Split-Second Decisions Are Needed To Score Goals

Vance Harris didn't get a goal in the game with Amherst at Civic Stadium last Friday night, but his play impressed us more than on some occasions when he was flashing the red light regularly. For one thing he played a surprisingly sound game on defence considering the fact he is a forward. Then one of his assists was particularly unselfish as he raced down the ice with Howatt and passed to the Bordere flash at the last split second. It gave Steeves that much less chance to stop the shot, but in any goal-hungry players we know cannot seem to pass up the opportunity to do the sniping themselves. Especially if they have such a fine chance to score at Vance had that trip.

The above does not mean that we believe a forward should always pass, if a mate is in the clear, instead of shooting. Sometimes it may be better to shoot. The angle may be better, or there may be a "better" shot looming up on the puck-carrier's side, or there may be less chance of interception. This has got to be all figured out in hockey players often have to make. But some invaders rarely pass when close in. They're looking for that little old goal that will give them a larger slice of glory in the press at-

George Barnes Wants Guarantee

SYDNEY (AP)—George Barnes of Australia, British Empire welterweight boxing champion, wants a $6,000 guarantee to fight in the United States in the world title elimination series.

Barnes said Thursday night he also will ask the International Boxing Club for return fares for himself and his manager, Jim Barker.

Barnes was one of six welterweights named to participate in an elimination tournament, Isaac Logart of Havana, defeated Gaspar Ortega, of Mexico last Friday in the first match.

Vince Martinez of Paterson, N. J., and Gil Turner of Philadelphia are paired Jan. 15. Virgil Akins of St. Louis and Barnes are the other two men.

In New York, Harry Markson, managing director of the International Boxing Club, said his organization offered Barnes $4,000 television money, plus 25 per cent of the gate and the customary return fares for the fighter and manager.

"We have received no answer," said Markson. He said the IBC would like to match Barnes with Akins in late February or with another opponent at an earlier date.

PAY INCREASE REJECTED
LONDON (Reuters)—The B.C. Thursday rejected a demand for a 7½-per cent pay increase for more than 12,000 employees. The B.C. quoted recent government statements on the need to restrain wage increases to control inflation.
