

Bathurst Marine, Unions Sign New Employee Pact

GEORGETOWN — A new contract has been signed between Bathurst Marine Limited and the two unions representing all hourly-paid employees of the company. The contract is effective February 15.

The main points in the new contract are a five per cent general increase in salary for all hourly-paid employees which follows minor changes and certain revisions of classification rates.

Workers will now receive two weeks holidays with pay at the end of one year of employment. The former arrangement regarding holidays was one week of holidays at the completion of the first year of employment and two weeks at the completion of three years.

REQUESTED CONCILIATOR
The negotiations were held in Georgetown on February 1, 2 and 3. On Feb. 4, the company advised the Provincial Government, Department of labor, that negotiations had progressed to the stage where they felt it was necessary to request the aid of a conciliator to assist in the conclusion of the collective bargaining negotiations with respect to proposals by the unions that would increase the company's costs.

The conciliator was requested as a result of company's concern on the vital question of increased costs to the company. Working with the conciliator, agreement was subsequently reached on all outstanding points in question and the new contract, as a result, is a more workable one.

GOOD RELATIONS
The negotiations were well conducted and both the company and the representatives of the two unions involved stressed the good labor management relations that have existed in the past. They felt that these relations will be enhanced by the signing of the new contract.

Taking part in the negotiations were J. Milton MacPhail, president, Guy Coffin, vice-president; Gordon MacKenzie, secretary-treasurer, and Dennis Thiboud-

Sharp Price Fluctuation Noted In Cigarette Prices

By JOHN LeBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer
From province to province, prices of Canadian cigarettes drift up and down with all the consistency of tobacco smoke. A hodge-podge of provincial taxes helps float them around.

They roam between a low of 38 cents for a package of 20 in Alberta, the only province without a tax, and 45-46 cents in Manitoba, where the eight-cent tax is the country's highest.

A Cross-Country Survey by The Canadian Press shows that prices in five provinces—Quebec, Ontario, Saskatchewan, Alberta and Nova Scotia—have gone up since the start of 1966. All the increases were generated within the trade; there have been no recent tax hikes.

All amounted to one cent at retail for the 20-pack in the provinces affected. But there is no unanimity in what caused them. Retailers point to wholesalers, and wholesalers point to manufacturers.

MADE TAX THE GOAT
In Ontario, the trade at first tried to pin it on a change in the provincial tax, but it turned out the province was just using a simpler basis to get the same amount. In Quebec, jobbers blamed a change in manufacturers' invoicing methods. But a manufacturer said jobbers suggested the change, and it didn't represent a net price increase anyway.

A big Alberta retailer said: "Ask the wholesalers. They set the prices." A wholesaler said: "We only peddle the stuff. The manufacturers back east set the prices."

Alberta's price was raised by a cent in early January after wholesalers boosted their charge by three cents a carton. The old price had been in effect 1 1/2 years. The standard carton price for 20 is $3.40 retail.

On the next rung up the ladder, Ontario's price is 38 or 39 cents, depending on the outlet. The United Cigar chain at first went along with the one-cent boost from 38 cents but then retracted it in Ontario and Quebec. Cartons sell between $3.39 and $3.40 in Ontario. The tax in this province now is 1-20 cent per cigarette, a Jan. 1 change from three per cent on the retail price.

Nova Scotia went to the 40-cent level in late January with

Geo'town Centennial Group Accepts Gift Of Potted Plants

GEORGETOWN — Meeting in the council chambers Wednesday night, the Georgetown centennial committee, under the chairmanship of Alec Arsenault, accepted with appreciation, an offer from Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dorgan of Woodville Mills and former Georgetonians, of $200.00 worth of beeded plants, to help in beautifying the centennial committee's project of creating a park and playground out of Kent Square.

Mr. and Mrs. Dorgan, own Cromwell Farm at Woodville Mills and part of their operation includes a large greenhouse. The couple also offered their assistance in planning and advice.

The committee was unanimous in its acceptance of this donation, the first from former residents of the Town.

The committee was also encouraged by an increase in attendance at the meeting and looks for greater attendances at future meetings, as the project progresses.

WILL ORDER POST CARDS
It was decided that three hundred post cards would be ordered for distribution, with an accompanying letter to all former residents, in a campaign for funds, similar to the one conducted at the time the rink was built. The post cards will show a plan of the Kent Square project as it will appear on completion, setting out the various areas; trees; shrubbery, flower beds; war memorial. This will give former residents an idea of the extent and complexity of the whole project.

The committee appointed to obtain addresses of former residents will start a drive in this connection, so that the letters and post cards may be mailed out at an early date as possible.

It was decided that, if the necessary arrangements can be finalized, a Moccasin Dance be held in the rink on either Friday, February 25th or March 4th. Various details in this connection were discussed and committee members will proceed with the necessary arrangements.

The idea of holding a movie, or more than one, if the venture proved successful was also discussed at length and this fund raising project will be further explored by the Ways and Means Committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Yvon Bouchard and Mr. and Mrs. Arne Thorsen, were appointed to the ways and means committee, which increases the number on this committee to nine.

Blind Bowlers Challenge Lions

Last evening at the Rollaway alleys, the blind bowlers challenged the bowlers of the Charlottetown Lions Club. This was the fourth consecutive tournament between the blind and Lions during White Cane Week.

Urgent Need Is Reported For Doctors In Northland

By BRENDA LARGE
OTTAWA (CP) — There is an urgent need for more doctors and dentists in the Northwest Territories, Dr. Gordon Butler, chief of northern health services for the federal health department, told the Territorial Council.

He made the statement just before the council approved the federal government's proposed medical care, insurance plan, which is to go into effect in the territories July 1, 1967.

Dr. Butler said it was difficult to keep northern outposts supplied with doctors and dentists. "Our recruitment is not good and if we don't get more recruits this summer we are going to be in a very bad situation."

He said higher salaries are necessary to attract more experienced doctors to the area and asked the council to "pass a resolution or a recommendation to the minister of health" about the shortage.

Administration of health services in the territories is the responsibility of the federal government.

S.C. Oland Buys Sire

The Ayrshire sire, Cherry Bank Royal Anchor, that was owned here by Keith Boswell, Victoria has been purchased recently by S.C. Oland, Halifax and is being used now on his Lindwood Farm herd at Lower Sackville, N.S. It was learned yesterday from Mr. Boswell who visited the Lindwood Farm here recently.

It was Royal Anchor bull that sired Lesland's Roy Margaret, the young cow that won the grand championship at the Royal Winter Fair for the Lindwood Farm here in 1964.

Mr. Boswell is high on the Royal Anchor sire. "I've never been beaten with a senior get-of-sire by him, Mr. Boswell told The Guardian yesterday.

The bull has been owned recently by Clarence Harris, Truro, N.S., who bought him from Mr. Boswell several years ago.

Speaker's Talk Finds Interest

MONTAGUE — John Morris, Charlottetown, was guest speaker at the Montague Y's Men ladies night held in the Presbyterian Church hall recently. Speaking on insurance in today's world, taxes, income, pensions and the estate, he was able in a few minutes to touch on points that aroused considerable attention.

He said the president of the Y's Men, Neil Hooley, asked him to talk on insurance and although it was a dry subject he would try to arouse the interest of the group.

Following the dinner the number of questions was proof he had struck a nerve. He was introduced by the president and also thanked by him for his talk.

Following the banquet all retired to the Y Centre where four new prospective members were given a club initiation. They will be officially inducted in the near future.
