Inspecting Officer Praises St. Dunstan's Cadet Corps

"This Corps here today put on one of the best showings I have ever seen," said Col. A. W. Rogers, E.D. Commanding Officer of 2 Militia Group, following an inspection of St. Dunstan's University Cadet Corps yesterday afternoon on the S.D.U. Athletic Field. Col Rogers went on to say that the Corps put on a fine showing and were a credit to their University. Accompanying Col. Rogers was Major Orin Simons, Staff Officer 2 Militia Group, Captain William Wilcox, Cadet Inspection Staff Headquarters, Eastern Command, and Lieut. Col. E. K. Kennedy, Officer Commanding the P. E. I. Regiment (17 Recce.) Also accompanying the inspecting team was Very Reverend John Sullivan, Rector of S.D.U. and Captain F. L. Cass, Chief Instructor of the Corps. The corps was under the command of Cadet Major Michael Farmer; Second-In-Command was Captain Harry Callaghan.

The Corps was made up of three platoons with number one platoon under the command of Lieut. Edward Morrison and Sergeant Lieut. Paul Batchelder and Sergeant Winston Chervic; and number three under the command of Lieut. David MacMillan and Sergeant Beverly Richard. Company Sergeant-Major was Vincent Mulligan and Company Quartermaster Sergeant was Leonard Walsh. Following their marching drills the Corps divided into the following demonstration groups: Rifle Drill, led by C. S. M. Vincent Mulligan; Rifle Demonstration, led by Lieuts. David MacMillan and Paul Batchelder; Bren Gun led by Capt. Harry Callaghan; Map Using Commander; Capt. William Wilcox, Cadet Inspection Staff Headquarters, Eastern Command; Lieut. Col. E. K. Kennedy, Officer Commanding the P.E.I. Regiment (17 Recce); Very Reverend John Sullivan, Rector of S.D.U. and Captain F. L. Cass, Chief Instructor of the Corps. The College Band was conducted by Mr. Lloyd Ward. Toward the end of the inspection the following prizes were presented by Col. Rogers; Strathcona Trust Prize for length and quality of service, won by Cadet Neol MacCormack; prize for the best shooting won by Cadet Major Michael Farmer; prize for the best first year cadet won by Cadet Loyola Griffin. A prize was also presented to Bandmaster, Mr. Lloyd Ward, for his outstanding work with the band. The assistant instructors of the Corps are Capt. J. R. Kelly, Mr. A. J. MacAdam and Lieut. C. J. Callaghan.

Strait Fishermen Prepare For Season Opening May 1

CHARLOTTETOWN — From the northern tip of this island of history and scenery to Victoria Harbor on the Northumberland Strait side, hundreds of lobstermen are hustling to get their gear ready for the opening of lobster fishing on May 1. Fishing hamlets along the coast have resounded to tapping hammers as fishermen repair old traps and make new ones, and to the creaking of windlasses as the sturdy lobster boats are slid down their slips into the cold Atlantic waters. Lobstering is not only a tradition but it is big business in this island in the Gulf settled by the French long ago. Last year, for instance, island fishermen landed more than 8,500,000 lbs. of lobsters. That represented a landed value of $2,448,000. The market value would greatly exceed that amount. Prince Edward Island's fishery has a long history. It is not unlikely that the first known white men who sighted it—the intrepid explorers John Cabot and Jacques Cartier—had caught and eaten the crustacea that swarmed the island's shore waters. Even before that, the island's aboriginal inhabitants—the Souriquois Indians—depended on the sea, to a large extent, for their food. It was the Souriquois who gave Prince Edward Island its name, Abegweit—in the musical language of the Souriquois that meant "cradled on the waves". SINCE 1663

red of their colleagues in the trade, island fishermen are taking advantage of the Fishermen's Indemnity Plan. This government-sponsored scheme provides insurance against loss of lobster traps and against total loss and partial loss of boats. It is of interest to note that practically 100 per cent of the fishermen in the North West district of the island have trap insurance. Popularity of boat insurance also continues to grow. More than 300 fishing boats are insured on Prince Edward Island, and last year 13 claims were paid totaling more than $5,000. LOW PREMIUMS

The low cost of the insurance—the premiums are only one per cent of the value of the boat—coupled with the constant perils of sea and fire encourage fishermen to protect their means of livelihood. The scheme gives protection to all commercial fishermen on boats ranging in value from $250 to $10,000. This plan of insurance is available to Canadian fishermen on both coasts. In British Columbia the 1,415 boats presently insured represent a value of $6,800,000. Value of boats insured in the Maritime Provinces is $2,331,814, an increase of about $379,000 over the figures for January of last year. Claims paid last year to Maritime fishermen totalled nearly $26,000. Premium revenue was less than $25,000. Since the plan was inaugurated in 1953 more than $82,000 in claims have been paid to fishermen in the three provinces for total and partial losses.

