letter in this connection from Mrs. Jones, together with photographs which are here reproduced, and which will be read with keen interest and appreciation in this Province:

"Devonia" Wakedon Gardens Yatton, North Bristol.

England, 10th Nov. 1950

Sir—I was delighted to receive cuttings from your paper today, from my daughter, Mrs. Nelson Smith, featuring the story of the rocking chair which the Aircraft Carrier "H.M.C.S. Magnificent" is bringing home. I enclose two pictures which may be of interest to your readers—one is "myself and rocking chair" and the other "Commodore K. E. Adams and myself" taken in his cabin, when I presented him with the prayer book.

When you have finished with them will you please forward them to my daughter at St. Eleanors, Summerside. I hope the remainder of my letter will interest you. I feel it should have been written long ago, but if you would kindly publish it now, I should be very pleased.

I came to Canada three years ago to visit my daughter and her husband who were then living at West Point. My daughter had had a nervous breakdown and the visit was rather necessary. I came over by T.C.A.—what a wonderful trip—and landed at St. Eleanors. I really was not prepared for the wonderful kindness of all the people I met. My son-in-law, I knew, was a loving, gentle and kindly man, and his mother and father, Mrs. and Mr. Smith were the only kind of parents such a boy could have.

I stayed with my daughter for five months, and during that time my daughter's health having improved, I went visiting and everywhere I went I was greeted with such wonderful kindness and hospitality I never dreamed was possible. I stayed with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Neil Boulter. It was a joy to me to meet many boys who had been stationed in England and to talk "England" with them.

I did not realize how fond of Great Britain you Canadians are, and what a great regard you have for Winston Churchill. When I go to our Women's Institute meetings, I'm often many hundreds of miles away in my thoughts, and I live again the hours I spent with Bertha, Helen, Marie, Mrs. Jago, Mrs. Arnold Boates and the others, at their Institute meetings. Such brave work! How I loved the clever rags they "hooked" and Mrs. Boates' shell-work was something to see under a magnifying glass to realize the exquisite and delicate workmanship involved.

The one regret of my life will always be that my husband was not there to meet everyone with me, and my one ambition in life is to come to P.E.I. again with him.

When I am lonesome for my loved daughter, her husband and my three grandchildren (I have only seen one of them), I indulge in wonderful "day dreams" of winning a big prize in some contest or other, as I feel that this is the only way I can get to your lovely island again, to meet the children and friends, ride again in Annie's "old jalopy" to go visiting old Mel McLean and other West Point friends on Howwolen. But alas! only day-dreams.

Friends in England have asked me, why my husband "made a rocking chair and not a rocking horse"?

DOGWOOD AND FAMILY HIT NEW LAUGH HIGH IN "BLONDIE'S HERO"

—Newest in the popular series of comedies, "Blondie's Hero" opens today at the Capitol Theatre. Penny Singleton, Arthur Lake and Larry Simms top the featured cast, which also includes Marjorie Kent, William Frawley and Daisy the Bumstead family pooch. "Blondie's Hero," like its predecessors, is based upon the comic strip "Blondie" created by Chic Young.

In "Blondie's Hero," Arthur Lake continues in typical Dagwoodian fashion to involve the Bumsteads in an amazing assortment of difficulties from which he and they are rescued only by the ingenious Blondie. These difficulties include the Bumsteads' sudden homelessness as the result of a swindler's antics, the virtual destruction of an Army encampment and the complete demoralization of discipline in the Army Reserve.

The script of "Blondie's Hero" calls for Dagwood to sign recruitment papers for the Army Reserve in a moment of confusion, with orders to show up for training during his vacation. Almost simultaneously, Dagwood turns over possession of his home to the confidence man who "sells" the place.

Mrs. E. V. Jones, of North Bristol, England, with the gaily painted rocking chair built by her husband for their grandchildren in Summerside, P.E.I., which is being taken to Canada by the Aircraft Carrier "Magnificent," via Portsmouth, Lisbon, Gibraltar, Bermuda and Halifax. The "Magnificent" is due in Halifax on Nov. 26 when a special naval patrol will take the chair to Summerside to Mrs. Jones' daughter Barbara (Mrs. Nelson Smith) and three grandchildren, Glen 4, Alan, 2, and Brenda, three months.

"Received one chair (rocking) for conveyance to Prince Edward Island, Gulf of St. Lawrence" was the entry which Commodore Kenneth F. Adams, Captain of Canada's aircraft carrier "Magnificent" made in the ship's log on leaving Portsmouth last month. Commodore Adams is seen above in his cabin, being presented by Mrs. E. V. Jones with an Anglican prayer book, printed 100 years ago and enclosed in ivory, in appreciation of his kindness and courtesy.

—SURPRISE PARTY — Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Walker were tendered a delightful surprise party at their home at Kensington, on Saturday evening, November 11, when the family of Mrs. Walker gathered to congratulate the popular couple on the occasion of the fifteenth anniversary of their marriage. When all the family had arrived, Mr. Walter Campbell was called upon to act as Master of Ceremonies. Mr. and Mrs. Walker were then ushered into the living room by Mr. and Mrs. Keith Simmons, where an address was read and a presentation of china-ware was made by Mrs. Howard Cairns. Although taken completely by surprise, Mr. and Mrs. Walker both responded with adequate expressions of appreciation. "For They are Jolly Good Fellows" was sung. The remainder of the evening was spent with games and social chat and instrumental music by Mrs. Albert Campbell, Mrs. Keith Simmons, Mrs. Walter Moore and Mr. Howard Cairns. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Cecil Paynter and Mrs. Walter Campbell. —Bur.

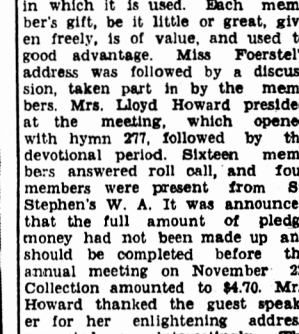

—MISSIONARY SPEAKS AT KENSINGTON Miss Marie Foerstel, missionary of the Canadian Anglican Church to Japan, was the guest speaker at the November meeting of St. Mark's W. A. of Kensington which was held at the home of Mrs. Walter Moore. Miss Foerstel, whose friendly personality endeared her at once to her listeners, was dressed in Japanese costume. Her address was mainly an interesting account of the many purposes for which the pledge money given by W. A. members is used. Schools for the blind, kindergartens for young children, and sanitoriums for the treatment of T. B., are some of the services which the pledge money makes possible, as well as the training of candidates and the salaries of missionaries. Though the amount raised is large, it is not too large for the many ways in which it is used. Each member's gift, be it little or great, given freely, is of value, and used to good advantage. Miss Foerstel's address was followed by a discussion, taken part in by the members. Mrs. Lloyd Howard presided at the meeting, which opened with hymn 277, followed by the devotional period. Sixteen members answered roll call, and four members were present from St. Stephen's W. A. It was announced that the full amount of pledge money had not been made up and should be completed before the annual meeting on November 22. Collection amounted to $4.70. Mrs. Howard thanked the guest speaker for her enlightening address, presented so interestingly. The hostess was assisted at the tea hour by Mrs. John Moore and Mrs. Elmer Moore, in serving dainty and appetizing refreshments. —Bur.
