Something was said at the present annual meeting of the Engineering Institute of Canada in Toronto that struck such a chord of memory in this writer's mind that he has to tell about it.

That was a great relief to me because I had thought I was the only haphazardness that had ever happened to concrete.
All these years while I have watched tensely news of great events coming in from over the world, my fellow-workers, presumably, have thought I was trying to be a good newspaper man. Not at all. It was just worrying that there might come a bulletin saying that the Halifax Ocean terminals had slipped into the sea. For I had had a tiny part in their building and have never known whether, one day, I did right or wrong.

Still Outnumbered
But superior weight of men and machines still told against American and South Korean ground forces along most of the front.

The most intensive fighting appeared to be in the central sector held by South Koreans. An American army spokesman said the defenders "have been forced to give up some ground but not much."

He said the North Koreans had shifted some armor eastward to support the drive, which by Thursday had carried into the mountains 15 miles south of Chungju.

If the Communists break through the mountains to the towns of Kumchon or Taegu they would be able to cut the main rail line supplying U. S. forces on the Korean peninsula.

The Communists' headquarters at "fighting one of the most skillful and heroic holding and rearguard actions in history," the Americans had enabled the speedy build-up of reserve strength.

However, the northerners were building up too. Reinforcements of Chinese Communist campaigns in Manchuria were reported mustering in Seoul, captured South Korean capital.

There was sharp variance in opposing estimates of American losses so far. Gen. MacArthur put the casualty toll less than 500, with only 42 dead, while the North Koreans claimed 700 Americans were killed and 500 taken prisoner in one engagement alone—south of fallen Chochiwon July 11.

Junior Farmers and Junior Club News

Members of both the St. Peter's and Farmington Ayrshire Calf Clubs held a judging class at W. W. Anderson & Sons' on Monday evening, July 10th. A fine class of mature cows gave the members some excellent practice in judging. They also had an opportunity to view Anderson's fine herd of cows and calves as well as their flock of laying hens.

The next judging class for the two clubs will be held in Farmington at Everett MacLeod's.

The members of the Bear River Ayrshire Club were practically all present at a judging class at Chester McCaugh's on Tuesday evening, July 11th. A good meeting was held with many members placing the class correctly and some giving very good reasons.

The next judging class will take place at the home of club-member Eva Gallant.

Two ball leagues among Junior Farmer groups are in operation on the Island. There is a 4-team baseball league with Tracadie, Johnston's River, Port Augustus and Morell River participating.

In the western part of the Island, two Junior Farmer groups, Western Stars and Lot 16, have a 3-team softball league organized, the Western Stars supplying the two teams. Each league has its own executive made up of two representatives from each team and a president and secretary are appointed from these. The Department of Physical Fitness has kindly donated bats and balls, a big aid in getting these leagues underway.

Four years ago Albert MacPhee, St. George's Calf Club member obtained four dollars bounty for skunk snouts. With this money a calf was bought from a neighbour in the district. This year this animal is the dam of the calf Albert has in the calf club and although young shows promise of being a typey heifer.

Two other members of this club have calves this year, the dams of which were calves when this club was organized. Examples like these point out the value of calf clubs and show how the livestock may be improved in a district.

On July 11th, South Rustico Poultry Club held their first poultry judging class of this year. For many of the members this is their fifth year in the poultry club and they are becoming quite adept at judging. After the judging class a meeting was held and their secretary, Mrs. M. J. Cameron, reported that they had made for a poultry tour to be held on July 20th.

The Dominion Department of Agriculture Service Aces Adeemed themselves last evening at the Parkdale softball diamond in taking the lads from the Experimental Farm 6-4 in a hard fought game. The game was very close throughout and was tied up 3-3 at the first of the seventh when Clarke bunted for a safe first, followed by Bob Cameron's single to left field. John Richard then singled to left field on a place hit and Clarke went home on an overthrow to third making the score read 4-3. Cameron and Richard also scored on hits by I. Dowling and E. Campbell to increase the tally to 6-4. The Farm boys could do in the last of the seventh was score one run when David Hurst came in on an error by the Aces. British Agriculturists Praise Maritime Farmers

MONTREAL, July 13—(CP)—Members of a touring British agricultural mission arriving here today praised farmers of the Maritime Provinces, particularly for their work on potatoes.

Headed by Sir William Ogg, Director of the Rothamsted Research Institute, the mission of seven agricultural experts will spend two months touring the Dominion. Last year a similar group from Canada spent some time in the United Kingdom on a fact-finding mission.

In a press conference, Sir William compared Britain to the three seaboard Provinces.

"Both areas," he said, "are dependent for much of their food supplies on distant spots."

Speaking of the Maritime tour, Sir William said he was impressed with work under way there to produce potatoes resistant to blight and scab. He mentioned particularly work now being done at Fredericton.

