The ex-Empress Eugenie was robbed on the way from her hotel to the railway station at Lyons.

The reported loss of the Australian liner "Western Monarch," with 1,300 emigrants, is contradicted.

Four Imperial functionaries have been deprived of rank and exiled to Siberia for embezzlement of State funds.

The "British Queen" with four hundred emigrants has arrived at New York with several cases of small-pox aboard.

Lord Carlingford will temporarily take the Presidency of the Council in the place of Earl Spencer, the new Viceroy of Ireland.

The young Duchess of Albany is a simple, lady-like country girl; spontaneous and frank; is a scholar, quite musical and recites with taste.

Pirates on the west coast of Africa are harrassing the foreign merchant shipping.
Trading on several of the Lower Guinea rivers is suspended in consequence.

On Saturday, May 13, Queen Victoria will visit Epping Forest, and with elaborate ceremonies "dedicate it to the use of the people forever"

Mr. William Dennis will shortly sever his connection with the Halifax Herald, having decided to join the noble army that is invading Manitoba.

The sale of 200 barrels of granulated sugar at 9 1/2 cents per lb, has caused a ripple of excitement in the Montreal trade. Refiners are now said to be holding for ten cents.

The eleven salmon canneries on the Fraser River, British Columbia, caught and shipped to England last year 580,000 boxes, each containing 48 one pound cans; while thirty-two canneries on the Columbia River, United States, only put up 366,000 cases.

Miss Lizzie Marcellus, chief equestrienne of Dan Rio's Great Show, met with a very severe accident at Cadiz, Ohio, on the Fourth of July last. It appears the lady was executing a most difficult piece of ring horsemanship, when some boys exploded a fire-cracker, causing her horse to leap from the ring and throw her on her head and shoulders, inflicting very severe injuries.
It was thought she would be laid up for a long time, but the use of St. Jacobs Oil for two days completely restored her to health and duty.—Chattanooga (Ten.) Daily Times.

Mr. L. J. Jennings the clever London correspondent of the New York World in speaking of the death of Darwin says: "Had any one ten years ago suggested Westminster Abbey as the burial place of Darwin he would have received a storm of orthodox indignation and vituperation. Now not a single dissensient voice is raised against placing the great scientist's head in that sacred earth. The Times makes the curious remark that Darwin did not need the Abbey so much as the Abbey needed Darwin. The Fall Mall Gazette says it is interesting to note that two men now rest side by side who produced a greater revolution in thought than any other two men who ever lived.

The Magdalen Islands follow Anticosti with a cry of distress owing to the shortness of the food supply. These thriftless fishing populations afford an immediate problem for economists. They are situated in the very midst of the most productive fisheries in the world. Their whole business in life is to feed other countries with the abundance of the sea, and yet they have an inveterate habit of starving. The last message that comes to us with the fall consigments, after all hope of communication except by telegraph is cut off for months, is that their only hope is in a short winter, and then the first news of spring is that they are suffering beyond help. It is very patriotic of their member, Dr. Fortin, to introduce a bill by which these hibernating fishermen of the isles shall be able to vote by telegraph. If he could devise any method for their emancipation from the traders who hold them in thralldom, and for enforcing on them some kind of providence, in view of the necessities of their families, he would do them better service.—Montreal Witness.

NEW MODE OF DISSEMINATING RELIGIOUS LITERATURE.

We hear that a gentleman has just made a very liberal offer in order to promote the circulation of Christian literature in Canada and the United States.
It is to bear the expense of sending to the people of the New World, at almost nominal rates, a large number of parcels of books and pamphlets. These are to be sent to any minister or Sunday school teacher who may like to apply for them.
Some thousands of such parcels have, we know, in the same way, lately been sent all over this country; and now a number are to be sent across the Atlantic. Each parcel is to contain some of the newest English publications by well-known authors, among whom are Haslam, Aitken, Spurgeon, etc., and especially of Miss F. R.
Hayward, whose works have lately had such an immense circulation in this country. These names are sufficient indication as to the character of the books. The British Gospel Book Association of this city have the matter in hand, and we understand that so long as the present grant lasts any Christian worker in the States or Canada, by enclosing to them a one-dollar bill, will have a two and a half dollar (or ten shillings) parcel forwarded free. The parcels have been so much appreciated in this country that we are sure many people on the other side of the Atlantic will gladly avail themselves of such help, especially in districts that may have been awakened up by Mr. Moody's preaching.—Liverpool Courier.

What Girls Should Know.

