Scotland got the decision after a spirited discussion. SPECIAL CROSSING.—Five passengers crossed from Cape Tormentine yesterday in a special boat. Two of the number—Mrs. S. Page and Mr. Vroom—came to Charlottetown by special train which arrived about half-past five in the afternoon. SCOTT ACT.—On Saturday evening Scott Act summonses were served on Eliza Mitchell and Catherine Collins, both of Blinwood Street. TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.—The regular meeting of the Teachers' Institute was held on Saturday night. At the next meeting a paper will be read by Dr. James McLeod. POLICE COURT.—This forenoon James Cummings was fined $100 and $55 costs or two months imprisonment for a second offence of the Canada Temperance Act. The summons against Sarah Ann McIntyre, charging a first infraction of the same Act, was dismissed. Three young men charged with disorderly conduct on the streets yesterday, were each fined $2 or 10 days. HOME FOR INTERMENT.—The body of Mrs. Huntley, whose death at Moncton about a week ago has already been reported, arrived in Charlottetown from Georgetown this forenoon, and was taken to the residence of Mr. John Coombe. This afternoon about 2.45, after service at Mr. Coombe's residence, the body was removed to the First Methodist Church, where the funeral service took place, after which the body was interred in the People's Cemetery. The funeral from the church was very large. MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC.—There will be a musical and literary entertainment given in the large hall of the Convent de Notre Dame on the evening of the 10th of March next. The proceeds of the entertainment will go towards the building fund of the new St. Dunstan's Cathedral. The pupils attending the Convent have been making preparations for the event for some time, and it promises to be one of the musical and literary treats of the year. The hall has a seating capacity of six hundred, and we expect to see every seat occupied. Remember the date (March 10) and pass the word to your friends. WILL DO TIME.—In December last a well-known character named Frank Ellworth was fined $90 or 90 days by Stipendiary Magistrate Hazard for drunkenness. Ellworth informed the court that it was his intention to ship in a vessel sailing from Charlottetown, and if given a chance would leave the country. His Honor looked with favor on the proposition, believing that Ellworth's absence was preferable to his company, and gave him a chance to emigrate. But Ellworth did not take advantage of His Honor's generosity, and hung about the city. On Saturday he was committed to jail to work out the ninety days.

NOT FREE TO MARRY AGAIN

Sir,—Kindly permit me to draw your attention to a statement made by The Examiner of Saturday, which, if passed over, may produce a very erroneous impression regarding the Catholic doctrine on marriage. You say "Marriage dissolved by the Pope enables either of the persons to marry again." To this I may say: (1) Valid and lawful marriage, consummated, and ratified by the Church, cannot be dissolved even by the Pope. Nor does the Pope or the Church recognize any such dissolution of the marriage bond. (2) There are cases in which, for certain strong reasons, the Church grants permission to either party to live separate from the other, but not in the sense that one is free to marry before the death of the other. (3) Again, there may be cases in which an impediment is discovered to have existed which rendered the marriage null and void from the beginning, and in these cases, if the facts are proven, and if there are reasons demanding a full separation, the Church grants it. Indeed, unless the impediment be removed, she commands the parties to separate. In this case, however, there is no dissolving the marriage, since in reality no marriage bond existed. I am not acquainted with the details of the case you speak of, but I may say that if the marriage in question is as mentioned above in No. 1, then it is possible that the parties have been separated, but they are not free to marry again. Yours respectfully, READER. Feb. 24th, 1896.

TERRIBLE HEAT IN AUSTRALIA.

Late advices from Australia are to the effect that during the first two weeks of January the heat in New South Wales surpassed anything on record. The temperature in Sydney reached 109 degrees in the shade, while in several parts of the colony the mercury reached 122 degrees in the shade. In other colonies the heat was not quite so severe, but throughout Victoria the mercury reached over 100 degrees, and in South Australia in some places marked 117 degrees in the shade. In western New South Wales great mortality has resulted. At Bonville twenty-two deaths from heat occurred in two days. Many of the houses on sheep ranches are made of galvanized iron, and in these the heat is insufferable. Many settlements have been driven from their homes by bush fires, which always occur when the grass is dried up. In other districts water has given out and the stock is dying. In a large vineyard district the young were cooked on the vines. In Sydney it was found necessary to suspend omnibus and carriage traffic and to omit drill in the barracks. In the gold fields in the western part of the colony the horses dropped dead while hauling ore, and birds fell dead out of the trees over and above the fierce heat. To add to this suffering, the high temperature was accompanied by hot winds.

Fortune for the Wetmorens.

WESTFIELD, Mass., Feb. 20.—James E. Wetmore, an organ builder, who has resided in this town for over forty years, has received news from his cousin, Jesse L. Wetmore of Oakland, Cal., that they are heirs to a fortune of $50,000,000, which is now in the Bank of Holland, Amsterdam. Mr. Wetmore's grandfather married Ann Van Scott, whose parents were natives of Amsterdam and left a large sum of money, which has been accumulating for nearly one hundred years. It is said that the Holland courts have sent a commission of four persons to America to look up the heirs and that the commission will soon arrive in Boston. The Wetmore's have engaged a lawyer to meet the commission, and expect to have no difficulty in proving their heirship, as they have the history of the family for two hundred years. LIGNON LICENSE LAW.—According to a late despatch from Halifax some important amendments to the liquor license law were made during the recent session of the Nova Scotia Legislature. The pint limit of the quantity of liquor that may be retailed is abolished, but nothing can be drunk on the premises. Formerly the inspector could not search the person of people found in suspected places for liquor. Now the premises and person can both be searched. Any ratepayer is given authority to copy the names on the license applications. No license taken since 1891 within one hundred yards of a railway can be retained. For every licence which the courts may decide to have been granted illegally in this city, the mayor and inspector are each liable to a fine of one hundred dollars.