After the arrival of the English, fishing was carried on to a degree necessary to meet the food needs of the settlers. However, it was not until the middle of the last century that a really substantial commercial fishery was established. In 1850, an island deraist wrote: "It is only in the last five or six years that inhabitants of the island have entered into fishing operations on a large scale. But now they possess a fleet of fishing vessels quite well equipped as those in the United States." Since then the fishermen of Prince Edward Island have played a big hand in the development of Canadian Atlantic fisheries. Chief fish caught are cod, herring, mackerel, smelt, oysters and lobsters. Oysters of Malpeque Bay are the delight of gourmets in two hemispheres. The Malpeque product has often been termed "the world's most perfect oyster."

While a general fishery is prosecuted, lobsters represent the most valuable species caught. That not only applies to Prince Edward Island but also to its sister provinces of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. PROTECTION As are lobstermen in the Maritime Provinces, Prince Edward Island fishermen are aware of the Department of Fisheries program to protect and conserve the fishery and to improve fishing techniques. Together with hundred of their colleagues in the trade, island fishermen are taking advantage of the Fishermen's Indemnity Plan. This government-sponsored scheme provides insurance against loss of lobster traps and against total loss and partial loss of boats. It is of interest to note that practically 100 per cent of the fishermen in the North West district of the island have trap insurance. Popularity of boat insurance also continues to grow. ### Cases Heard In Police Court

Two Kings County men were arraigned in city police court yesterday. One man, a resident of Sturgeon was charged with assaulting a Peace Officer while the other, a 33-year old man from Alliston, was charged with obstructing a police officer in the execution of his duties. Both pleaded guilty to the charges on the advice of their counsel, Lester O'Donnell. The two men were arrested Monday night in Eaton's parking lot. They were charged with being drunk and disorderly when they appeared in court the following morning but the charges were withdrawn by Chief of Police C. W. MacArthur. The two men were remanded

Mr. Cox, now residing in Halifax is formerly from Morell, Prince Edward Island.

Potato Shortage In South Reported By Ship's Crew Here

A serious shortage of potatoes in the southern states was blamed on the unusually cold weather that hit the south sections of the U.S. this year. The shortage was reported by the crew members of the S.S. Vinland that docked at the Railway Wharf yesterday. The report of shortage bears out the contention of the Potato Marketing Board here. The potato supply situation warrants an accelerating demand for remaining stocks. In recent weeks the market here has been "geared to the New York Mercantile Exchange", the board protested.

A New Orleans ship chandler on hearing that the ship had just delivered a cargo of potatoes in southern waters said that he wished they had dropped 50,000 bags at his port, a crew member reported. The Vinland, under Captain Ralph A. Williams, has just returned from a freighting trip to southern U.S. ports. At the present time it is loading 40,000 bags of potatoes destined for Charlotte, N.C. and Tallahassee, Florida. The potatoes, chiefly tablestock, are being shipped by H. B. Willis.

Ch'town B. Y. P. U. Concludes Season With Annual Banquet

The annual banquet of the Baptist Young People's Union of the Charlottetown Union Baptist Church was held Thursday evening bringing to a close a most successful season of activities. Special guests included Prof. Bruce Hodgins, Mr. Wallace Scantlebury, and Rev. and Mrs. H. L. Mitton. The president of the Union, Henry Sharam, acted as chairman of the gathering, there being some forty-two present.

The committee in charge of the program included Meredith MacLeod, Paula Good, Sally Burke, and Matilda MacMillan, the latter two were also in charge of the worship period. Following the supper, the young people enjoyed a lively singing directed by Bruce Hodgins with Arthur Large at the piano. A toast to the B.Y.P.U. was proposed by David Reed, the response being made by Henry Sharam. Barbara Vaughan proposed a toast to the church, and the pastor and Youth Mentor, Rev. H. L. Mitton, replied. He called upon the young people to be faithful to their Christian ideals, to their church responsibilities, and to their Lord and Master.

The special speaker, Pro. Bruce Hodgins, dealt with the matter of racial prejudice of the North American continent, referring particularly to the problems involved in the southern United States with reference to the integration program. The speaker ably traced the historical origins of the racial tensions so much to the fore in our time, and called upon his hearers to appreciate the various factors involved. Charlotte MacEachern, on behalf of the B.Y.P.U., expressed thanks to the guest speaker.

Mr. Wallace Scantlebury provided entertainment in the form of an intricate juggling act for which he is widely known. Included among the guests at the head table were the members of the executive: Mr. Henry Sharam, president; Barbara Vaughan, vice-president; Miss Dorothy Matheson, secretary; and Arthur Large, treasurer. The president reminded the young people of five major events which are slated for the next few months: the Oratorical Contest at the June meeting of the Association of Baptist Churches, the 5th Baptist World Youth Congress in Toronto, June 27-July 2, the weekend Youth Camp at Augustine Cove in July, Camp Wagesse—the annual Maritime B.Y.P.U. Leadership Training, and Convention in Wolfville, N.S., during the latter part of August.

