Youth Training Camp

HOLLAND COVE—Good morning world! Here I am at a lovely Holland Cove YMCA Camp to get a inside look at the 1964 edition of the Prince Edward Island Dept. of Education Youth Leadership Training Camp.

And here comes Dave Boswell, director of the provincial branch of physical education; one of the persons largely responsible for the founding of the three-year-old camp.

"Dave, do you have a minute to chat with me this morning?"

"Sure, Sure Nick. Anything for the press?"

"Tell me, has this year's camp been as successful as the two that were conducted in other years?"

"Yes, I wouldn't hesitate for a moment to say that this year, both the girls camp and boys camp have been the most successful we have ever conducted. We had 43 island girls at the camp for the first week, and camp program director Charlie Ballam and I agree that they showed exceptional interest."

"There are a lot of things about this camp that are important to us. We have girls and boys from all areas of the province come here, and the following year you can go to any of the schools and find that the leaders in sports and youth work have usually been at our camp."

Ballam Enters the Scene

"OH, HERE COMES Charlie. He can tell you how he feels about the camp we've had this year."

"Hi Dave, Nick says you're at this camp we're having here this year. I've never had a bunch of boys so interested in the school as the instructors. There are 34 here and the camp instructors and myself are having a hard time to keep up with them. We've been here since Sunday and they head for home this Saturday."

"We try to emphasize track and field at both the girls and boys training camp. If you get the province's most interested and best young athletes together for a week, you can teach them a lot of things about track and field; and it gives them a shot in the arm too. The activities we have involve the basic sports—And track and field is the basic sport."

"Our girls camp 90 of the 43 we had here hadn't participated in an active program before. By the time the week has passed they were very enthusiastic. They'll be the leaders in their schools and some of them will be physical education teachers."

"We try to run our camp so the individual boy can get whatever he is looking for if they're here for some concentrated physical training, we can give it to them. And if they're here to learn the basics of all track and field, we can give them as much as they're capable of learning. Very important to us also is the fact that they learn WHY they should do it, proper means. And of course, why should I stay healthy and clean?"

"There's a lot of things our camp can do for island youngsters."

It's Worth The Cost

"AND IT sounds like a lot of fun, besides Dave. I understand this camp costs in the vicinity of $2,000 a year," I said.

"That's right Nick; and it's the most wisely spent $2,000 in the division of physical education, as far as I'm concerned. Charlie figured that last year it cost $21.30 for each student to spend a week at the camp. The year before the cost was $30.25 per person. And 60 per cent of the money comes from the federal government and the other 40 per cent from the P.E.I. government. The results have shown it's money well spent."

"And we're looking for bigger and better things for some years to come. Facilities at Holland Cove are great for something like a YMCA camp, but it's a little harder for a camp based on physical fitness because there is no track and even level ground is limited. What we would like to do another year is improve facilities here by adding a small track and leveling a field, or possibly build a camp of our own in another location. A decision might be made on this before next spring."

"We now have volleyball, basketball, swimming and softball—You might say casual recreation. But what we really want are top notch track and field facilities. Oh, yes, and this is our first year for field hockey and the girls loved it."

A Good Experience

WELL AFTER talking with Dave and Charlie I spent the remainder of the day at the camp; taking part in the activities and lecture with young boys from all areas of the province.

Ballam led the boys in a five-mile run through the woods and then staff members Jim Griffith and Bob Miller paced the boys through a rugged warm-up session. In the afternoon a well lectured, Bob Simmons, gave a talk on the levels, diets and what put in. In the evening it was a swim, horseshoes and softball.

All groom was on hand and is expected back today for a lecture period in his specialty, the pole vault. Lecturers include Boswell, Ballam, John Kane, Don McLair, Simmons, Miller, Groom and Harry Hodge.

The girls camp, which was run by Ballam, Pat Beckford, Summerdale, Joan Stearns, Charlottetown, Counselors were Betty MacWilliams, Summerdale, Janet MacFarlane, Summerdale; Betty MacLellan, Fredericton, N.B.; and Louise Powell, Moncton. Counselors for the boys camp were Miller, Griffith, Loyal Higgins, Charlottetown; and Bob Hickey, Summerdale.

The meals at the camp are greater than great. The cook remains anonymous.

For any young islander interested in physical education as a career, or wanting better himself for life, a week couldn't be better spent than at the government's Youth Leadership Training Camp. It's a good experience.

TRACK CLINIC UNDERWAY

The Prince Edward Island Youth Leadership Training Camp is in session this week at Holland Cove with more than 40 of the province's top track and field enthusiasts receiving instruction from island

Instructors. Following the regular lecture period Bob Simmons, led, Charlottetown, 1963 Canadian discus champion, gave George Cheverie, Tisbury, special training in the javelin. Cheverie is one of the province's leading javelin men. He won the event at the Antigonish Highland Games and placed fifth in the Eastern Canadian Age Class championships.

Duch, Bill Gallant requests that all players attend this practice session.

Ken Venturi's Favorite To Capture Pile of Gold

By WILL GRIMMELY
BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (AP)—Temporary slumps by Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus make a virtual free-for-all of the $200,000 world championship golf tournament, starting Thursday over the Oakland Hills course.

"I think I have found my chinking price," commented Bruce Crampton of Australia, scanning the impressive prize list. $35,000 for the winner, $17,000 for the runner-up, and $1,000 and over to the top 36 finishers.

There has never been a richer golf tournament. Players have stocked up on tranquillizer pills for the next four days.

Crampton is one of 46 players from 12 countries who will battle 107 leading U.S. contestants for the pile of gold.