Another thing that impressed him, he said, was the method developed there for storing potatoes. He praised the "family farm" in that area, and said that intelligent use was made of labor-saving devices and there was a high standard of living.

In Britain, he said, great efforts are being made to bring scientific knowledge to the farmer and "with a population of 50,000,000 people in an area 1-4 the size of Quebec, we cannot afford to have farmers who are not pulling their weight."

The mission inspected port facilities today and tomorrow will visit Macdonald Agricultural College and nearby St. Anne de Bellevue. Sunday the mission will visit Ottawa.

Estimate Fire Damage More Than $10,000

Fire for the second time in almost eleven years destroyed two barns belonging to Mr. Allan Jenkins, Mount Albion, when both buildings were burned to the ground in an early morning outbreak yesterday.

Eleven years ago in August Mr. Jenkins lost two barns by the same method. Damage of yesterday's fire was estimated at more than $10,000. Little insurance was carried on the buildings.

The main barn lost was an L shaped structure 66 x 32 feet in one direction and 50 x 36 in the other. The other building burned was the tool house. No tools were lost.

Origin of the fire is still a mystery to the owner. The outbreak at the end of the barn was first noticed shortly after two o'clock by young Mack Hicks who was awakened by the light cast by the blaze.

City firemen responded to the call with a pumper and a crew headed by Deputy Fire Chief James Walker. They saved the machine house which had caught fire and prevented further spread of the blaze. Water was supplied by neighbours with trucks who hauled to a waiting bucket brigade who in turn filled the booster tank.

In addition to the barns a small quantity of harness was lost. A number of cattle and horses might also have been destroyed had it not been for the alertness of three young boys and Mr. Jenkins.

The boys, Mack Hicks, Sydney Myers and Douglas Drake were the first on the scene and they awakened Mr. Jenkins. The fire was well underway and the animals in the fields were attracted to the blaze. The group immediately chased away the animals before summoning aid.

Other nearby buildings were the hen house and the dwelling building. Neither of these were threatened by the blaze.

Canadian Navy Picks Tie Design

OTTAWA, July 13—(CP)—Canada's Navy, firmly working out its own identity, now is going to have its own official necktie. The force's own magazine Crows Nest disclosed that its design consists of red maple leaves and gold crowns on a dark blue background.

It can be worn by any navy man, past or present. Like other armed forces' ties, it will be manufactured by private firms.

The R.C.A.F. has two official ties and the army has a variety of ties for its various corps or arms.

The navy's action is looked upon as part of the Canadianization process launched since the celebrated Mainguy Commission report of last year.

Judge Refuses To Feel Woman's Knee

LONDON, July 13—(Reuters)—A newly-appointed high court judge today was invited to feel a woman's knee—refused.

Counsel for Mrs. Mona Gabriella Sargent, 33, wanted Mr. Justice Donovan to feel her knee to test its "creaking". She has a damages claim against London transport executive.

Judge Donovan, looking thoroughly uncomfortable, exclaimed: "I never thought I had to do a number of things I have not done before, but I did not expect this to include the feeling of ladies' knees. I don't think I could form a conclusion after I felt the knee."

Plans For Re-Union Of North Novas Here Discussed

Preliminary plans for the 4th re-union of the North Nova Scotia Highlanders, 9th Brigade, 3rd Division to be held in Charlottetown, Saturday, August 9th were discussed at a regular weekly meeting held at the headquarters Prince Edward Island Regiment (17th Recce), Brighton Compound, last night. Lt.-Col. J. D. Stewart, DSO, ED, presided.

Over 300 former members of the Battalion are expected to converge on the city for the occasion. Previous reunions of the famed North Novas took place at Amherst, Truro and New Glasgow. This year "D" Company members will play hosts to the unit.

Plans discussed last night had to do with the Memorial Parade which will take the form of an Overseas Drumhead Service at Memorial Field, Victoria Park, at 11 A. M. and a parade through the city to the War Memorial where a wreath will be laid in the memory of fallen comrades. The parade will be headed by the massed pipe bands of the North Novas and Picou Highlanders.

Following the parade at noon luncheon will be served at the Brighton Compound and the annual business meetings held.

An afternoon program is being planned, to be followed by a Battalion dance in the evening at the Armouries.

Routes to the city from the terminals at Borden and Wood Islands will be marked by the familiar unit overseas designation "69" on a brown background—and Maple Leaf U.

In the city, banners will be strung across selected city streets bearing a "welcome" to visiting members. Stores and business houses will be asked to co-operate by displaying flags and bunting for the occasion.

Invitations to attend the re-union will go to Major-General H. W. Foster C. B. E., D. S. O., and members of his staff at Headquarters Eastern Command.

