Board Chairman, Jens Moe Expected To Arrive Today

Jens Moe, chairman of the board of Bathurst Marine Limited and Gulf Garden Foods Limited is expected to arrive in the province sometime Saturday prior to his attendance at the special cabinet session to be held Saturday evening at 8 p.m.

Reports originating in Georgetown indicated that Mr. Moe was expected in the province yesterday but he failed to arrive.

The special session of cabinet has been called to discuss the future prospects of the Georgetown industries with the Norwegian and American backers of Mr. Moe.

It is anticipated that the government shall have a definite statement on the Georgetown industries following this meeting.

POSSIBILITIES

Premier Campbell has stated that the government does not intend to allow the Georgetown industries to permanently cease operation. It is understood that several possibilities are open for the continuance of these industries; the two most obvious ones being:

- (1) The Norwegian and American financial interests will pump enough finances into the industries to put them on a sound financial basis.
- (2) The government in some way will take over, probably temporarily, these industries and see that the financial problems are looked after.

No one in authority is either able or willing to state definitely what the eventual solution shall be. However, it is to be expected that some change or changes will be forthcoming at Georgetown.

The Canadian Press is a story Wednesday night detailed Charlottetown said a reliable source reported the two companies owe the government about $9,000,000. DENIES DIFFICULTIES

Thomas Sanderson of Georgetown, president of Bathurst Marine, denied in a telephone interview Wednesday night that his company was in any financial difficulty.

Referring to the government's suit against Gulf Garden Foods—expected to come before the courts at the end of November—Mr. Sanderson described it as "a pre-election gimmick." He declined to elaborate.

He said a team of auditors sent by the government had gone over the books of the companies. He said their report to the government showed the companies were in no financial difficulties. Besides the auditors, a team of industrial consultants in shipbuilding has gone over the operations of Bathurst Marine and a team of business consultants the operations of Gulf Garden Foods. Their preliminary reports to the government have not yet been made public.

Cyril Davis of Georgetown, president of Gulf Garden Foods, declined to comment on his company's financial situation.

William Bennett of Charlottetown, vice-president of Gulf Garden Foods said in a telephone interview "there have been a lot of misleading rumors" concerning the companies.

He said a group of Norwegian businessmen, backers of Mr. Moe's enterprises, has come to Canada to find out what is going on. The Norwegians met Premier Alex Campbell in Ottawa earlier this week. Mr. Campbell is attending the federal-provincial fiscal conference.

Mr. Bennett said the Norwegians had heard rumors that the government intended to take over the companies and "were disturbed at the reports."

The Gulf vice-president would not comment further, only saying discussions are being held with government officials.

Dr. M.L. Bonnell Addresses Meeting

MONTAGUE — "An eighteen hole golf course is a tremendous undertaking and one could not expect a small group to build such a course and Kings must have a golf course so your government will build you one of the best in eastern Canada," stated Hon. Dr. M.L. Bonnell at the annual meeting of the Brudenell Golf Association last night at the Legion Home Montague.

"What is more we will build it and we will maintain it, the present home will be renovated for clubrooms and leased to you, however the government will receive the green fees. We also will build one in Prince County in a location which will not interfere with private enterprise," said the speaker. He also advised that C.E. Robinson, architect for the Canadian Professional Golf Association would be in the province in a matter of a few days and will design the new course. Hon. Dr. Bonnell also suggested the course and grounds come under the new park regulations presently being drawn up for the protection of the grounds, trees, roadways, policing etc. In conclusion he advised the renovation of the building would start in November with the course being completed or ready for use in July of next year.

QUESTIONS PERIOD

He asked for a question period and answered several inquiries as to the possibilities of the present home to handle upwards of five hundred members or if the home would be in the best location. In answer he said he will take the advice within reason of the architect and if necessary we can use prefabric buildings that are available and have never even been used.

Previous to the address by Hon. Dr. Bonnell the election of officers took place with E.G. "Duke" MacDonald being elected president.

The original slate of officers were re-elected however Rev. Preston Hamill was appointed as a director to relieve him of the position as president which he held for the past year. Re-elected were Justin MacNeil as secretary and Eileen Johnston as treasurer. The treasurer presented the financial report which showed the club to be in a sound financial position.

On motion the directors were directed to examine the home at Brudenell and to bring back suggestions as to their findings with reference to the feasibility of using it for club rooms. The motion carried and this group will make an examination of the buildings on Saturday.

Island enjoys $4,400,000, almost all new.

The revised totals for the other provinces, described by a federal spokesman as about double the original phase-out grants:

Nova Scotia $40,300,000, Manitoba $45,200,000, Saskatchewan $45,000,000, British Columbia $45,200,000.

Mr. Pearson said the new estimate of total payments to the provinces for education next year is $407,400,000, taking into account Ottawa's tax transfers of four percentage points of personal income tax and one percentage point of corporation income tax.

These transfers pay the equivalent of half the operating costs of post-secondary institutions, the area Ottawa is stepping further into as it gets out of the secondary school system.

The various programs of federal aid to the provinces for education cost $270,000,000 this year, not counting money for adult education.

NOT INFLATIONARY

A federal official said the extra $275,000,000 offered Wednesday is not regarded as inflationary because it is money that the provinces would have had to raise and spend in any case.

He declined comment on whether the federal government would find it necessary to cover the expenditure by an increase in taxes.

Reaction of the provinces the gamut from a "very, very happy" Premier Louis Robichaud of New Brunswick to a "dour" Premier W. A. C. Bennett, who claimed B.C. would get "nothing."

