elected as a Conservative-Unionist member of the House of Commons in 1911 from the constituency of Shelburne-Queens.

Five years later he was named parliamentary secretary of the Militia and Defence Department and in 1918 took over the same post in the newly-created Department of Soldiers Civil Re-Establishments.

He was re-elected by acclamation in 1917 as a member for Colchester and re-elected in a by-election in 1920. Then he was named a Privy Councillor and appointed Public Works Minister. He was defeated in 1921 and never re-entered public life.

The late Mr. McCurdy

Mr. McCurdy started his working career as a farm hand receiving 50 cents a day. He joined the old Halifax Banking Company at Truro in 1890 and, following appointment as the manager's private secretary several years later, spent much of his time studying the banking system.

He resigned in 1900 to open a private banking firm bearing his name. He became the first non-resident member of the Montreal Stock Exchange and his company rapidly became one of the leading investment houses in Eastern Canada.

He became a publisher when he took over the old Liberal Chronicle and Star from his brother-in-law the late G. Fred Pearson. The Chronicle and Star were merged with their long-bitter rivals—the Herald and Mail—in 1949.

A government statement following merger of the two newspapers said the Chronicle lost "substantially more than $1,000,000 in the 15 years before the merger."

While publisher of the Chronicle, Mr. McCurdy opened radio station CJCH in 1944 and retained control of it until his death. He was also interested in the weekly Shelburne Coastguard.

Survivors include his widow, the former Florence Pearson. They were married in 1902 and had two sons, Pearson, who survives, and Donald, who died several years ago.

To Stand Trial For Manslaughter

Melvin Ramsay of Campbellton was committed for trial in Supreme Court on a charge of manslaughter at the conclusion yesterday in Summerside of a preliminary hearing before Magistrate R. S. Hinton, Q.C.

This charge arose out of the death of James O'Meara in an accident near Alberton on August 2, when the deceased, who was a passenger in the truck driven by the accused, received injuries resulting in death, when the truck left the highway and overturned.

Corporal Warner of the Alberton detachment of the R.C.M.P. yesterday represented the Crown; and Mr. J. A. Gallant appeared for the accused.—S

Jail Breaking Prisoners Get 6 Months Extra Confinement

Austin Smith, who said he escaped from Summerside Jail with a desire to go out and have a good time after; he had consumed half a pint of moonshine and half a gallon of beer, and Harvie Mercier, who, among other privileges, was entrusted to make evening tea for the inmates, and who violated his privileges, and also escaped custody, were each sentenced to an additional six months in jail after hearings in court before Magistrate R. S. Hinton, Q. C., in Summerside yesterday.

Smith, who was serving 15 days for being intoxicated in a public place, escaped on the evening of August 11th and returned voluntarily five days later.

Jailor Harry Bishop testified that Smith had been in jail when he went off duty about 6 o'clock, and that about 9 P. M. he had received a report that the prisoner was missing.

He said he returned to the jail and discovered a padlock on a door had been broken. The accused, speaking in his own defence, said he had not broken the padlock but had found it hanging unlocked on the staple.

He said his escape had been made through a window which was closed but unlocked.

The accused said a full pint of moonshine and a full gallon of home-made beer had been brought in from the jail's kitchen, and he and a fellow prisoner had consumed it all in about equal quantities.

He said they had previously been told by a third prisoner that these beverages were in the jail's kitchen but did not know how they got there.

When asked by the Magistrate to name these two other prisoners, he said he would "rather not", as they had since been released.

He said that he had not paid any money for either the moonshine or the beer, and that after all the supply had been consumed he decided to go out of jail and have a good time. He said he had been scared to return to jail when he sobered up the next day, but had returned voluntarily on the night of the 5th day after he escaped.

At the conclusion of the hearing the Magistrate said he did not believe much of the story told by the accused, and warned that strict penalties will have to be imposed if further attempts at jail break occur.

Mercier, the second prisoner charged with jail break, had been sentenced on August 13th to one month for theft and was serving this sentence when he disappeared from jail about 8.30 on the night of August 24th. He was re-arrested in Sydney Mines on August 27th.

Victor Allen, the assistant jailer, said that he had gone upstairs to the jailor's apartment to discuss the request of a prisoner who wanted to get out on bail. He said that Mercier had been given the privilege of moving around at will within the jail, and when he came down stairs he discovered that Mercier had disappeared.

Two other cases were before the court — a man arrested near Wellington Center for being intoxicated in a public place was fined $20 and costs. A man from the Lady Fane district lost his license for three months and was fined $100 when convicted on a section under the Temperance Act. — S.

Labor Minister Visits S'side

Yesterday at noon, Hon. M. F. Gregg, V. C., Minister of Labor, who is at present vacationing at Dalvay paid visit to the Summerside office of the National Employment Office where he was welcomed by the manager, Mr. Earle Cannon. While in the office he conversed with each member of the staff. He was accompanied by Mrs. Gregg and after the informal visit was over they drove to Charlottetown where a visit was paid to the Charottetown office. Later in the day the Minister had planned on enjoying a fishing trip to try his luck with rod and reel.—S had been cut by as much as 90 per cent in the past 52 years. Other important things contributing to the greater general welfare of Canadian people, he said, were better water systems, the pasteurization of milk and the improved position of medical care available to everyone.

The annual convention of the Society opened with the registration of those attending yesterday morning. A business meeting followed prior to luncheon at the Charlottetown Hospital where Dr. William Soper, Charlottetown, was chairman. Those present heard a brief address from Dr. T. C. Routley, general secretary of the Canadian Medical Association, who dealt with matters of general interest to all members.

Technical Discussions

When the Society returned to Prince of Wales College for the afternoon session there were several highly technical talks on various aspects of diseases with illustrations on the screen on the stage. The principal speakers during these talks were Dr. Orr, Dr. Walter MacKenzie and Dr. D. W. Wilson, all of the University of Alberta, Edmonton, Alta. Dr. MacKenzie is the Professor of Surgery there, and Dr. Wilson is the Associate Professor of Medicine.

On conclusion of their talks three Island doctors took part in briefly reviewing what had been heard and expressing a vote of thanks to the visiting medical men. Those from this Province were Dr. George Inman, Montague, chairman of the afternoon session; Dr. John Downing, Summerside; Dr. Claude Simpson, Summerside; and Dr. Wendell MacDonald, radiologist of this city.

Last night, when the business sessions had ended, the delegates attended the annual President's Dinner at the Charlottetown. This was presided over by Dr. J. A. MacMillan, president of the P.E.I. Medical Society.

Today's Proceeding

Business sessions of the Society will be resumed this morning when the principal item of business will be the election of officers for the coming year. At the luncheon to be held at noon at the P.E.I. Hospital, presided over by Dr. Sterling Giddings, the principal speaker will be Hon. A. W. Matheson, Minister of Health and Welfare.

After lunch the members will return to the College Auditorium where Dr. George Dewar, O'Leary, will be chairman for the afternoon. The speakers will be Dr. D. W. Wilson, and Dr. Walter MacKenzie, while the Island doctors taking part will be Dr. J. W. MacKenzie and Dr. T. A. Laidlaw, both of Charlottetown.

The annual convention will conclude tonight with the annual Medical Ball which will be held this year at Dalvay-by-the-Sea. Present for the occasion will be the wives of the delegates and of the visiting speakers.