Among those from outside points indicating their intention to attend the re-union are Brigadier H. W. Murdoch, DSO, ED, Truro, commanding officer of the overseas unit on its formation; Lt. Col. Don Forbes, DSO, ED, Halifax, commanding officer of the unit in Northwest Europe; Lt. Col. M. Rhodenizer, New Glasgow, officer commanding Picou Highlanders and former North Nova Company Commander; Lt.-Col. Ike Smith, Truro, post war commanding officer of the Reserve Battalion (AF), and former adjutant; and Lt.-Col. Bill Douglas, present commanding officer of the Reserve Battalion and former company commander in the overseas unit.

The suit of Harris Edward Pyc, plaintiff, vs. Mabel Georgena Pyc and Roy Wright, defendants, was taken under advisement for judgment absolute, Mr. R. S. Hinton, K. C., for the plaintiff.

The court adjourned until Friday, September 8.

Traffic Held Up By Accident

Traffic was held for about five hours on the eastern side of Venon Bridge last night after a car-truck collision at 7:30 in which no one was seriously injured.

The Buick car and the gravel laden truck were badly damaged with the truck being thrown into the ditch. Two wreckers were required to clear the roadway for the passing traffic. The accident occurred about one half mile from Venon Bridge.

R. C. M. J. reported that the hay loaded wagon was proceeding eastwards followed by the Buick car. The car swung out to pass and struck left rear wheel of the wagon. The Buick then careened into the back of the truck cutting off one pair of dual wheels and landed the truck in the ditch. The truck was proceeding towards Charlottetown.

Chief cause of the traffic delay was the work to get the truck back on the road. The gravel had to be unloaded before the wreckers could go to work.

French Assembly Approves Plevin's New Cabinet

By Carl Hartman. PARIS, July 13—(AP)—The French National Assembly approved Premier Rene Plevin's new cabinet 329 to 224 today, ending a political crisis that began June 24.

Communists and De Gaullists formed the core of the opposition to Plevin's choices, which restored the Socialist Party to the Government coalition it left last February.

The crisis began when Premier George Bidault's cabinet was forced out June 24. Henri Queuille took over the premiership but resigned when he lost his first test July 4 in the Assembly.

Page In Nfld. Sealing History To Close Sunday

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., July 13—(CP)—A page in Newfoundland's glorious sealing history will close Sunday as the veteran vessel Eagle is towed to sea and sunk.

The famous Bowring Brothers sealer will meet her end just outside the high headlands which cheer as she steamed proudly into the Narrows with a full load of seals.

The old Eagle has been a legend in Newfoundland's sealing history, and now she is getting a sailor's burial as befits a hero of the icy wastes.

Last spring Bowring's decided that the grand old lady had had her day, and she was left tied to the wharf when the rest of the sealing fleet sailed for the hunt. With lumps in their throats sealers swore she had strained at her moorings as the sirens of the fleet indicated their departure.

The annual voyage to the ice once saw more than 100 Newfoundland ships, with some 10,000 men, taking part in the adventure that brought death to many. But in late years it had diminished until last year only several vessels sailed to the northern flocks.

Bowring's received many offers to buy the stout-hearted ship, but like her old crews they felt money could not buy the traditions and glories of the old ship.

Now she is moored at the dock waiting her burial. But when she sails again she will once more leave the harbor proudly with all colors flying, and with the house flag of Bowring's nailed to her masthead.

As she reaches the end of her last voyage, her seacocks will be opened and her superstructure set on fire.

The proudest ship of Newfoundland's sealing fleet then will plunge to a watery grave.

Boys May Go To Britain By Air

MONTREAL, July 13—(CP)—Messages went out all over Canada today to ask parents of 50 boys picked for a six-week tour of Britain whether they will allow them to go by air.

The boys, who will be guests of Garfield Weston, Canadian born British biscuit manufacturer, had their passage to England interrupted Wednesday night when the liner Franconia grounded just as it was leaving Quebec.

The Cunard Donaldson Limited announced plans to send the boys across the Atlantic by air Saturday—if their parents agree.

Crop Outlook Reported Good

OTTAWA, July 13—(CP)—The Bureau of Statistics reported today the numerical condition of Canadian field crops at June 30, expressed as a percentage of the longtime average yield per acre, is better than last year.

Condition of the main crops, with last year's total in brackets, follows:

Wheat 90 (83); spring wheat 83 (72); all wheat 83 (72); oats 80 (81); barley 85 (76); fall rye 78 (54); spring rye 81 (64); all rye 78 (54); flaxseed 85 (80).

The all-Canada totals included these figures for other crops: Peas 93 (81); beans 91 (80); buckwheat 97 (86); mixed grains 96 (76); corn for husking 92 (90); potatoes 93 (89); turnips, etc. 81 (83); hay and clover 81 (76); Alfalfa 82 (68); fodder corn 94 (86); sugar beets 87 (89); pasture 89 (80).

Almost without exception, crops in the Maritimes displayed condition ratings lower than those for last year. Hay and clover, in particular, were low in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, due in large part to heavy winter-killing.
