Shorthorns For Canada

The first shipments of shorthorn cattle which were bought at the Perth Show and Sale in February have left the United Kingdom for Canada.

Among animals which were bought by Canadian buyers was "Broadacre Revenue," a superb prize bull. The Colossus herd has supplied Canada and most of the cattle breeding countries of the world with some of their finest pedigree cattle.

The master breeder who founded this herd, Captain John MacGillivray, is to become President of the Shorthorn Society this year for the second time. He was president in 1937 and it is a rare distinction to be elected twice.

It was in 1936 that he began his herd of Shorthorns, when, in his own words, "I knew nothing about Shorthorn pedigrees but I did know the conformation of a good beef animal." His animals have won the championship at Perth on 11 different occasions and the Reserve championship six times.

"Calrossi" "Welcome," now a stock bull in the herd, was the Supreme champion at both the Royal Highland Show and the Royal Show last year. MacGillivray has one of the keenest eyes in the United Kingdom for good beef animals. He believes in having females of the best possible type and, while not minimizing the importance of a good bull, he does not quite agree with those who say that the stock bull is more than half the herd.

Among numerous successful families in the Colossus herd was that of Rosewood. From that family came—the highest aggregate bull breeders of all time—Calrossi Napoleon, the pride of the Argentine.

B. C. Gov't Changes Hospital Insurance Plan VICTORIA, B.C., April 12 — Drastic changes in British Columbia's hospital insurance plan have been provided in bill introduced in the Legislature recently by Premier Byron Johnson.

They make deductions from pay-rolls compulsory for payment of hospital premiums and give the Government blanket powers to set premium rates, to regulate the conditions under which persons may enter hospital.

The Government may by regulation limit the length of stay, order payment of a certain proportion of the hospital bill, restrict the benefits covered by insurance.

Pay All Hospitals Municipalities which formerly paid 70 cents per patient per day in subsidy to only one hospital, must now pay the grant to all hospitals covered by the insurance scheme. Victoria formerly paid to Royal Jubilee only. It must now pay to St. Joseph's and any other hospitals designated by the Government.

Workmen's Compensation Board and any private insurance schemes must now pay their full share of the cost of hospital care. They will no longer benefit from straight Government subsidies or per diem grants.

Increase Hired It is expected as a result of the changes that premiums will go up by at least $3 for next year. Persons who have been in the Province more than two months must participate in the plan, instead of after six months as at present.

A penalty of 10 per cent is provided for overdue premiums. The Government may take action to recover premiums at any time within six years after they are overdue. Instead of six months as at present. Premiums may be recovered by garnisheeing wages. Procedure for taking court action to insure premium payment has been strengthened.

The Government may direct hospitals as to the use of revenue from private rooms. The hospital insurance service may take action to recover hospital costs from a person responsible for the injury to the person in hospital. This covers automobile accidents, for example, where public liability insurance should cover hospital expenses for a person injured.

ships at Quebec. Meanwhile, three more ships were steaming for the St. Lawrence Gulf, making a last-minute effort to place in the race. The Ramore Head was reported off Cape Ray this afternoon. The Cape Armo was last reported 250 miles southeast of North Sydney, N.S., where the ice was 545 miles east of Cape Race, Newfoundland.

The 20,000-ton passenger liner Empress of Canada sailed from Liverpool Tuesday and was expected here early next week. With both the Beaverline and Empress of Canada heading for Montreal, nearly 200,000 pounds of loading and unloading equipment already have been moved from West Saint John, N.B., the company's winter shipping headquarters.

Saskatchewan Premier T. C. Douglas said in the legislature that he would resign as provincial leader if a party convention asked his government to repudiate promises made to oil companies. He said in the legislature that the C. C. F. government is playing square with oil firms now spending millions of dollars in search of oil in the province. The premier spoke during discussion of natural resources department estimates as they relate to oil development.

More Butter, Less Bacon LONDON, April 12 (CP) — Britons will be able to buy one ounce more of butter but one ounce less of bacon each week as of April 23.

Food Minister Maurice Webb made the announcement at a press conference today. When the boost in the butter ration becomes effective, it will give Britons their largest fat allotment since rationing was introduced 10 years ago. The butter ration will be five ounces a week, with the margarine ration unchanged at four ounces weekly.

The cut in the bacon ration will put the weekly ration at four ounces again. It was raised to five last January on a temporary basis when stocks were larger. Both butter and bacon will cost more. Webb announced last week that butter prices will increase four pence (about five cents) a pound April 23 and bacon will be up two pence a pound May 21 — making the butter price 1s 10d. (about 28 cents) a pound and bacon about 2s 5d. (about 37 cents) a pound. This followed price increases granted for some farm products and end of some subsidies of food products.

Webb said the increase in the butter ration was made possible by "good production" in Australia and New Zealand. European supplies were also larger than expected.

Less Danish Bacon Possible One factor in the reduction of the bacon ration is that supplies from Canada have fallen well below the program. Webb said. In addition, bacon shipments from Denmark appear likely to decrease. In a general review of Britain's food position, Webb took pains to deny that the country now is wallowing in surplus food stocks. Any increases in the ration, he said, can be contained within the country's present ration-and-subsidy system, and suggestions that Britain is ready for a two-tiered system of distribution are about as remote as trying to predict the winner of the Grand National Steeplechase two years from now.

Webb was referring to newspaper reports that the Food Ministry might adopt the system used in some continental countries, involving a basic ration of essential foodstuffs sold at subsidy-supported prices and a second "layer" of the same food sold off the ration at higher prices.

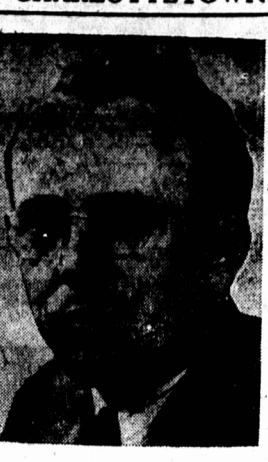

Webb said a complete review has been made of the system of points rationing, and charges will be announced next week.

PLANS LAUNCHED Continued from page 1 Silver stated that after ten groups were formed, federation with the National organization was possible. Benefits derived from this federation are many, and include the visits of outstanding educationalists at no extra cost to the district, literature which is distributed by National Headquarters, and the guidance and experience received from close contacts with representatives from the other Provinces.

"Let us remember that all children are our children," Mrs. Silver quoted. "Wherever a boy or girl grows up starved in body, mind or spirit, such a child is a potential menace to world friendship, world peace and world co-operation."

In Home and School groups all negative criticism is discouraged. It is a fact-finding, not a fault-finding organization. Among the projects which Mrs. Silver has seen successfully carried out, are hot lunches for school children, playgrounds, indoor games, radios, piano, rhythm band instruments, home economics and mechanical science programmes, health clinics, free cod liver oil, public speaking festivals and musical festivals.

Mrs. W. Scantlebury, president of records in the school, music period with Mr. B. C. Silver, group instruction, and the conference will conclude with an open forum at to fill the British contract. Under the support program, the Government's Meat Board will buy all the bacon at 32 1-2 cents a pound and sell it to the U. K. at 29 cents.

However, the market is so buoyant that prices are well above the support price, and as a result domestic pork prices also have climbed.

The informants believed that the U. K. could have overcome this price handicap if they had agreed to pay last year's price of 36 cents a pound for grade A Wiltsires.

Instead they bargained for a sharp reduction in price and agreed to take Canadian bacon only by diverting dollars from the Anglo-Canadian wheat agreement.
