A WONDERFUL ESCAPE

Patrick Hurley Falls One Hundred and Fifty Feet and Lives.

BATHURST, Dec. 19.—A most wonderful escape from instant death occurred at Clifton, about 17 miles from here, on Tuesday last. Patrick Hurley and James Madden, of Grand Anse, were in town and left for home about 3 o'clock, each with his own team. When near the Roman Catholic church at Clifton it was snowing hard and very dark. Hurley, who was ahead, got off the road and drove over a cliff 150 feet high. As related by Hurley to a friend the horse went over on a trot. The sled struck a ledge of rock, 50 feet from the top, breaking the shafts off. The horse got clear and fell 100 feet below. The sled with Hurley fell the same distance, close to where the horse landed. Strange to say, he was only slightly injured. His escape was due to the wraps and buffalo robes on the sled, and his fur coat also protected him. Knowing the locality well he dragged himself along three quarters of a mile to the road which leads to the top of the cliff. When he got to the top he was too weak to climb a fence to get to the nearest house owned by a Mr. Knowles. Fortunately, Knowles happened to be in his yard at the time and hearing cries for help went to his assistance and brought him to the house. Dr. Meahan was summoned and found no bones broken, but badly shaken up. Madden, who was following, did not know for some time, though he surmised something of the kind had happened. When he missed Hurley he returned to see if he could get some tidings of his companion. Hurley's horse was instantly killed and the sled broken up. People who know the place regard Hurley's escape as something marvellous.

REMINISCENCES.

SIR.—Some years back it had been found that the cultivation of apples in P. E. Island was very much neglected, so much so that a writer in THE EXAMINER of that day, in speaking of the large sale of Nova Scotia apples in P. E. Island, observed that there was nothing derogatory to their growth in the soil, climate or temperature of the Island. Attention was then directed to the cultivation of apples to a larger extent than formerly. New orchards took the place of old ones and Island apples were largely raised and soon began to show that in growth or quality they were not behind the productions of the sister provinces. Besides supplying their own wants we have orchardists now on the Island, who ship abroad large quantities for which they receive fair remuneration. One writing in THE EXAMINER some twenty years ago stated the fact that some five thousand dollars were paid in Charlottetown alone to the apple growers of Nova Scotia in one year. This caused the farmers of the Island to give their attention to the growth of apples, and as a result they now ship abroad large quantities of the best in quality grown in the Maritime Provinces.

There is also a Xmas tree, and the barracks is being beautifully decorated.

A SAD AFFAIR.—A painfully sad affair happened at Grand River (east) on the 22nd inst., by which two little daughters of Archibald Cameron lost their lives. The girls, Maggie, aged 12 years, and Bella, aged 8, were coasting on a hill sloping into Grand River, when their sleigh ran on the ice, which was too thin to support them. It broke, and both fell into the water. Neither of the bodies has yet been found.—Summerside Journal.

HILLSBOROUGH RINK.—The rink will be formally opened for the season on Monday evening next. With a good sheet of ice, the best band music available, and every other attention possible there is no reason why there should not be a large attendance on the opening night as well as on each succeeding night throughout the season. The manager, Mr. Bartlett, is determined to leave nothing undone that would be calculated to please patrons of the rink and serve to make the time pass pleasantly. By the way, a rink ticket would make a most acceptable Christmas present.

ST. DUNSTON'S CATHEDRAL.—Pontifical High Mass will be celebrated at midnight tonight. His Lordship Bishop McDonald being the celebrant. The choir, under Mr. Blanchard's direction, will render Mozart's 12th Mass, Mr. Vianicombe's orchestra assisting. Rev. Father Clarke, of Boston, will be the preacher.
