

MR. AND MRS. GLEN MACEACHERN
Summerside Ceremony Is Held At Presbyterian Ch.

Summerside Presbyterian Church was the setting for the wedding of Helen Louise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Linkletter, Linkletter Road, and Glen Leigh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leigh MacEachern, Tea Hill. The church was decorated with pink delight roses, pink and white carnations and tall white candles. The officiating clergyman was Rev. John S. McBride. The soloist, Mrs. Edwin Linkletter, sang "The Wedding Prayer" before the ceremony and "Praise My Soul, the King of Heaven" during the signing of the register. She was accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Amos Hubley. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white peau de soie featuring a fitted bodice with long lily point sleeves, and full skirt. Two panels of lace extended from the scoop neckline, along the edges of a centre front pleat, to the floor. A peau de soie rose and streamers trimmed the waist at the back. She wore a single strand of cultured pearls, a gift of the groom. Her headpiece was a white peau de soie rose which held an elbow-length veil of silk tulle illusion trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a cascade designed bouquet consisting of pink sensation roses and white snowdrift chrysanthemums. The maid of honor was Shirley Linkletter, and Betty Linkletter was bridesmaid. They were gowned in dusty rose peau de soie styled in empire lines with lace bodices and trains held in place by peau de soie bows. Their head pieces were two-tier silk illusion veils held by matching peau de soie bows. They carried semi-cascade bouquets of white and pink fugi mums to blend with their ensembles.

The best man was Keith MacEachern, brother of the groom, David Linkletter, brother of the bride, and David Smith, cousin of the groom ushered the guests to pews marked with wild pink roses and white bows. For the reception at the church hall, the bride's mother received wearing a blue metallic sheath dress with matching hat and shoes. Her accessories were white and she wore a corsage of white and pink carnations. The bridegroom's mother was in a empire-styled dress with sheath skirt of turquoise with hat the same shade and flowers of white carnations sprayed with turquoise. Gloria Large was in charge of the guest book while music was provided by Arthur Large. For a honeymoon to Niagara Falls and the White Mountains, New Hampshire, the bride wore a dusty pink wool suit trimmed with satin and a matching picture hat. Her accessories were white and she wore a corsage of white carnations. The newlyweds are residing in Parkdale.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Porous masonry surfaces can be cleaned more easily if pre-wetted. This prevents detergent solutions from being absorbed.

Always clean and peel vegetables and fruits on a newspaper or paper bag. When through, just roll up and throw away.

Quick hot canapes: Vienna sausages wrapped in flaky-type refrigerator biscuits and lightly browned in the oven.

ELLEN'S DIARY

Modern Children Miss Much That Was Good

Silent this old house is at the moment. There is no sound in the stillness. Nothing but the tick of the clock, as it measures off the night's hours. Beyond the windows, the leaves are still. The moon climbs above a barn gable, face at the moment bandaged by ribbons of silvery blue. Presently, when the lights go out along the valley, we shall see its enchantment woven on woodland and field. And "What a pity that we sleep away a night like this!" we will say to James when we come to our pillows, with our bedroom almost as bright as by day, and a loveliness beyond.

"It is, Ellen" he will agree. And a silence will follow as he reviews in mind former moonlit nights he has known. And "Nights now aren't what they used to be" he will say. "Do you remember, how enjoyable it was to drive by horse and wagon - or by sleigh - on a moonlit night? There was something about it that was hard to beat - a rare charm to it, wasn't there? Now with cars, well, they may have their place as things are, but for sheer enjoyment there was nothing more satisfying to a boy than to have a horse and buggy he could call his own. The youngsters of these times, miss so much we had that was good."

Five children this house keeps at the moment. Their parents, and in a rare happening, James too, is missing from the scene. All are away on items related to our farming. Some are engaged in returning those members of the little herd that today vied with others for honors at the country fair that is Crapaud's. Others have gone to the Mainland to be with Mack and those of the cow-kind there at another fair, their testing time set for tomorrow. Alex and Peter, our over-night guests, are in bed. Alex went with some misgiving.

"You will waken me in good time, won't you? You won't forget, because I'll have extra chores to do. And school time comes early."

Peter, a small figure in another bed, remarked drowsily, and on a lonely note. "I like it here when I know Mother and Dad are at home. But with them away it is different. It doesn't seem the same at all."

"They will be home tomorrow night. Scampie will bark then, and everything will be fine again," we said.

He smiled and snuggled into his pillow. And sleep, in so many instances "a blessing thing" soon claimed him. And what of the other three bairns, also awaiting the return of their own? Snug on either end of the couch, like a pair of dolls, the little girls sleep. The Sandman caught up with Gordie. As he sat listening to the clock ticking the time away - a little fellow, ears attuned to catch the first sound of a returning machine. Presently, he too, head cushioned now, was off into his own Land of Nod.

And all was - and is well with us today at this old house of their people.

Until tomorrow - - - Diary - - - Good-night.

Urbanville Pair Observe Golden Wedding Day

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus P. Gallant of Urbanville recently celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. Rev. Charles Gallant celebrated a special Mass in their honor in the afternoon, after which a dinner and reception was held at the Egmont Bay parish hall at 5 o'clock which was attended by a large number of friends and relatives of the happy couple. The table was centered by a beautifully decorated cake for the occasion. Many gifts and congratulatory messages were received by both Mr. and Mrs. Gallant are both 70 years of age and have seven children living: two daughters, Rita (Mrs. Tilton Arsenault), and Louise (Mrs. Joseph E. Arsenault); both of St. Chrysostom; five sons: Edmond, of Urbanville; Elmer of Abram's Village, Gustave, of Toronto, Dolore of Ottawa, and Edgar who is the director of Federal-Provincial relations in Ottawa, and resides at Hull, P. Q. Two other sons are deceased, namely: Donat, who was killed in an air crash during the war and Tilmor, who died in 1960.

Mr. and Mrs. Gallant moved into a new home last winter. Mr. Gallant had been a prosperous farmer until a few years ago when he became a road supervisor.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN P. CURRAN
Summer Wedding Is Held At Saint Joachim's Church

The marriage of Carol Ann Hynes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo A. Hynes, Millview, P. E. I., to John Peter Curran, son of Mr. and Mrs. Brendan Curran, Alberry Plains, P. E. I. took place in St. Joachim's Church, Vernon River on August 6, 1966.

Rev. Clifford Murphy performed the double ring ceremony and celebrated the nuptial mass. The church was decorated with baskets of mixed flowers and guest pews were marked with white satin bows.

The wedding mass was played by Mrs. William Campbell, who also accompanied Mrs. Fay Peterson as she sang appropriate hymns.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white crystal charm with chapel train, empire lace bodice and Capucci sleeves. Her four-tier, shoulder length veil of tulle illusion flowed from a fabric rose of white crystal charm centered with pearls and lace. She carried a cascade of pink Delight roses. A single strand of pearls was her only jewelry.

The matron of honour, Mrs. Earl Nicholson, sister of the bride, and bridesmaids, Marie Curran, sister of the groom, and Janet Hynes, RN, sister of the bride, wore identical gowns of pale green crystal charm with matching shoes and headpieces. They carried cascades of feathered carnations. Lisa Nicholson the bride's niece, dressed in white chiffon with flowered head piece and carrying a nosegay of pink baby roses, was flower girl.

George Curran, was best man for his brother, and ushers were James Farrar and Frank Cain. Following the ceremony a reception for 110 guests was held at the Basilica Recreation Centre, Charlottetown.

The brides mother received in a pink, two-piece dress with white accessories. Her corsage
