MacKinnon were Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Handrahan, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Eldershaw, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Perry and Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. MacInnis. Mr. MacKinnon is a native Tignish boy, but for the past few years has resided in Alberton. He served with the Canadian Air Force during World War II and after his return to civilian life, he secured a position with the Fisheries Department of P.E. Island, and recently resigned from this position and has again joined the Canadian Air Force. Ronnie goes to Central Canada the last week of June and his Tignish friends wish him well. Mrs. MacKinnon and children will reside in Alberton for the present.

—Mrs. Joseph A. Macdonald was remembered by her sister members of the Tignish Catholic Women's League and the Tignish Ladies Aid with a surprise farewell party recently at her home in Tignish. An appropriate address was read by Mrs. J. T. Gallant, president of the Ladies Aid and the President of the Catholic Women's League. Mrs. Foster J. Skerry presented her with a beautiful crucifix on behalf of the members of both organizations. Mrs. Macdonald thanked the ladies for their thoughtfulness in giving her this party and gifts before. She leaves Tignish to go to Morel to reside. Mrs. Macdonald also thanked the ladies for their kindness to her during the past four years while she, her husband and family made their home in Tignish. Refreshments were then served and a pleasant evening of music and singing was enjoyed.

IN MEMORIAM

BESSIE B. ELLIS

There passed away at the Prince Edward Island Hospital, after a long and trying illness, Miss Bessie B. Ellis of Tyne Valley, where she had spent the last five years with her brother, Ernest G. and Mrs. Ellis, and where her many friends and old acquaintances deeply regret her passing, for she was a favorite with old and young, as her cheerful greetings and ready smiles and witty conversations won her friends wherever she went.

More than a year ago she moved to Charlottetown to the home of her niece, Mrs. H. Gordon Williams, to be within easy reach of medical care when she needed it, and in November she was obliged to enter the hospital, where she remained till the end came.

Miss Ellis was born at Bideford seventy-nine years ago, a daughter of the late William D. and Angelina Glover Ellis, and one of a large family, only two of whom are still living, Gertrude, Mrs. Burton Ellis of Everett, Mass. and Ernest G. of Tyne Valley. In January of the year 1881 the family moved to Tyne Valley and there, Miss Ellis' early life was spent, until after the death of her parents when she took up residence in Massachusetts and later moved to San Francisco and spent several years there. Travelling periodically over many parts of California and adjoining territories, she absorbed a fund of knowledge and was a most entertaining conversationalist.

Her funeral was held from the Presbyterian Church at Tyne Valley, with the Rev. Mr. Baxter in charge, assisted by the Rev. Delmont Yeo, when a most impressive service was held.

The pall-bearers were: Edwin Hansen, Alden Yeo, Wilfred MacDougall, A. W. Mulligan, Edison Williams, and Edward MacArthur.

The floral tributes were many and beautiful, testifying to the esteem and love for the departed. Her remains were interred in the family plot beside those of her parents and other loved ones who had gone before.

EASY DOES IT

OTTAWA—(CP)—A landlord, taking a driving lesson from his tenant, drove the tenant's car out of his driveway at high speed, crashed off a parked car and glanced into the house across the street, cracking the wall. The parked automobile belonged to another tenant. Both cars were badly damaged but no one was hurt.

Very pleased is Florine Bourque of St. Francis, N. B., as she is crowned queen of the 1951 Lobster Festival, held at the colorful seaport town of Shediac, in New Brunswick. Maurice (The Rocket) Richard, Montreal Canadiens' hockey star, officiated at the coronation and was a special guest at the festival ceremonies.

“ALL ABOUT EVE” HAILED AS ENCHANTING ENTERTAINMENT! The lights of Broadway have never burned more powerfully than they do in Darryl F. Zanuck's "All About Eve", the entertainment of sheer enchantment which begins its local engagement at the Capitol Theatre today. When you see and experience this magnificent Twentieth Century-Fox creation you fully understand the wisdom inherent in exhibiting the film only to those who can see it without interruption straight through from beginning to end. When you see it, too, you will know that rarely has a motion picture held an audience so completely absorbed from inception to conclusion. In every respect "All About Eve" is what theatregoers clamor for, the different picture, and it is as impressive a sample of movie magic as you are likely to see in years of filmgoing. "All About Eve" begins as it ends, with the seasonal theatre banquet honoring Anne Baxter as best actress of the year. Between the presentation by Walter Hampden as the dean of actors and Miss Baxter's gracious thank-you speech is unfolded an incisive behind-the-scenes story that calls into play all those instrumental in Miss Baxter's success. Among them are Bette Davis as the reigning Broadway star who first takes the fledgling actress under wing; George Sanders, drama critic and career manipulator; Celeste Holm, the fashionable and schooled wife of noted playwright Hugh Marlowe; Gary Merrill, a celebrated director; and Gregory Ratoff, veteran producer. Their stories taken together tell us "All About Eve" and are the ingredients of a sharp, fascinating screenplay, crowded with a final irony which is simply spellbinding.