Forged Cheque Charge Draws Two-Month Term

A Spring Park Road man was sentenced to two months in Queens County Jail when he pleaded guilty to uttering a forged cheque. The accused, appearing before Magistrate Gilbert E. Gaudet in County Magistrate's Court yesterday, was unable to make any restitution of the $25 that he obtained through the cheque.

A Morell man and a resident of Carleton Place were fined $20 and costs or 30 days on the above charge. A Union Street resident was fined $25 and costs or 30 days when he pleaded guilty to an illegal possession charge. Investigating R.C.M.P. constables, Myles Foster and Raymond Lively, told the court that the accused had been watched for some time. On the night of his arrest they had seen him cross the street and get a bottle out of the ground beside a garage. When they drove up the accused threw the bottle away. After one of the constables had retrieved the evidence, they returned to the spot where it was taken from and, digging, found another.

A Pownal street man was fined $65 and costs or 30 days charge of driving while in when he pleaded guilty to a driving while intoxicated but paired. The original charge was the court noted that the accused had not been involved in any accident.

R.C.M.P. constables who took the man into custody said that he had passed a number of cars and that they had finally stopped him just before he entered the city limits. A fine of $10 and costs or 10 days was levied on a Bunbury man who was taken into custody by R.C.M.P. officers at Vernon River for fishing without a license.

A Scotchford girl, an Indian, charged with being intoxicated while off the reserve, was fined $10 and costs or five days. Four illegal possession of liquor cases appeared on the docket.

Mr. Bruce MacLaren instructed the group once a week for the past few months. The members of the Class presented a gift to the instructor as a token of their appreciation. The following people received Red Cross Standard First Aid qualifications. Stanley Sherren, Keith Mitch, Harold MacKie, Mary S. Curran, Chester Elmer Cooper, Mrs. Malcolm J. Fay, Cooper, Mrs. Annie Cooper, Mrs. Alvin Hastings, Mrs. Jean P. Newson, Mrs. John Hawkins, Mrs. Elmer Cooper and Mrs. Marion E. MacKie.

Southport First Aid Class Ends

The Southport First Aid Class was concluded on Friday, April 18th, when Mr. Sinclair Cutcliffe presented Red Cross Certificates to the successful candidates. This course was organized through the Women's Institute under the leadership of Mrs. C.J. Boudreau. Mr. Bruce MacLaren instructed the group once a week for the past few months. The members of the Class presented a gift to the instructor as a token of their appreciation. The following people received Red Cross Standard First Aid qualifications. Their Works Do Follow Them.
"When the sun goes down below the horizon he is not set, the heavens glow for a full hour after his departure. And when a great and good man dies, the sky of this world is luminous long after he is out of sight. Such a man cannot die out of this world. When he goes he leaves behind much of himself. Being dead he speaks." With thousands of others in many walks of life, the Provincial Auxiliary of The British and Foreign Bible Society, mourns the unexpected passing of George D. DeBlois—a Past President of the Provincial Auxiliary—an energetic worker and generous supporter of the Society in the distribution and proclaiming of the "Word". It is to such devoted Christians as the late Mr. DeBlois, that this great Society owes its phenomenal development and growth—in Prince Edward Island and elsewhere. May we emulate his example! "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth. Yes, saith the Spirit, they rest from their labors; and THEIR WORKS DO FOLLOW THEM."

NOTEBOOK
How to Buy Velvets
I see velvets are getting a big play this season, in women's suits, coats, dresses and accessories, so it looks to me as though it's time for another word or two from the "Better Safe Than Sorry Dept." which we conduct in this corner from time to time.
Before you buy a velvet, you should protect yourself by checking it for pile construction, and for style and tightness of weave. And before you decide you're baffled by these terms, I'll explain that you can tell whether the pile construction is good by pulling out a tuft from an exposed seam. If the tuft forms a "V" it's a good one. If it only forms a "Y" then you won't likely get the wear you'll want from it.
The best weave in a velvet is a tuft weave, and you can identify it by its diagonal lines. Tuft weave is more serviceable than a plain weave.
The more closely woven the fabric the less trouble you will have with the pile, which tends to be removed rather easily during wear or cleaning if the weave is a loose one.
Ask whether the velvet has an acetate pile, for this type will mat down if it becomes damp, and even we experts have a tough time restoring it to its original appearance.
And once you've made your purchase, get yourself a garment bag and use it to protect the velvet from picking up lint during storage.
By choosing a velvet suit or dress carefully and giving it proper attention—including regular dry cleaning—you can cut a very smart figure this season. But if you buy on impulse or fail to give your new outfit its proper care, you'll break nobody's heart but your own.
