

PRELIMINARY MOVES IN HUGE RED OFFENSIVE SUSPECTED

German Scientist Has Plan For Flight To Mars

Official Ottawa Program Of Royal Visit Announced

Transfers And Appointments Of Catholic Clergy

Several important changes involving appointments and transfers of members of the Roman Catholic clergy have been announced by Rev. P. F. MacDonald, Chancellor of the Diocese.

Rev. J. P. E. O'Hanley, Ph.D., of St. Dunstan's University staff, is leaving following his appointment as an R. C. A. F. chaplain. Rev. William Simpson, Bursar at the University has been named head of the Extension Department at St. Dunstan's, and Rev. P. P. Aylward, Administrator of Brae Parish, has been named to succeed him.

Rev. Louis B. Dooley, Curate of Tignish, was appointed Administrator of Brae Parish, and Rev. Denis Gallant, who was ordained this year, is replacing him at Tignish. Appointments involving other recently ordained priests include Rev. Francis Bolger, appointed to the staff at St. Dunstan's Basilica; Rev. Claude Shea, to be Curate at Seven Mile Bay; Rev. Reginald Phelan to be Curate at Tracadie.

Rev. James Kelly, of the staff of St. Dunstan's Basilica, has been appointed to the teaching staff at St. Dunstan's University and is leaving later this month for Toronto for a two-year post-graduate study course. Rev. Allan MacDonald and Rev. Thomas McLellan, who were doing post-graduate studies last year, will now be on the staff at the University.

Dies At Sydney

SYDNEY, N.S., Sept. 6—(CP)—Mrs. Edith Riley, 55, a native of Prince Edward Island, died tonight following a brief illness. She is survived by a brother, Arthur, of Montreal.

Coming Events

- Dance in Fanningbrook School, Monday, Sept. 10th.
- Chicken Supper, Kelly's Cross, Wednesday, October 3rd.
- Dance in Iona School, Cardigan, Monday, September 10th.
- Dance, Vernon River Hall, September 10th, in aid of C. W. L.
- Dance, Glenroy School, Friday, September 7th. Luncheon. Burke's Orchestra.
- Dance at Gordon Lodge every Friday night. Music by Robichaud. Dancing 9 to 1.
- Dance in St. Andrews School, Monday, September 10th. Refreshments. Good music.
- Raffle and Dance, Souris Line Road North School, Monday, Sept. 10th. MacCormack's Orchestra.
- Dance at South Rustico Hall, Friday, September 7th. Charlotte-tonians Orchestra. Canteen service.
- For Snapshots that will not fade mail your Films and Negatives to Garnum Photo Studios, Charlottetown.
- All interested in repairs to Cornwall Hall, please attend meeting in Cornwall Hall, Tuesday, September 11th.
- Reserve Wednesday, October 3rd, for Chicken and Ham Supper, Winsloe Station Hall. Audiences Highfield Women's Institute.
- Eliminations for fiddling and step-dancing Championships at Souris, Friday, Sept. 7th. Entries received St. Mary's Hall, night of contest.
- Dance, East Royal's Rink Hall, Friday, Sept. 7th. George Chapelle and his Merry Islanders. The evening 10 P. M. 10 P. M. Admission 50 cents. Canteen service. Free check room.
- Buying Live Poultry and Chicken Weekday to Friday noon, every week. We weigh and pay at your yard. Get our prices before selling. Phone collect for pick up service. E. J. McDougall, Vernon.
- Show, Morell Community Hall, every Tuesday, Friday and Saturday, 8 P. M. Coming this week Gary Grant and Ann Sheridan in "I Was a Male War Bride." This is a 20th Century Fox Show and a real comedy. Don't miss it.

OTTAWA, Sept. 6—(CP)—Princess Elizabeth will make an address, to be broadcast to all Canada, while she is in the capital next month, it was disclosed today with release of the official Ottawa program.

The address will be made at a state dinner the evening of Wednesday, Oct. 3—the day they arrive here for a two-day stay—and will be in reply to a toast by Viscount Alexander, the Governor-General.

The dinner will be held at Government House, home of Viscount and Viscountess Alexander, and the residence of the Princess and the Duke of Edinburgh while they are in the capital. It will be followed by an official reception.

