Attention Driving Students

There has been a problem lately with students parking in reserved parking spots in Parking Lot A near the library. These parking spots are reserved for University staff. Those that have been parking there have been receiving warnings, but they will be towed away at the owners expense if they continue to disregard the warnings.

UPEI Basketball

disappointing loss as the next day they played Saint Mary's. Paula Edwards was the big gun for the Lady Panthers as she led them in scoring and rebounding in both the game against Dalhousie and the SMU game. For her tremendous efforts she was named AUAA Female athlete of the week. The lady Panthers defeated Saint Mary's.

The next opponent for the lady Panthers was the Saint Francis Xavier X-ettes. there was also some added significance to this game. This game would be the last AUAA Women's Basketball game in Alumni Gym.

The Lady Panthers came out on fire. Kathy Quin scored 12 of the teams first 16 points and helped the team out to a lead that the X-ettes could never overcome. They were up 14-0 before St. F.X. could score. Not only did Quin score 16 points, she had a game and season high in the first half she also had numerous steals and helped set up baskets for team mates by threading the needle with some great passes.

From there the Lady Panthers continued to open up the lead until it reached upwards of 20 points. They led by 21 points at halftime and as Dave MacNeill rested its starters for much of the second half the bench came in and gave the team some valuable minutes. In their last game at Alumni Gym the Lady Panthers won easily as they coasted to a 16 point victory.

Their next game would be a big one as the Lady Panthers would travel to UNB and take on the Red Bloomers. A team that had defeated the Lady Panthers last year to end their undefeated string. The lady Panthers played UNB close for the whole game but just fell short losing 69-64. UNB was hot for the whole game shooting a blistering 61% from the field. The Lady Panthers were not to bad themselves shooting a nice 51%. Lori Knickle was one of the Lady Panthers big scores with 18. Paula Edwards was the other with 12.

The scenario for the Lady Panthers is relatively clear although not easy. If they win all of their 7 remaining games they will finish in first place and host the AUAA playoffs for a fifth consecutive year.

Another Contest

We have two albums to give away here at the Gem. One will be given to the first and second place winner of our news story contest. To enter, simply submit your story to the Gem for publication, and in the last issue in March, we will announce the winners. Stories must be about something happening on campus, something important to UPEI students, students in general, or to education in general. The same person can submit more than one story. The length of the story is not important, quality is what were after. Submissions for the contest must contain the submitter's name and phone number. It must also state that it is for the "news story contest" and must follow regular deadline rules as stated in the Gem.

Anyone requiring photographs to accompany their story must contact the photographer on the Friday prior to publication. A message stating what you would like the photograph to be of (What, Where, and Who) can be written on a piece of paper, and put into our mail slot if our photographer cannot be reached.

By participating in this contest, you will be informing UPEI students of what is happening, you will be improving the overall content of the Gem, and you may even win yourself a real bitchen album!

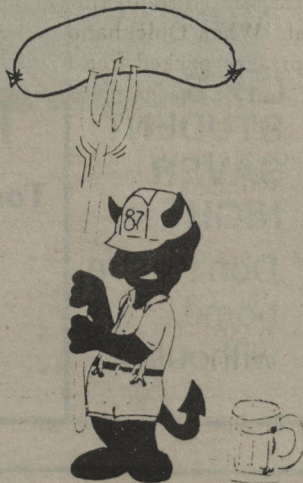

The Case of The Cat-Killing Prof

(CPS/CUP) — A U.S. university professor pleaded guilty Feb. 3 to two charges of cruelty to animals, and agreed to pay a fine to settle accusations that he lured stray cats to their death.

Police say California University of Pennsylvania professor John Folmer drew the cats to his garage by leaving out tuna fish containing antifreeze.

Neighbours testified 14 cats died after eating the contaminated fish.