By all means let the girl learn how to cook. What right has a girl to marry and go into a house of her own unless she knows how to superintend every branch of housekeeping, and she cannot practically superintend unless she has some practical knowledge herself. Most men marry without thinking whether the woman of their choice is capable of cooking them a meal, and it is a pity they are so short-sighted, as their health, their cheerfulness, and indeed their success in life depends in a very great degree upon the kind of food they eat; in fact the whole household is influenced by their diet.
Feed them on fried cakes, fried meats, hot bread and other indigestible viands, day after day, and they will need no medicine to make them well. A man will take alcohol to counteract the evil effects of such food, and the wife and children must be physicked. Let all the girls have a share in the house-keeping at home before they marry; let each superintend some department by turns. It need not occupy half the time to see that the house has been properly swept, dusted and put in order, or to prepare puddings and make dishes, that many young ladies spend in reading novels that enervate both mind and body and unfit them for every day life. Women do not, as a general rule, get pale faces by doing housework. Their sedentary habits, in overheated rooms, combined with ill-chosen food, are to blame for bad health. Our mothers used to pride themselves on their housekeeping and fine needlework. Why should not we?

Always Ready.

The late Sir Henry Havelock was an officer who in every way studied to do the best he could for the men under his care.

Amongst other good counsels, he implored them to be sober, setting them an example himself of great temperance.
"There is no such soldier in the world," he used to say, "as the British soldier, if he can be kept from drink."

That he was successful in his endeavors, appears from the following incident chronicled in his life. During the war with Burmah, in 1824, there was a sudden call on a certain corps to meet the enemy, then rapidly approaching; but, alas! the men of that regiment were reported to be hopelessly intoxicated and unfit for duty. Men must be found for the emergency, however, and, after a moment's consideration, the general ordered: "Call out Havelock's saints; they are never drunk, and Havelock is always ready." So the bugle sounded; the men were immediately under arms, cool and calm, and ready for action.
The enemy were repulsed, and the credit of the British army saved.

A War Cloud.

A recent Paris letter says: "There is a symptom that Russia is about to be involved, sooner than she desires, in a conflict. The Turks are making important concentrations of troops and material at Djouna, not far from the Russian frontier, which have provoked a demand for explanations from the Bulgarian government, a demand, naturally, responded to evasively.
Report, and, in this case, seemingly founded upon fact, connects these concentrations with the intention to occupy the Balkan passes, in conformity with the provisions of the Berlin treaty. Turkey's action will be perfectly legal, but it will be resisted by the populations on both sides of the mountains, in which case Russia must interfere, or lose all prestige with those for whose emancipation she made such sacrifices in 1877, and who will, her protection failing, rally to the Austrians. At present, this probable complication is the most disturbing factor of the European peace."

Polar Bears on Icebergs in the Atlantic.

Boston, May 1.—The British steamer "Glamorgan" arrived here this morning from Liverpool. On April 25th, in latitude 46° 20', longitude 42° 30', she passed an iceberg fully five hundred feet high, on which were a number of polar bears. At about 4 a. m., on the 26th, she ran into a field of pack ice and icebergs.
Chief officer May reversed the engines and soon got clear. A run of twenty miles was made to the southeast, when the ship was put on her course again. She steamed 160 miles on the southern edge of the ice-field, and during that time passed fully 100 large icebergs on which were seen polar bears.

Mr. Wm. J. Smyth resides at No. 1506 N. Seventh street, Philadelphia, Pa., and is well known in journalistic circles. He writes: "I had an attack of rheumatism in both of my knee joints, and for several days I was almost crazed with the intense pain caused by the disease. To sleep was out of the question. I would lie in bed all night awake, and the slightest motion then would produce such sharp pains in my knee joints that I would actually scream out. I had to come down stairs one step at a time, and it was difficult for me even to limp about the house, and I found it impossible to attend to my business. Nothing I could do relieved me of the intense pain, although I tried everything I heard of; but a friend came in one day, and said, 'Why don't you give that St. Jacobs Oil a trial?' I resolved to and sent out for a bottle. Almost as soon as I commenced rubbing with the Oil I felt a slight relief of pain and a peculiar tingling sensation in my knees, and the more I rubbed the better I got. By the time I had used up one bottle I felt so much better that I could walk without difficulty, and I can truly say as I sit here that by the time I had consumed two bottles I was entirely cured, and now have not a vestige of rheumatism and have not been troubled with it since I finished up that second bottle of St. Jacobs Oil."