The state dinner and the broadcast are the highlights of an action-packed itinerary.

The Princess and the Duke, who land at Quebec Oct. 2, will arrive in the capital at 10 a. m. Oct. 3. To the boom of a royal salute of 21 guns, their royal train will halt where the railway tracks bisect Ottawa's picturesque island park driveway.

On hand to greet them officially will be the Governor-General and Viscountess Alexander, Prime Minister and Mrs. St. Laurent and Acting Mayor Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa.

From there, a split-second 15-minute itinerary will take them to something new, virtually every quarter-hour of the day.

They will be driven through the Dominion Experimental Farm and then along the Rideau Canal to Lansdowne Park. There, thousands of Ottawa school children will be assembled for the presentation of a bouquet of flowers to the Princess.

A half-hour later they will be at the country's national war memorial, a stone, thrown from the Parliament buildings, to place (Continued on Page 5 Col. 4)

OTTAWA, Sept. 6—(CP)—The Princess and the Duke, who land at Quebec Oct. 2, will arrive in the capital at 10 a. m. Oct. 3. To the boom of a royal salute of 21 guns, their royal train will halt where the railway tracks bisect Ottawa's picturesque island park driveway.

On hand to greet them officially will be the Governor-General and Viscountess Alexander, Prime Minister and Mrs. St. Laurent and Acting Mayor Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa.

From there, a split-second 15-minute itinerary will take them to something new, virtually every quarter-hour of the day.

They will be driven through the Dominion Experimental Farm and then along the Rideau Canal to Lansdowne Park. There, thousands of Ottawa school children will be assembled for the presentation of a bouquet of flowers to the Princess.

A half-hour later they will be at the country's national war memorial, a stone, thrown from the Parliament buildings, to place (Continued on Page 5 Col. 4)

OTTAWA, Sept. 6—(CP)—The Princess and the Duke, who land at Quebec Oct. 2, will arrive in the capital at 10 a. m. Oct. 3. To the boom of a royal salute of 21 guns, their royal train will halt where the railway tracks bisect Ottawa's picturesque island park driveway.

On hand to greet them officially will be the Governor-General and Viscountess Alexander, Prime Minister and Mrs. St. Laurent and Acting Mayor Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa.

From there, a split-second 15-minute itinerary will take them to something new, virtually every quarter-hour of the day.

They will be driven through the Dominion Experimental Farm and then along the Rideau Canal to Lansdowne Park. There, thousands of Ottawa school children will be assembled for the presentation of a bouquet of flowers to the Princess.

A half-hour later they will be at the country's national war memorial, a stone, thrown from the Parliament buildings, to place (Continued on Page 5 Col. 4)

OTTAWA, Sept. 6—(CP)—The Princess and the Duke, who land at Quebec Oct. 2, will arrive in the capital at 10 a. m. Oct. 3. To the boom of a royal salute of 21 guns, their royal train will halt where the railway tracks bisect Ottawa's picturesque island park driveway.

On hand to greet them officially will be the Governor-General and Viscountess Alexander, Prime Minister and Mrs. St. Laurent and Acting Mayor Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa.

From there, a split-second 15-minute itinerary will take them to something new, virtually every quarter-hour of the day.

They will be driven through the Dominion Experimental Farm and then along the Rideau Canal to Lansdowne Park. There, thousands of Ottawa school children will be assembled for the presentation of a bouquet of flowers to the Princess.

A half-hour later they will be at the country's national war memorial, a stone, thrown from the Parliament buildings, to place (Continued on Page 5 Col. 4)

Dangerous Hurricane

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 6—(AP)—Winds exceeding 140 miles an hour developed today in hurricane "Easy" and the great tropical storm still was growing in size and power about 1200 miles southeast of Florida.

"This is now a large and dangerous hurricane," said the Miami Weather Bureau in its 6 p. m. (EDT) advisory. It still was too far at sea, though, to threaten any land areas.

A navy hurricane hunter plane flew into the heart of the storm and the pilot estimated the central wind velocity at greater than 140 miles an hour.

Winds of hurricane force (75 miles an hour or better) extended 50 miles south of the centre and 80 to 100 miles to the north.

At 6 p. m. it was 400 miles northeast of San Juan, Puerto Rico, and moving on a west-northwest course at 14 to 15 miles an hour.

