Brigadier Peake Speaks At Rotary

Brigadier G. G. K. Peake, D.S.O., E.D., Commander of No. 2 Militia Group as guest speaker at the Rotary luncheon meeting yesterday in the Charlottetown Hotel, spoke on the main problems that would face Prince Edward Island if civil defence was implemented.

As a background to the reality of these problems he discussed the causes of war under the headings of "Underlying Causes" and "Immediate Causes" and also explained the system of early warning and outlined briefly the system of command and control of air and ground to air defences.

Conclusions to this background were, "The world was never more prepared for war and never so determined to maintain the peace" and that Prince Edward Island did not qualify as a target for direct attack.

The main problems that would face the Province included immediate information, transportation, light and power, selection and storage of staple foodstuffs and fuel, population limits, and casualties, to people, livestock and fishing interests. At the conclusion of the talk Brigadier Peake showed a six minute film on guided missiles.

The speaker was introduced by chairman Lieut. Col. J. T. Davies, C.D. and on concluding was thanked by co-chairman Major Roy MacGillivray for his informative address.

Guests of Rotary were Lieut. Col. A. W. Rogers, E.D., and Lieut. K. MacKenzie. A letter from Miss Arsenault of the Red Cross acknowledged with gratitude a cheque for $4,500 proceeds from the Rotary Auction. ### The White-Headed Boy Wins Newfoundland Award

CORNER BROOK, Nfld., (CP)—The Northcliffe Dramatic Club of Grand Falls won the Newfoundland regional drama festival here Saturday night with sparkling performance of Lennox Robinson's "The White-Headed Boy".

British adjudicator Andre van Gysegem warmly applauded the feat and said the calibre of the three-act comedy put the choice of a winner "out of my hands".

The Northcliffe players were the fifth and last group to appear in the 1955 festival. They won the Calvert Trophy for the third straight year.

Mrs. Neala Griffin, the Northcliffe Club director, won the Roper and Thompson Trophy for the best direction.

"Very, very smooth playing," van Gysegem commented. "The performers were very assured, at ease on the stage; their voice work was excellent without exception and there was never any difficulty in hearing them."

IMPORTANT DETAILS
They showed splendid teamwork. Their timing was good. They knew their cues and used the stage well.

"It shows a firm hand throughout and the pace was lively and sustained. The mood was set perfectly. It shows how important it is to pay attention to details, entrances, cues and timing."

Van Gysegem described the play itself as "a splendid comedy in the best Irish tradition."

The plot concerns the social-climbing manoeuvres of a middle-class family which seeks to get the son in college at Dublin.

The adjudicator referred to the sets as "good, solid and well constructed" and said they "gave a very realistic impression and created exactly the right atmosphere." He lauded the originality inherent in certain small touches.

OTHER AWARDS
"It appears that not enough attention was paid to bringing out the personalities of the supporting players," he said, "and I was a little disappointed in the comedy characterization."

The Corner Brook Playmakers' Company won an award for the best visual presentation of the festival.

Best actress honors went to Mary Monaghan who played Mrs. Mannighan in the Corner Brook Amateur Players' presentation of "Angeli in The Gioconda Smile"—the entry of the St. John's Theatre Guild.

Van Gysegem tabbed Olga Sheer for the best supporting role for her performance as Lady India in the St. John's Theatre Guild production of "Ring Round The Moon."

ting was cut short by Coun. Johnstone who reminded his Worship that the meeting was called to consider a report of the Street Committee with a view to deleting unnecessary help to the Council of the Street Committee, the Council could not deal with the matter. The Mayor instructed Coun. McCormack to hold a meeting of his Committee and the Council would again meet in a week's time to consider the report. "It is my opinion," said His Worship, "there is too much feather-bedding going on and if men are not working, we have to get rid of them."

Coun. Rogers brought to the attention of the Council that officials of the Charlottetown Forum had approached the City for a grant of $4,000. He asked that this matter be given the attention of the meeting. It had been pointed out to him and the other councillors that the rink is used for the school children of the City for skating and hockey and since the Forum had been operating at a deficit, machinery which had been added to the ice-plant was not being paid for and the Forum would have to close down.

Coun. Rogers expressed the opinion that a grant for this purpose would be in order. Coun. Gaudet said that it had been brought to his attention that the Forum was supporting a hockey club and if this proposed loan is made in Northumberland Strait on the keeping of live lobsters. Some work of this type has been done and results indicate the well-being of the crustaceans depends on such factors as temperature, oxygen and salinity.

