

INTEMPERANCE.

Kind friends, I'm glad to meet you here ; I stand before you all, A soldier who has served his time With old King Alcohol. I've stood by him through thick and thin, Until they call me sot, And when for him I sold my coat, This was the coat I got.

I fought for him, I bled for him, As through the streets I'd rave ; And when through him I lost my hat, This is the hat he gave. My boots were of the neatest fit, As fine as boots could be ; For him I gave away my boots, And then he booted me.

My eyes were of the deepest blue, Nor lustre did they lack ; But now you see they both are red And one is also black ! My nose was never beautiful, But still was not amiss ; Old Alcohol, he touched it up, And what dy'e think of this ?

He promised I should courage have For all the ills of life ; The bravest thing he made me do Was beat my little wife. He promised he would give me wit, And I should ne'er be sad, Instead of which he took away The little sense I had.

The health and wealth he promised me He never, never gave ; But when he'd taken all I had, I found myself a slave. So now I'll fight for him no more, For woe is all his pay ; He's cheated me and lied to me— I'll sign the pledge to-day !

A Breach of Promise Case.

BY MAX ADELER.

When the case of Butts versus Hubner was called in the court, the counsel for the prosecution arose and explained the facts to the jury in the following terms :

"This, gentlemen, is a suit brought by Miss Hannah Butts against Daniel P. Hubner, for breach of promise of marriage. We will show you that Hubner is a retired sea-captain, having spent much of his life upon whaling voyages, and that some months ago he began to pay attentions to Hannah Butts, a maiden lady somewhat beyond the prime of life. Subsequently she accepted him, and they were engaged. "Hubner used to come around to see her every evening, and it became a habit with him to go fast asleep on the sofa before the evening was half over. But I will refer to this directly. From the first some of his methods of conversation were offensive. If she purchased a new bonnet he would refer to it as a sky-scraper. Upon one occasion when she yawned, he told her that she'd be scuttled some day if she didn't keep her hatchway shut. He expressed his disapproval of a sacque she wore, by saying he didn't like the cut of her mizzen rigging ; and one day, when she dropped her slipper, he picked it up, and running his eye along the sole, remarked that a keel of that size ought to keep any craft steady.

"These things pained the plaintiff. She thought him lacking in true affection when, at one time, while she was lunching at his expense at a restaurant, he told her that if she stowed her cargo so fast as that it might cant her and wreck her on the voyage home. Her fears of his growing coldness were heightened further by his remarking, one evening when she was singing a pathetic little ballad for him, that if he ever went to sea again he would know where to get a fog-horn free of expense.

"That she is slender she is well aware but that cannot excuse the cruel observation made by the defendant, that it wouldn't pay to cut her up for blubber ; and I leave you to imagine her feelings, who, having come into the house unexpectedly, when she had her teeth out of her mouth, he suggested that if her hull was as loosely put together as that, she had better go into dry dock for repairs. I will not refer to this heartless conduct upon another occasion, when she had mislaid her teeth and could find them, and he advised her to send up a rocket as a signal of distress.

"I pass over these and other scandalous things. As I said, his custom was to spend much of each evening snoring upon the sofa, while she sat patiently by, strong in her love, and sewed while she waited for him to wake up. He seemed to dream regularly of his past adventures, for when he was not swearing at his sailors and using nautical phraseology of an apparently profane nature, he would imagine himself at sea, in a boat pursuing whales.

"Miss Butts bore with his conduct good naturedly. She did not complain when he tried to row the sofa with the poker ; she remained calm when he grasped the chair and dragged it upon the sofa under the evident impression that it was a man overboard ; she endured him when he unrolled two spools of cotton with the belief that he was paying out line ; and she controlled herself when he pointed wildly, while he was asleep, to Mrs. McGlory, a visitor who had dropped in, and declared that he could take half a ton of whale-bone out of her.

