Ode to Bryon (?)

BY "SHAKESPEARE."

Oh living Bryon (?) honored sure am I
In gentle, thus, to touch my blade with thine
And grapple in the ranks of Poesy
With poster so worthy of the steel.
Thou sham reviewer of a thousand bards!
Little indeed did ever I expect,
When I essayed to catch the smaller fry,
That thou, the first of all, shouldst yield thyself
And wear the cap that, haply fit so well.
What noble sounding, never-dying names
Ye modest poetizers love to wear;
Think you that you are truly justified
In coupling the name of honored dead
With sentiments unworthy of a name?
Or dost thou hope thy senseless rhyme may stand
The test of time, supported by a name,
Knowing full well the name alone shall live?
Or dost thou hope to take the world by storm
And build a reputation, truly great,
Upon the honored works of other men?
Remember, "Shakespeare" does not
"Shakespeare" mean
But Bryon Bryon means and nothing less.
Why dost thou strive to play the genuine
Well knowing that from gentle Bryon fell
No verse save poetry sublime and true?
Well may'st thou doubt the noble Shake-spear's life
When thou art dead to beauty and to grace.
Oh! sorry imitation of the great—
Second edition with no copy-right—
If, haply, bold assumption wert the key
To lofty heights in poetry sublime,
How quickly thou wouldst scale the utmost round
And sing forever, rivaling the bard
You but disgrace and fain would imitate.
Byron restored; how sadly out of tune.
Surely, within thy place of peaceful rest,
The Muse and all the graces are unknown,
Else why dost thou return to earth again
So badly out of practice, truth and mind.
Methinks that thou hast made a grave
mistake
By coming back in such a tone of voice,
Make haste and get thee gone into the grave—
The domicile most fitting for the dead—
If thou wouldst save thy sometime reputation.
And when it is thy will to come again,
Oh! come, we pray thee, as in olden time
And send no novices to blight thy name
And stain the gilded page of poetry
With shocking imitations of a rhyme
And discord terrible.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Roads and Bridges Neglected.

Sir,—For the last ten or twelve years our so-called Liberals never tired complain- ing about the condition of the public roads and bridges. Every little hole was watched by them, and the government of the day, through the Supervisors, was soundly abused and also accused of all kinds of nig- gardliness and neglect. On one occasion, while an election contest was going on in this District, there happened to be a small hole in a bridge near the polling booth. Into this hole, on election day, a promi- nent Grit politician thrust a longer, and there that longer stood all day to show electors as they passed by what a careless government the Conservative candidate, Mr. Prowse, was supporting. I mention this one instance as a sample of the tricks and plans adopted by the then opposi- tion to influence public opinion. Through such means, accompanied by a lavish amount of promises of what they would do if they only were in power, the fault-finders have succeeded in forming a government with one of a majority in the popular branch of the Legislature. And what was the very first thing that this government did as soon as they got the reins? They issued circulars, signed by their Commis- sioners of Public Works, instructing the Road Supervisors throughout the country not to spend one dollar on the roads and bridges until further orders. The further orders have not been given yet, and the consequence is that no money is available at the hands of those whose duty it is to make necessary repairs to bridges and roads as early in the spring as possible.

In the public interests I would hereby ask our newly-fledged government what they are going to do about it? Scores of bridges need looking after early every spring—and this spring is not an excep- tional one in this respect. Come along, Peters Government! Don't shirk your duty any longer. The roads are almost impassable in some places. Appoint your new Supervisors, if you are bound to turn the old ones out. At any rate, don't let the public interests suffer in order to put a few extra dollars in the pockets of your servile followers.

Curious Derivation of Some Fa- miliar Words.

[From Harper's Young People.]

Monkey-wrench is the name applied to a tool, a sort of spanner with a movable jaw. Some etymologists account for the fore part of the name by recalling the fact that a monkey's jaw is movable also. The monkey-wrench was invented some years ago by a poor mechanic whose name is Charles Mounkey. He sold his patent for a song, and is now working for day's wages in Brooklyn. His invention has made millions of dollars for those who were able to place it upon the market.

Derick is the name of a crane used in shifting and lifting heavy weights. It is said to be so called from one Theodorick, who, while serving at Cadiz as a soldier under Robert, Earl of Essex, was doomed to death for some crime, but pardoned by his commander on condition that he would hang twenty-three other malefactors. Such are the revolutions of fate that subsequent- ly he was employed in London to behold Essex, the man who had saved his life.

