New Look For Traffic Tickets In Summerside

The Summerside Police Department has been issued with new tickets which will be served on motorists who violate traffic regulations in the town of Summerside.

The tickets, blue in color, are in booklet form, making it more convenient for the officers to carry and easier on which to write. The tickets are numbered, with the traffic offender receiving a detachable portion informing him of the particular violation committed and instructing him to present the ticket to the police office with 48 hours or a summons will be issued.

Police say that while the issuing of summons has in the past not been strictly enforced in regard to those who have ignored tickets which were placed on cars, those, who in future do not respect the ticket instructions to report to the police station will be issued with court summons.

The tickets list seven violations with space provided for other offences not listed. The offences include: parking on cross walks, parking near hydrant, parking in restricted area, parking over lines, improper parking, not paying meter, proceeding against traffic on a one-way street.

The ticket issued to motorists will also contain the car license number the ticket number and a police officer's name. The section retaining by the police officer provides space for the car number, make and model, owners name, address, violation number, date and officers name.

The date set for his trial. The case necessarily was adjourned until October 25th. The case of three Alberton youths facing a mischief charge was further adjourned until October 25th as one of the three is presently on the mainland. A warrant for his arrest was issued two weeks ago.

A man from St. Roch was fined $300 and costs under the Excise Act for possession of a large quantity of wash, suitable for distillation purposes. The charge was originally laid over a year ago, but at that time the party fled to the mainland and was not apprehended until he returned voluntarily last May. He since has returned to the mainland and "ex parte" proceedings were followed in dealing with the case.

A party from Roseville charged under the Excise Act with possession of a quantity of illicit spirits, namely one gallon, pleaded guilty after the charge had been re-read and was fined $100 and costs. He had pleaded "not guilty" when he first appeared in magistrate's court last week.—S.

P.E.I. Presentation

ly in case it becomes necessary to defend the country in time of war.

The interest on that part of the public debt attributable to the construction of permanent highways has had to be borne by the provinces and this charge contributed toward the creation of fiscal need.

We feel that this Conference should take this matter under consideration as an item under the field of public investment.

In concluding the remarks on Public Investment and Natural Resources Development the Government of Prince Edward Island, after having submitted their views on this matter, feels that the Government of Canada should now make known what type of programme or projects, and on what basis, the federal government is willing to enter into agreements to provide assistance to the provinces which are prepared to negotiate on these matters, at the same time cognizant of the fact that any proposal would have to be considered in the light of the problems and fiscal position of the provinces and their municipalities.

The provision of equal educational opportunities for all Canadians is now regarded as a matter of national importance. It is realized that a more highly educated community means more jobs of both a professional and industrial nature.

The Royal Commission on Dominion-Provincial Relations recognized these facts. One of its fundamental recommendations was that each province should be enabled to bring its educational and other welfare standards up to the Canadian average.

Research organizations such as the School Finance Research Committee of the Canadian Teachers' Association, and the Royal Commissions on School Finance, both in the Maritimes, have demonstrated with facts and figures that the provinces vary widely in their capacity to support education. They place Prince Edward Island at the bottom of the list in this respect. Not only is its taxable capacity a great deal lower than the average but its educational costs are much higher because of its predominantly rural and scattered population.

If the young Canadians now growing up in Prince Edward Island are to make contribution to the productive capacity of Canada, they must have a proper start in life. This will be possible only if the federal government recognizes its responsibility to equalize educational opportunities across the country.

Requirements for adequate educational services have expanded tremendously since the British North America Act was enacted. At that time only elementary schools were under consideration. Compulsory school attendance was not general and in no case did it go beyond the elementary course. Self-supporting fees were charged for the secondary and higher institutions that were in
