During his pastorate that the parish suffered the loss of its church, Father MacDonald, in his zeal for the welfare of his parishioners, immediately undertook building a fund for the erection of a new church, and the present one stands as a monument to his work and to that of his faithful and helpful parishioners.

The new church has been erected with an arch ceiling, removing the necessity of central pillars, which enhances the spaciousness of the interior. Slightly longer than the former church, it is 120 feet long and 45 feet wide, and will seat over 350.

The interior is finished with Douglas fir sylvally above and elm wainscoting in natural finish. The aisles and sanctuary are finished in tile, with hardwood under the seating area.

Over the main altar, which is of oak, a ciborium has been erected, covered with glass, and hung with draperies on each side. On each side of the sanctuary are the smaller side altars. The pews in the sanctuary are of oak, while those in the main church are of elm.

Some seating will also be contained in the choir loft. A side chapel, 45 feet long and 20 feet wide, is located at the east end of the church, where daily service will be held during the winter months. It will also contain an altar, and seating capacity for a large number.

In the full length basement is located the coal heating plant from which steam is piped to all parts of the church. The main part of the basement will be finished at a later date to be used for social functions.

The main exterior body of the church is painted colonial yellow with white trim, and presents a very attractive appearance, enhanced by the symmetrical colonial pillars and styling of the church front.

Honoured Before Departure From Georgetown

"A pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Lavers on Friday, October 3rd, when a number of friends gathered to honour their daughter, Miss Margaret Lavers, who leaves soon to attend Bible School in Hartland, N. B.

Mrs. Stanley Straight put on a Bible quiz, which was enjoyed by all. This was followed by a sing-song, with Mrs. Myrtle Babineau at the organ. Mr. Stanley Straight spoke very effectively on how the Lord knows what His people have need of, even before they ask Him. A circle of prayer followed.

Following prayer time a prettily decorated umbrella, laden with gifts, was brought in and when the accompanying verses were read by Mrs. Straight, the gifts were presented to Margaret. Miss Lavers was also presented with a gift from the Women's Missionary Society of the Baptist Church.

Margaret in a few well chosen words thanked each one for the gifts and asked that she be remembered in prayer, making special mention that the Lord would give her the grace to do His will, rather than her own.

After a delicious lunch was served, Mr. Fenwick Lavers took flash pictures of the group. All then departed for their homes, with the prayer that God would abundantly bless Margaret in her new field of service, for the Master.