The Board admits in its report that development of oyster farming in Prince Edward Island has been slow, partly because of high cost and the risk of low returns to those engaged in oyster culture. Some aspects of the program at Ellerslie will be identified, it notes. Among enemies of the oyster in Malpeque Bay is the boring sponge which riddle the oyster shells and heavy growth of eel grass.

Malpeque, the report notes, suffers less from the misnamed "Malpeque Disease" of oysters than other oyster-bearing areas of the Maritimes. This disease adversely affects oysters taken in West River, Charlottetown.

Significant information has been obtained from experiments with trout in ponds at Montague and other streams and ponds in the Province. Fish culture specialists have obtained net information which may materially aid their present fertilizing the reocking activities.

BRACKLEY POINT W. I. Thirteen members were in attendance at the January meeting held at the home of Mrs. Fenton MacClure, and in answering roll call each told of her nice Christmas gift. The vice-president conducted the meeting in the absence of the president.

Expenses from the Christmas school party were paid. The school visitor was re-appointed for January.

A thank-you vote was received for silver spoons presented to a new baby in the district. Letters of appreciation were read from the adopted Institute in England for Christmas treat sent them, and also from the Protestant Orphanage for donation of two wool blankets. Musical festival dues of $5.00 was renewed.

The Red Cross convener distributed a quantity of yarn and sewing, which was gladly accepted by the members ever ready to assist those in need. The program committee being absent was re-appointed for next month. The February meeting was invited to the home of Mrs. Howard Cudmore where roll call will be answered by an original Valentine verse. Collection was $3.85.

Red Cross Nursing Service

The loan of well over a thousand articles of sickroom supplies by the Red Cross during the past year is an indication of the number of patients who are receiving nursing care in their own homes. The most popular articles of equipment loaned were wheelchairs, hospital beds, crutches, invalid rings and back rests. Complimenting this service is the home nursing program which is a twelve week course of instruction given in the care of the sick person in the home. General topics include symptoms of illness, temperature taking and thermometer reading, pulse count, making a patient comfortable in bed, including bed making, bed bath and general bed care.

During the past year thirteen courses were given, chiefly in rural areas by registered nurses who, as volunteers, taught the courses, assisted by the Red Cross supervisor. During the winter months classes will be held weekly at the society's headquarters, 62 Prince Street. Women interested may enrol by contacting the Red Cross during the present week.

get a reduction of $78 from Ottawa, making their extra tax $2 a year. Those making about $10,000 a year would pay an extra $40 annually.

STUDIED TAX YIELDS
Mr. St. Laurent said the federal government developed after cross-country tax yields were scrutinized carefully. From these it appeared "it would be possible to reduce the federal tax by 10 per cent in any province which preferred not to have a tax rental agreement and still safeguard the revenues necessary to meet our irreducible national responsibilities."

In light of the government's responsibilities to the whole Canadian people, added Mr. St. Laurent, "we reached the conclusion that we could not, at this time, recommend any reduction greater than 10 per cent of the federal tax in a province which did not have a tax rental agreement."

"These proposed amendments are intended only as a stop-gap arrangement pending the conclusion of any long term arrangements for the period following the expiry of the present tax rental agreements."

TO CALL MEETING
Hon. Earl Rowe, acting opposition leader, said in the Commons he is glad a federal-provincial conference is being called and asked Mr. St. Laurent to indicate a date.

Mr. St. Laurent said he already has written all provincial premiers outlining the proposed settlement terms with Quebec and said that, as soon as he returns from the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference opening in London Jan. 31, he will get in touch with the provinces to arrange a date.

As to the tax reduction plan, he said: "I have, accordingly, advised the premiers of all provinces that we propose, pending the results of a new federal-provincial conference, to ask Parliament to amend the federal income tax law in order to make a reduction of 10 per cent for all taxpayers of any province where a provincial income tax is levied. ### Planes Arrive In Costa Rica

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, (AP)—Four U. S. fighter planes arrived at San Jose's new airport Monday and were turned over to Costa Rica to give punch to the army's weak air arm in its fight against rebels. Their American ferry pilots were greeted at the airport, in Coco, by President Jose Figueres.

The planes, F-51 Mustangs of Second World War type, landed at almost the same time a rebel aircraft was reported over Liberia, often-strated town in northwestern Costa Rica where the only front in the war exists.

There was no action on the northwestern sector Monday, and the rest of the country was quiet.

In the absence of the President, the Vice-President, Mrs. Patrick Lacey, occupied the chair and opened the meeting in the usual manner. Following the business meeting the pupils of Grades Nine and Ten presented a debate, "Resolved that a policy of immigration is beneficial to Canada."