But, as Premier Robarts commented, the provinces are obliged to accept whatever they get, because the money involved is held by the federal government.

He said the extra income tax is the price he wants for agreeing to the previously-announced federal position on shared-cost social programs.

That position, a major element of the federal tax proposals, calls for transfer of 17 points of personal income tax to the provinces in exchange for Ottawa's departure from major shared-cost social programs.

The Ontario premier threw another curve at the same time. He urged publication of projections the federal-provincial tax structure committee has made forecasting needs of Ottawa and the provinces for several years ahead.

Mr. Robarts said this work provided unequivocal evidence that a "major redistribution" of tax revenue to the provinces is necessary.

Finance Minister Sharp said the projections will not be made public. But a united demand by the provinces for their release would be difficult for him to refuse.

Summerside Boys Club Agrees On Camp Dates

SUMMERSIDE BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN

At a quarterly meeting of the Summerside Boys Club, it was unanimously agreed that boys club camp for next year would run for one week, from July 2-8. The local Y's Men's club are to be contacted to confirm booking arrangements for these dates at Camp Tamawaby in Grand River.

The chairman reported that an experiment to see if more boys from the east end of town would use the club facilities by having Wednesday night designated as east end boys night at which time the other members of the club attend gym at the Vocational High School.

The first of such meetings was a marked success with approximately 50 boys attending. It was stressed by the chairman that the club is open to all boys in the Summerside area from eight to 18 years of age.

DEMOLISHED

It was agreed by all that the two old buildings west of the club be demolished and the land levelled for outside activity. Considerable discussion centered around the feasibility of erecting a centennial float as a project for the older boys, this project to be brought before the older boys, Neptune Club, next meeting.

Congratulations were expressed to the management of the boys club juvenile baseball team for winning the Maritime championship and it was approved that crests be purchased by the club for the boys jackets.

It was made clear by the chairman, Howard Waite, that no expenses were involved to the boys club in sponsoring the ball team, as the management of the team provided all the funds.

It was stressed by the chairman that it is not the policy of the boys club to sponsor all stars, but if a need of sponsoring boys exists in any field, then this is part of the club's policy.

CLUB AIMS

The aims of the club are: 1. To keep boys off the streets. 2. To keep boys out of trouble. 3. To provide recreational activity.

The treasurer's report placed the club in a good financial position with a bank balance $1531 with outstanding bills amounting to $334 which were authorized for payment. Capital debts amounted to $5,000 on the property and $5,500 on the building.

The treasurer, Mr. Frizzell, stressed that it was important that committee stay within their budget so that funds will hold out until assistance from the United Fund is available.

The report on boys club camp for the three days listed expenses as $385 with amount paid by the boys amounting to $65. The treasurer reported that $35 monthly was paid on the property debt, but nothing as yet has been paid on the building loan. It was agreed to start payments next year.

The director, Mike Kelly gave a report, stating that 125 boys are active members and are divided into ten teams with a senior boy as leader. Monday night is senior boys night with various wisk tournaments taking place and all senior boys anxiously are awaiting the arrival of our new pool table.

Alex Blacquiere, Hilary Gaudet, Leo Blacquiere, Ben Grady, Charles Ballam, Mrs. Marie Wedge, Mrs. Alleen Brophy, Windsor Corney, Frank Taylor.

SDU Official Ceremonies Postponed Indefinitely

Rev. Dr. R. G. Ellsworth, vice-president of St. Dunstan's University, announced last night that both the special convocation exercises and the opening of the new Duffy Science Centre slated for Tuesday, November 1 have been postponed indefinitely.

The announcement came following word that Governor General and Madame Vanier, who were to receive honorary degrees at the convocation, would be unable to attend due to the Governor General's illness.

At first it was thought the Duffy Science Centre would be opened as planned, but last night's announcement also postponed that function.

The announcement was made by Dr. Ellsworth in the absence of SDU president Rt. Rev. G. A. Macdonald who is in Ottawa attending the annual conference of the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada.

No word was forthcoming concerning a possible future visit by the Vaniers or of the opening of the new science centre. Dr. St. Clair Duffy, a generous benefactor of St. Dunstan's, and Mrs. Duffy were to have attended the ceremonies.

EDUCATION

The premiers said they had made extensive building plans for 1967 and later presuming federal money would be available.

The provinces now are assured of $548,000,000 after next March 31 to soften the federal exit.

The limit under the shared-cost agreements for each province has been grants to the level of $480 per capita of the population aged 15 to 19 in the year 1961.

The new limit is $800 per capita, with federal contributions at the rate of 50 per cent of the construction costs instead of 75 per cent.

Ontario will get more than $40,000,000 in new money as a result of the revisions and Quebec about $100,000,000. Their over-all phase-out grants are $46,600,000 and $251,000,000, respectively.

GETS NEW MONEY

Almost all the $20,600,000 going to Alberta as a result of Wednesday's announcement will be new money.

In Newfoundland's case the changes account for about $10,000,000 of the $13,700,000 value of the phase-out, and $20,000,000 of the $34,400,000 going to New Brunswick can be traced to the latest changes. Prince Edward

Mr. Robarts' statement, released after the closed session took a firm stance in demanding a transfer from Ottawa of five percentage points of personal income tax next year and three percentage points in 1968.

The federal government has said that it will not make any further statements of its share of this tax or of corporation in come tax.

The conference has until Friday night to close this gap and several others. Quebec Premier Johnson came to Ottawa asking for virtually 100 per cent of both direct taxes.

CONCESSION ANTICIPATED

Mr. Pearson's concession on the construction grants was anticipated. He had promised a re-examination when some of
