Christian Faith

Roman Catholics hold that truth itself must be defined as that which is taught by the Roman church and that this teaching is proclaimed by a pope, who in his official utterances, is supernaturally guarded from error," the book said.

NO HUMAN INFALLIBLE

"Protestants believe that no human being can be thus infallible; that the pope can be, and many popes have been, quite wrong."

Protestants believed their interpretation of the meaning of the "holy Catholic church" was right; that is, "Christianity in its full depth and range," and that "the Roman view is false and leads to a serious distortion of Christian faith and life."

Further, the book said, Protestants hold "that the sole authority for human life is God as revealed through his word and that no human being or institution should come between man and the duty he owes to God."

CONDEMNS "VENERATION"

The work said that "Protestantism itself is by no means immune to corruption and superstition" but is struck out against "veneration" of saints, relics and images which it denounced as "in reality a form of idolatry that denies the sovereignty and the purely spiritual character of God."

It said "There can be no doubt that the priesthood of the Roman Church gets in between Christ and his people in such a way as often to hinder, rather than promote, true communion."

"And the whole conception of a mediatorial rather than a ministerial priesthood is far out of line with. . New Testament teachings."

In the strongest terms the book set forth its opposition to the papacy:

"Jesus Christ is the full revelation of God. He is God at work saving mankind. He is God's grace. In Christ men come into touch with the living God.

"He is the only mediator between God and men. He is therefore the only rightful lord of men and we must acknowledge that he alone is head of the church.

"He has not handed over the rule of his church to men. He still rules it by his own presence and power. He does not need a 'vicar' on earth for he lives and reigns among his people who are committed to him in faith."

sident of the Legion, speaking as a guest, commended the Veterans of the Guard on getting together, and recalled that their experience in the First World War fitted them for the splendid work they were able to do when called upon in a less arduous capacity later.

Mrs. Lilian Corrigan, President of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion, was called upon to accept the grateful thanks of the Guards for the splendid dinner provided by the organization which she so capably heads. Following the dinner meeting, a committee was formed to complete the organization and arrange for future meetings.

Golden Wedding Monday

Shown above are Mr. and Mrs. Fidele Perry, St. Lawrence Street, Summerside, who will on Monday September 20, celebrate their golden wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry were married in St. Paul's Church, Summerside, on September 20, 1904, by Rev. J. C. MacLean, then parist priest at Summerside. The best man at the wedding was Mr. Thomas McCarville and the bridesmaid was Mary Mulligan, sister of the bride. Both of these have since passed away.

Since their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Perry have lived most of their life in Summerside with the exception of two years spent at Emerald and a short time in the United States.

Two children were born of this union, Earl, who resides in Summerside, and a daughter who died some years ago.

On Sunday evening this esteemed couple will be at home to their many friends to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. On Monday they will leave on a trip to Boston where they will visit Mrs. Perry's sister, Mrs. Alice Murphy and Margaret (Mrs. Gair), at Melrose, Mass. They will be the guests of Mr. Perry's brother Charles and at Wakefield, Mass., of his sister Margaret (Mrs. Riley). They expect to return to Summerside in about two weeks.

United Church Delegates Hear of Gains; Ponder Policy For Future

By RAE CORELLI
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SACKVILLE, N.B. (CP)—Nearly 400 churchmen sat down Thursday night to get a first-hand account of Christianity's gains at the World Council of Churches assembly in August at Evanston, Ill., and ponder the course that lies ahead for Canada's biggest Protestant faith.

Detailed reports to the lay and clerical delegates to the United Church's 16th general council will be submitted by Very Rev. C. M. Nicholson, principal of Pine Hill Divinity Hall in Halifax and a former moderator, and Ivan C. Robison, a Calgary layman.

Senior delegates agreed that the achievements at Evanston toward greater inter-faith spiritual unity would be a guiding factor in whatever steps the United Church takes between now and the next world assembly in co-operating with other Protestant denominations.

UNITY A NECESSITY

Dr. George Dorey of Toronto, who was elected moderator Wednesday night, has said that without "a spirit that leads to unity" all churches of the Christian religion are "doomed to fail."

Delegates were scheduled to devote the entire night session to the Evanston theme, "Christ—the Hope of the World," except for a brief interlude to permit Mount Allison University to bestow several honorary degrees at a special convocation.

The afternoon was entirely given over to meetings of sessional committees which were closed to the press. These meetings will lay the groundwork for the business sittings ahead by sifting through a gigantic sheaf of reports and resolutions from the 11 conferences across the country.

The council ran head on into its first major controversy so far at the morning meeting in Sackville United Church where all but the public meetings are being held.

The few public sessions are being held in Charles Fawcett Memorial Hall on the Mount Allison University campus.

FINANCE DEBATE FLARES

The debate started over a report by the church policy commission in which the signers of the majority report recommended that the board of finance be stripped of its fund-raising powers.

The missionary and maintenance department currently raises the $5,000,000 needed to run the church each year but it does so as an organ of the board of finance. It wants to do the job independently of board control and spending the money that is raised doesn't enter the picture.