But gentlemen, he carried his conduct too far. One night while Miss Butts was sitting quietly by the table, she had occasion to blow her nose ; perhaps she used more vigor than usual ; perhaps not. At any rate, the defendant, Hubner, rose dreaming, and shrieked, 'There-re-re she blows!' and grasping a closed umbrella, hurled it, harpoon fashion, toward her. It struck her, fractured her shell-comb, disheveled her hair, caused her to drop her teeth again, and knocked her upon the floor.

"He awoke, and when she expressed her indignation he laughed. This made her more angry, and then he said, that as she evidently didn't love him, he would break the engagement, and he did. She now sues him for $10,000 damages as a partial atonement for the wrong done to her wounded sensibilities."

Then the case went on, and when the jury got it, they gave Miss Butts three cents damages. She is still single ; but her bold mariner is married to a forbearing widow.

W. R. BOREHAM'S PAIN EXPELLING POROUS PLASTER.

The Greatest Medical Discovery since the Creation of Man, or since the Commencement of the Christian Era.

There never has been a time when the healing of so many different diseases has been caused by outward application as the present. It is an undisputed fact that over half of the entire population of the globe resort to the use of ordinary plasters.

DR. MELVIN'S CAPSICUM POROUS PLASTER are acknowledged by all who have used them, to act quicker than any other plaster they ever before tried, and that one of these plasters will do more real service than a hundred of the ordinary kind. All other plasters are slow of action, and require to be worn continually to effect a cure ; but with these it is entirely different ; the instant one is applied the patient will feel its effect.

Physicians in all ages have thoroughly tested and well know the effect of Capsicum ; and it has always been more or less used as a medical agent for an outward application ; but it is only of very recent date that its advantages in a porous plaster have been discovered. Being, however, convinced of the wonderful cures effected by DR. MELVIN'S CAPSICUM POROUS PLASTER, and their superiority over all other plasters, they now actually prescribe them, in their practice, for such diseases as rheumatism, pain in the side and back, and all such cases as have required the use of plasters or liniment. After you have tried other plasters and liniments, and they have failed, and you want a certain cure, ask your druggist for DR. MELVIN'S CAPSICUM POROUS PLASTER. You can hardly believe your own convictions of its wonderful effects. Although powerful and quick in its action, you can rely on its safety for the most delicate person to wear, as it is free from lead and other poisonous material commonly used in the manufacture of ordinary plasters. One trial is a sufficient guarantee of its merits, and one plaster will sell hundreds to your friends.

Ask your druggist for DR. MELVIN'S CAPSICUM POROUS PLASTER, and take no other ; or, on receipt of 25 cents for one, $1 for five, or $2 for a dozen, they will be mailed, post paid, to any address in the United States or Canada.

CATARRH.

Constitutional Catarrh Remedy CURES CATARRH.

Hear what a Reverend Gentleman says of the Constitutional Remedy.

T. J. B. HARDING, Esq., Brockville, Ont.:— DEAR SIR—It is now two years since your "Constitutional Catarrh Remedy" was introduced to me. I have waited this long to see if the cure would remain permanent before doing this, my duty, to you, as at first the happy effects seemed to me to be "too good to be true."

I was afflicted in my head for years before I suspected it to be Catarrh. In reading in your Circular I saw my case described in many particulars. The inward "drop" from the head had become very disagreeable, and a choking sensation often preventing me from lying long, I would feel like smothering and be compelled to sit up in the bed. My health and spirits were seriously affected. When your agent came to Walkertown in August, 1876, I secured three bottles. Before I had used a quarter of the contents of one bottle I found decided relief, and when I had used two bottles and a third, I quit taking it, feeling quite cured of that ailment, and have not used any since until of late I have taken some for a cold in my head.

A sense of duty to sufferers from that loathsome disease, Catarrh, prompts me to send you this Certificate, unsolicited, with leave to make what use of it you may see proper. Yours truly, W. TINDALL, Methodist Minister. Port Elgin, Ont., Aug. 24, 1878.
