LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Cruelty to Animals.

SIR—Is there a Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in existence in this city? If so, the members thereof are culpably remiss in the fulfillment or rather the non-fulfillment of the important duties attaching to their office. If there is not there ought to be, or at least the more enlightened and humane of our community should take such steps as may by them be deemed necessary to protect the horse and other animals who subservient to our interests to so extensive a degree, from the brutality and fiendish cruelty of those who are their masters, the lords (!) of creation. Life is too great and too precious a thing to be abused or destroyed at the whim or caprice of debased and weakly impetuous men, and is equally the gift of God whether it be enshrined within the breast of a horse or a human being; and who amongst us will go so far as to deny—he possessing sufficient data to enable him so to do—that the birds and the beasts and the fishes which make the earth above and beneath the waters so busy and beautiful a scene may be sharers, to some extent, in the Resurrection, and thereafter live for ever in a sphere specially assigned to them somewhere in the regions of the "New Heaven and the New Earth." Bishop Butler of blessed memory tells us in his famous "Analogy of Natural and Revealed Religion," that there is no presumptuous evidence that the irrational animals are not eternal. I solemnly protest against the shocking and unblushing cruelty to horses which is so marked a feature of our city street life. It should be immediately stopped, and those entirely inhuman persons who are guilty thereof adequately and severely dealt with. Except in the city of Quebec, I have nowhere seen so little sympathy shown with the sorrows and trials of horses' lives as in Charlottetown.
The poor creatures are over-burdened and fiercely driven when evidently willing to do their best; and often when more fit to be resting on a bed of hay, or destroyed and placed beyond the reach of further ill-treatment, they are made to perform such journeys or draw such loads which, if attempted in England, would speedily bring punishment upon the guilty ones. Can we not, Sir, do something to protect the lives of our domestic animals who, like ourselves, are the handiwork of the Great Creator?
If I am not making a too serious demand upon your valuable space, I think the perusal of the following quaint sermon upon the subject under consideration would interest as well as instruct many of your numerous readers
FRED. E. J. LLOYD,

Oatmeal.

(St. John Sun.)
The Charlottetown EXAMINER urges the establishment on the island of oatmeal mills of the most approved kind for the proper preparation of that very excellent food product. The suggestion is worthy of adoption. Where oats are produced in such very large quantities and of good quality there ought to be no difficulty in preparing a superior grade of meal at rates favorable to successful competition in the outside markets. Lack of easy winter communication would, in some degree, retard the development of outside trade, but that is a difficulty likely to be overcome either wholly or in part ere long. The home market is sufficiently ample to warrant the beginning of the enterprise, and there can be no doubt that the future will afford means for its prosperous development.
It will be seen by a paragraph in another part of this paper, that the export of Prince Edward Island oats to the western provinces has been very large this year, and that it is still going on. Meanwhile we are taking our oatmeal from Ontario.
The freight on oats from the farmer's market in Prince Edward Island to the Ontario mill is over nine cents per bushel.
The return freight on the meal would probably be two-thirds as much. We are carrying our oats a thousand miles to mill, paying our toll to the miller, and in addition about forty per cent. of the value of the crop for freight. It goes without saying that the manufacture of oatmeal would pay large dividends in the maritime provinces this year. The situation is, of course, abnormal, and no sane person would go into business unless he could make money under less favorable conditions.
But it is hard to see why it would not pay the people of these provinces to make their own oatmeal under ordinary circumstances.

A Mistaken Idea of Exercise.

Women seem to think that house-work, the daily toil that reaches from sun to sun, is sufficient; whereas it is as apart from exercise as labor is from rest. Yet to be at its best, our exercise must be so regular and systematic as to seem almost like toil.
For a general rule, there is no form that does women so much good as walking.
The best period is in the forenoon, when natural forces are mounting up and carrying weakness upon their ride. After the morning bath and toilette, and time will permit the arrangement, an early breakfast of milk and a biscuit should be taken and a start made.—Dr. Wm. F. Hutchinson, in The American Magazine for June.
The Turnip crop of the Island is a very important one. Turnips require good soil and careful cultivation. Never sow poor seed because it is cheap. We recommend our readers to buy their Turnip Seed from George Carter & Co. Try their Turnip Fertilizer too; it is highly recommended. See advt.