A stentorian voice is that of one like the Grecian herald in the Trojan war, whom Homer describes as "great-hearted, brazen-voiced Stentor, accustomed to shout as loud as fifty other men."

A raglan is a loose overcoat with long sleeves, such as Lord Raglan wore in the Crimean war. Wellington's boots named after the Iron Duke. Bluchers are also boots, named after the commander of Wel- lington's Prussian allies at Waterloo.

Any magnificent tomb is called a mausoleum. Mausolus, the Carian King whose name it bears, had nothing whatever to do with the original except to lie in it when he was dead. The piety of his wife, Artemisia, gave his name to the tomb and im- mortality to her husband's memory, because the monument she built over his body gave a word to language. The magnolia bears the name of Pierre Magnol, Professor of Medicine at Montpellier, France, in the seventeenth century; and Dahl, a Swedish botanist, has his name embalmed in the dahlia.

Indirectly our word dollar depends upon a good man's name. The word is an abbreviation of Joachimsthaler, a coin first minted about 1518 in the valley of St. Joachim, Bohemia. The valley (thal) bears the name of the saint. Boycott is a word recently in- troduced, but already in use everywhere. A few years ago Captain Charles Cunnin- ham Boycott, an Irish farmer and land agent, angered his tenants, and in revenge they refused to work for him or sell him food. To boycott means to withhold custom from a man in any line of business. A martinet is what few soldiers like to be called. Colonel Martinet was an officer in the army of Louis XIV. He was so par- ticular about small details, so rigid in his discipline, that he was looked upon as a nuisance. His name has come down to us as applicable to a military Miss Nancy Fin- niken.

Bogus is the corrupted form of the name Borghese, that of a noted swindler who passed large amounts of counterfeit money in the West some years ago. Boniface is a common name for the landlord of a tavern. The original was one of the rare kind—a sleek, good-tempered, jolly landlord—but he wasn't in real life. He was a character in Farquhar's comedy of The Beaux' Strata- gem, written in 1707.

How is This For High?—Capt. W. H. Steves, of Hillsboro, N. B., forwarded to the Moncton Times office a few days ago a bunch of timothy and couch grass, some blades of which measured 16 inches in length.

PICNIC WATER WORKS.—At last council meeting, it was agreed to engage the services of Prof. Butler to make a report as to the feasibility of the artesian well system of water- works.—Stan 1st.

FAST TYPE SETTING.—The typesetting contest at Toronto was concluded on Sat- urday night. Till, of the Empire, finished first with a wonderful record. During 27½ hours' work he set 43,100 ems, or an average of 1,800 ems an hour. There were three other contestants.

CRICKET.—Canadian ladies are to play cricket this summer. The edict has gone forth, and a match is arranged between two fair eleven's of Toronto and Hamilton. Such fixtures are by no means unusual in Great Britain and India.

AN OLD MAN'S SUICIDE.—A terrible case of suicide is reported from near the village of Cameville, Ont. David Irvine, an aged farm laborer, was told by his employer, Mr. Whiting, to go home as he was too old to do work in the field. This remark preyed on the old man's mind, for when he was next seen he was seated on a chair in his barn dead. He had hacked away at his wrists with a dull instrument, and in this manner bled to death.

Schoolmistress (with an ominous look in her eye)—"What made you so late, Robert Reed?"
Robert—"Been fightin'."
Schoolmistress (advancing furiously)—"You have, eh?"
Robert—"Yes, ma'am. A boy sed you wuz ugly as home made sin, an' I jist gave it to him."
Schoolmistress—"Well, Bobby, dear, I must pardon you this time, but control your temper the best you can."

Labor is rest from the sorrows that greet us, Rest from all petty vexations that meet us, Rest from sin-promptings that ever entreat us, Rest from world-sirens that lure us to ill.
—Francis S. Osgood.

There is a jewel which no Indian mine can buy,
No chemical art can counterfeit;
It makes men rich in greatest poverty,
Makes water wine, turns wooden cups to gold,
The homely whistle to sweet music's strain;
Seldom it comes, to few from Heaven sent,
That much in little—all in naught.—Content.