Following hurricane "Easy", 1,000 miles back was hurricane "Fox", the sixth of the season. The Weather Bureau gives the storms alphabetical names as they occur—a for Able, b for Baker, etc.

The "Fox" was estimated at about 1,100 miles east-north-east of Annapolis in the British West Indies and 2,200 miles from Florida. It was moving west-northwest at about 15 miles an hour.

Seven Die In Flaming Home; Cigaret Blamed

SEPT ILES, Que., Sept. 6—(CP)—A 30-year-old mother was burned to death today in a vain attempt to save her sleeping husband and five children from their flaming home.

Mr. and Mrs. Leger Lapierre, their children, Gerard, 11; William, 8; Raymond, 5; Jean-Yves, 3; and Nicole, 1, perished in their flaming two-storey frame home on the eastern outskirts of this town, 300 miles northeast of Quebec City.

One of the Lapierre children and a cousin leaped to safety from a top-storey window after the woman cried out to warn the household, and a son who went downstairs to locate the fire was saved by someone who smashed in the front door.

Two other Lapierre children did not live at home. They arrived here today to identify the charred remains dug out in the ruins. An inquest is scheduled.

Could Be Made With Present Fuels

LONDON, Sept. 6—(Reuters)—Scientists meeting here today heard a plan to land a 50-man expedition on Mars, using artificial satellite bases revolving around both Earth and Mars as stepping stones.

The plan was outlined in a paper by the German rocket expert, Werner Von Braun, the man who designed Hitler's destructive V-2s. It was read at the second International Congress of Astronautics (navigation among the stars) by Lt. Cdr. Frederick Durant of the U. S. Navy's New Jersey air rocket test station.

Von Braun said it would be possible to send an expedition to Mars in space ships burning chemical fuels already in existence.

Space Station First Step

First step would be to establish an artificial satellite space station, revolving round the earth as the moon does. To it 46 rockets—making 950 flights—would take parts for 10 spaceships which would make the actual interplanetary hop. Workmen on the satellite would assemble the 3,720-ton spaceship.

In these 70 men would fly through outer space to set up a second satellite circling Mars. From this base 50—the other 20 would stay behind to man the space station—would actually land on Mars in three 200-ton rockets. The space pioneers would return to Earth in the bigger ships left on the Mars satellite.

Von Braun estimated the whole operation would last two years, 239 days. Preliminary supply operations would take eight months.

Five Million Tons Fuel

He said the 5,320,000 tons of propellant—hydrazine as fuel and nitric acid as oxidizer—would be needed for supply operations and 36,600 tons for the actual interplanetary flight.

"According to official statistics, the Berlin airlift consumed about 1/10 of this amount in high-octane gasoline," said Von Braun. "And all this because of a little misunderstanding between diplomats. Compared with fuel consumption of wars, the requirements for an interplanetary expedition would indeed pale into insignificance."

LONDON, Sept. 6—(CP)—Britain slammed the door tonight on the prospect of renewing negotiations with Iran on the oil-nationalization issue while Premier Mohammad Mossadegh remains in power.

Reacting sharply to Mossadegh's proposal to oust 350 British technicians of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company from the shut-down refinery centre of Abadan unless Britain agrees to resume talks, a Foreign Office spokesman said:

"The recent speech by the Persian Prime Minister in the Senate shows conclusively that no further negotiations with the present Persian Government can produce any results. His Majesty's Government therefore now considers that the negotiations begun by the Lord Privy Seal (Richard R. Stokes) are no longer in suspension, but broken off."

The statement came a few hours after Mossadegh hopes into parliamentary trouble in Tehran. Many deputies of the economically-pinched country demonstrated their opposition to his proposal for a new ultimatum to Britain by boycotting a session of the Majlis, the lower house, called to give him a vote of confidence. Only 62 of the deputies showed up while 67 were required for the quorum.

Lack of a quorum finally led Mossadegh to postpone the session until Sunday.

The boycott was the most serious expression of Iranian opposition to Mossadegh since he rode to power in a wave of nationalism and anti-British sentiment.

The Foreign Office appeared to be pinning its short-term hopes on the possibility Mossadegh will get Majlis backing. But the oil law remains popular in Iran and Mossadegh can put pressure on the rebels during the week-end.

