Women Get Big Role In Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—There is a lot of talk about women around Toronto's city hall in the aftermath of the municipal elections. Margaret Campbell and June Marks have become the city's top controllers, respectively 12,000 and 2,000 votes ahead of the nearest of four male contenders in Monday's vote.

In the newly created borough of East York, former East York Reeve True Davidson was elected mayor. Miss Davidson will join Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Marks on the Metropolitan Toronto council.

There were a record-breaking 40 women candidates throughout Metro. Eighteen won.

Both Mrs. Marks and Mrs. Campbell have had a strong and not always harmonious interest in housing. Mrs. Marks campaigned on slum conditions and was elected alderman for the first time two years ago.

BROUGHT INQUIRY
Her attacks sparked a judicial inquiry into the question and brought some changes in slum control and housing inspection procedures.

Mrs. Marks is the wife of a postal employee and mother of four.

Mrs. Campbell, who will presumably become the city's budget chief, the customary job for the leading controller, has been a sort of municipal minister of housing and development.

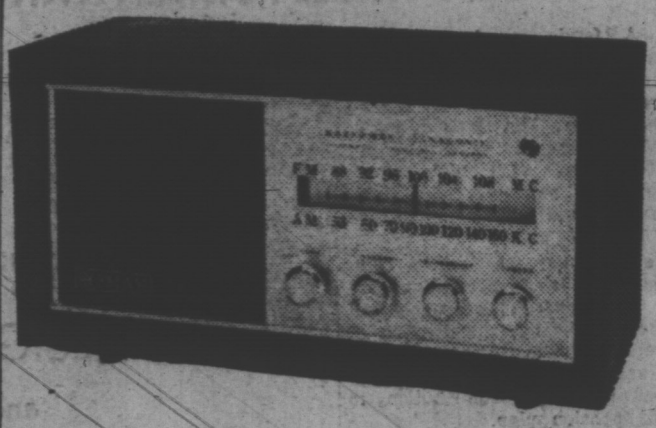

She was first elected alderman in 1958, was narrowly defeated in her first bid for board of control in 1963, and won the fourth-place seat in 1965.

Mrs. Campbell is a lawyer, wife of retired movie and TV producer Sterling Campbell, and mother of three.

Miss Davidson has spent 18 years in public life in East York, beginning with the school board.