A. E. McBride of Toronto, chairman of the department, wants the change approved by this council because, he insists, the board has not helped his group to raise the money and therefore, should not have ultimate control over how it is done. The board argued that raising and spending the money should not be separated.

Travel Bureau Co-operating In Church Tour

The Prince Edward Island Travel Bureau is lending every co-operation in seeing that the trip of the United Church Council Commissioners to the Island tomorrow is a most hospitable and informative one.

When the delegates step off the train at Cape Tormentine they will be met by a piper who will lead them up a decorated ramp to the deck of the waiting M.V. Abegweit. Arriving at Borden at 12.30 Standard Time the 125-car motorcade will be marshalled into order and led by scarlet coated members of the R.C.M.P. motor cycle squad.

They will proceed on the Trans Canada Highway to Read's Corner and by route one to Hunter River. From Hunter River they will go to Cavendish at 2.45 p.m. where refreshments will be served with the group splitting up into four, or five smaller groups and served in the various tourist lodges.

Returning to Hunter River by the same route the cavalcade will move to Charlottetown where a two-hour stop will be made, during which a lobster supper will be served at the Charlottetown Hotel. Special guests will include His Honor Lt-Gov. Prowse and Premier A. W. Matheson. Their arrival in the City is planned for 4.45 p.m.

Two representatives of the P.E.I. Travel Bureau will accompany the delegates on the train between Sackville and Tormentine. Each guest will be presented with a copy of the Travel Bureau's illustrated booklet and a map of Prince Edward Island. Prepared for special distribution on this occasion will be a special "Welcome Book" which is intended as a souvenir. On the return trip of the boat, the National Film Board will show tourist pictures on Prince Edward Island.

THE OUTCAST AT CAPITOL THEATRE SUMMERSIDE

—"The Outcast", played against spectacular beauty of the Colorado cattle country, is the gripping tale of a rugged young westerner, John Derek, who returns to his native town after an absence of eight years. His war with his uncle, Jim Davis, is for the recovery of his heritage, the great Circle C Ranch. He brings with him a crew of nine hired gunmen, headed by tough Bob Steele. His accusation that Davis stole the ranch by a will forged after the death of Derek's father brings instant reprisals.

Joan Evans, one of a family of poor ranchers falls in love with Derek after saving him from a bushwacking by two Circle C gunmen played by Ben Cooper and Harry Carey, Jr. She then vouches for him to her father, Frank Ferguson, and her brothers, Slim Pickens, Nicholas Costar and Robert "Buzz" Henry, who also have suffered at the hands of Jim Davis.

In a flaming gun battle with Ben Cooper and another Circle C man, James Millican, Derek is wounded and Cooper is killed. Catherine McLeod, Davis' beautiful fiance from Virginia and Joan Evans hide Derek in Catherine's hotel room, where Davis soon finds him. In the subsequent fight, Catherine learns the truth about the range war. Recognizing Davis' deadly intentions towards Derek, she packs her bags and returns to Virginia.

Large Barn At Elmsdale Destroyed By Fire; Started While Threshing

—A large barn at Elmsdale belonging to Harry Wells was quickly destroyed by fire last evening, which apparently started in the blower of a mill during threshing operations. In a matter of seconds the blaze spread throughout the interior of the building. Mr. Wells, who was in the loft, barely escaped in time.

Two calves, a registered heifer, the entire grain and hay crop and a thresher belonging to Brendon Wallace were lost. Only three loads of grain remained to be threshed when the fire broke out.

Quick work on the part of Blanche Adams, who was helping with the threshing, saved five cows which had been brought into the barn for milking. By the time she had taken the cows outside to safety it was too late to make any attempt to save the three young cattle.

At this time of year the loss of his barn and crop is a very serious one for Mr. Wells. There was a small amount of insurance.

pressing regret at the small number of entrants in the competition, heartily congratulated those who had taken part. "It is unfortunate," said the Deputy Minister, "that more young people do not avail themselves of the opportunity of participating in such contests."

SPLENDID EXAMPLE

He gave special praise to the Sherbrooke Club which was setting a splendid example to the rest of the Island in leadership. He pointed out that on every such occasion as this, Sherbrooke was represented. He paid tribute to those who had given them leadership and noted with pleasure the number of club members that attended the gathering in support of the Sherbrooke entry.

Dr. George Fisher, who spoke on behalf of the judges, termed it "a pleasure to come here and see these young people do so well." In referring to Miss Colwill's effort he said, "Her speech was packed with detail but she had a variety of voice which made everyone feel that she had an individual message for each one."

Mr. Neil Matheson, M.P., spoke briefly to the boys and girls and reminded them of the tremendous asset it was to be able to speak in public. He wished them the best of luck and hoped to see many more contestants next year.

After the presentation of suitable prizes by Dr. Deacon, all the youths present, along with a number of adults, enjoyed an evening of square dancing.

Is that all? Two-fisted little fire engines like this are one of the little reasons why more families ran out of Kellogg's Corn Flakes this morning than any other cereal. The big reason it happens every day is this: Kellogg's Corn Flakes just naturally taste best to more people. Always have. Still do. So naturally, many women pick up a spare package of Kellogg's Corn Flakes every time they buy any cereal of any kind. You too?