Britain Refuses Further Oil Talks With Iran

LONDON, Sept. 6—(CP)—Britain slammed the door tonight on the prospect of renewing negotiations with Iran on the oil-nationalization issue while Premier Mohammad Mossadegh remains in power.

Reacting sharply to Mossadegh's proposal to oust 350 British technicians of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company from the shut-down refinery centre of Abadan unless Britain agrees to resume talks, a Foreign Office spokesman said:

"The recent speech by the Persian Prime Minister in the Senate shows conclusively that no further negotiations with the present Persian Government can produce any results. His Majesty's Government therefore now considers that the negotiations begun by the Lord Privy Seal (Richard R. Stokes) are no longer in suspension, but broken off."

The statement came a few hours after Mossadegh hopes into parliamentary trouble in Tehran. Many deputies of the economically-pinched country demonstrated their opposition to his proposal for a new ultimatum to Britain by boycotting a session of the Majlis, the lower house, called to give him a vote of confidence. Only 62 of the deputies showed up while 67 were required for the quorum.

Lack of a quorum finally led Mossadegh to postpone the session until Sunday.

The boycott was the most serious expression of Iranian opposition to Mossadegh since he rode to power in a wave of nationalism and anti-British sentiment.

The Foreign Office appeared to be pinning its short-term hopes on the possibility Mossadegh will get Majlis backing. But the oil law remains popular in Iran and Mossadegh can put pressure on the rebels during the week-end.

U. S., Portugal Sign Agreement

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6—(AP)—The United States and Portugal signed a new agreement today linking the Azores Islands into the chain of North Atlantic defenses.

Portugal's Foreign Minister, Paulo Cunha, and U. S. Ambassador Lincoln MacVeagh signed the agreement in Lisbon. The accord was announced by the State Department here.

It gives the United States new rights to bases on the strategic islands, a State Department spokesman said. Eventually the facilities may be extended to other members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization "for the purposes of the common defence and the preservation of peace and security." Both the United States and Portugal are members of the Treaty Organization.

LONDON, Sept. 5—(AP)—The Foreign Office warned today that Britain might take steps to insure that Egypt obeys the United Nations Security Council request to end her blockade of the Suez Canal for Israel-bound ships.

Seven Die In Flaming Home; Cigaret Blamed

SEPT ILES, Que., Sept. 6—(CP)—A 30-year-old mother was burned to death today in a vain attempt to save her sleeping husband and five children from their flaming home.

Mr. and Mrs. Leger Lapierre, their children, Gerard, 11; William, 8; Raymond, 5; Jean-Yves, 3; and Nicole, 1, perished in their flaming two-storey frame home on the eastern outskirts of this town, 300 miles northeast of Quebec City.

One of the Lapierre children and a cousin leaped to safety from a top-storey window after the woman cried out to warn the household, and a son who went downstairs to locate the fire was saved by someone who smashed in the front door.

Two other Lapierre children did not live at home. They arrived here today to identify the charred remains dug out in the ruins. An inquest is scheduled.

Mr. W. R. Shaw Reports On Agricultural Conference

Mr. W. R. Shaw, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, returned yesterday from the second annual Conference of Ministers and Deputy Ministers of Agriculture held in Victoria, B. C., with news that the next Conference is to be held in Prince Edward Island in 1952.

This year's meetings occupied two days and covered a wide range of subjects of common interest to the different Provinces. Considerable attention was given to the problem of land use and conservation, and it was unanimously conceded that if agriculture is to be maintained on a strong and permanent basis a policy associated with long range basic farm management is an urgent necessity.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform grading of farm products under Federal Government regulations. It was felt that consumers were entitled to this protection and should always be given the best quality of product purchased. In this connection the British Columbia Marketing Legislation was considered a splendid pattern for uniform marketing legislation in provinces desiring legislative action.

The Conference deplored the falling off in dairy production and responsibility was placed on present high production costs, the competition of industry in the labour market, and relatively low returns to the producer. It was felt that improved public relations were necessary so that the consuming public might be fully acquainted with the true picture regarding the conditions surrounding the production of farm products.

Marketing legislation also came under close scrutiny and a strong recommendation was endorsed favouring uniform