

NOT EVERYBODY LOSES

Todd Church, 4, of Verdun, Quebec, is taking advantage of the Montreal bus strike to make some spending money. The idea is not as ludicrous as it seems as many Montrealers have been seen on similar forms of transportation on the first day of the strike. Monster traffic jams developed as 1,000,000 workers sought to reach work despite the hiccup of the main transportation system. Some 2,000 buses were pulled off when 3,000 transport employees went on strike for higher pay and better working conditions. (CP Wirephoto)