The favorite because he is brimming with confidence and at the peak of his game, is Ken Venturi, the U.S. Open champion and comebacker of the year. He won the American golf classic last weekend and has been the hottest player in pre-tournament practice rounds over this $307,000, par-70 layout on the outskirts of Detroit.

SURE ON HIS OWN

"Ken is really pouring those shots in there," said Palmer, the Masters titleholder. "He is so sure of himself now he doesn't think he can miss a shot."

Both Palmer and Nicklaus have pulled up short in the mid-summer hot weather tournaments, finishing high but failing to dominate the tour as they did last year.

They still lead the scoring averages—regarded as the true test of golf—with marks just under 70, but they have been unable to shake their new "bridesmaid" images.

Venturi, hitting his approach shot to the flag, has covered this rugged, rain-soaked course in practice.

Sharing the favorite's role with Venturi are three new stars—Tony Lama, the British; Open champion, Bobby Nichols, winner of the PGA and Puerto Rico's playful Chi Chi Rodriguez, liked because of his tremendous driving length in spite of his 120-pound frame.

HAVE TO BE LONG

"You have to be long to win here, and I'm not long enough," said Ben Hogan, who captured the title of his four U.S. Opens over a tougher Oakland Hills course in 1951.

"It's a much too big for me," acknowledged Koichi Ono of Japan.

"Length will eliminate most of the foreigners," agreed Bob Charles of New Zealand. "This course, with its fair-

Softball Tilt Is Postponed

The Charlottetown city league playoff game scheduled to be played last night between the Main Brace Mariners and the National Park All-Stars was postponed due to rain.

The Mariners are leading the best of five series two games to one. The Park squad led the league in the regular schedule, but the best flying Mariners crew by two games up in the Park series in the final. The All-Stars have their back to the wall and will be going all out for a victory in this third game.

The tilt is scheduled to get underway at 8:15 tonight at the new softball diamond.

Island Open Set For Wed.

The Prince Edward Island open tennis tournament will get underway at the Charlottetown tennis courts at Victoria Park next Wednesday. The women's singles competition will be a six-stages competition only in the tourney.

"Those wishing to take part in the action are to submit their names to Gordon Willcock at the local tennis court this afternoon or Saturday morning. Entries will not be accepted after Saturday morning."

SOURIS—The top-of-war high-lighting sporting activities on Red Point Women's Institute day yesterday saw three series being contested. Jockey for the twenty competition was Daniel J. MacDonald, MJA, of Boswell.

In the first series Red Point won by a margin of two straight pulls. Then St. Peter's grabbed a slight advantage over Bridgetown in the second series to defeat them 2-1. Heat-treated proved too much competition for Souris Lisa Road and bowled the fliers over in two straight.

Practice Called

A practice has been called this evening for Johnny's Flying Hawks. The workout is scheduled to get underway at 6:15.

Duch, Bill Gallant requests that all players attend this practice session.

Legion Tilt Is Cancelled

The baseball game scheduled to be played at Memorial Field last night between the Legion Juniors and the King's county All-Stars was cancelled due to rain.

The Charlottetown Intermediate B's will take to the field against a team from Summerside tonight.

League Leading Phillies Defeat Milwaukee Braves

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
The National League-leading Philadelphia Phillies backed up Charlie Soto's tight shutout with a barrage of four home runs Wednesday and salvaged the finale of three games national League series with the Milwaukee Braves, 6-0.

Gus Triandos hit two homers and Ruben Amaro and Tony Gonzalez one each as Short registered his 14th victory.

The Braves had piled up 19 runs in the first two games of the series and saddling the Phillies with their first two game-losing streak since July 26.

Denny Lemaster, also seeking his 14th triumph, lasted only 3 2/3 innings as Short's pitching opponent. He served up Triandos' first home run in the second inning and Amaro's home run in the third. Amaro's third run on Alex Johnson's double, an infield out and a wild pitch.

In the American League, Lester Bester, Narum, with only one victory to his credit in more than two months, chilled the New York Mets Wednesday with a stunning five-hitter for a 2-0 Washington triumph that short-circuited the Yankees' drive to overtake the American League-leading Baltimore Orioles.

Right-hander Mel Stottlemyre, previously unbeaten as a rookie sensation, permitted only four Senator hits himself but had the misfortune of allowing half of the total in the fifth inning.

Those pairs of hits, a double by Mike Brumley and a single by Don Zimmerman together with a rare popup by catcher Elio Sosa, paved the way for both Washington runs. They led to Narum's ninth victory against 19 strikes, and only his second triumph since June 21.

The loss was the first in the majors for the 23-year-old right-hander, who had beaten Chicago, Baltimore and Boston in two previous starts since his promotion from Richmond two weeks ago. The 23-year-old Narum, scouted by the Senators from the Orioles last spring, walked two and struck out four. He allowed only one runner to reach third but had to weather threats in the seventh and ninth innings to record his second big league shutout.

losing pitcher Maynard Paquet also went the distance, and his mound-minding was individually nearly as good as his opponent's. Centennials took seven hits away from him, but he allowed only two walks and came out with 10 strikeouts. He also got his team's lone hit.

Bill Condon went all the way for the winners pitching creditable one-hit ball. He gave up two walks but also struck out 14 opposing batters in one of the finest performances this year.

Walter Brantley and Jim Gatre led the winning batters, with separate two for four sprees. Second game in the series is scheduled for Saturday afternoon in Souris at 1:30.

Yankees Straw Boss Trying New Strategy

By JOE REICHLER
New York (AP)—Yogi Berra will never admit it, but he appears to have lost faith in the beleaguered Yankee lineup.

Barring a change of mind, the New York Yankee manager plans from now to have his starters double in relief as the Yanks go all out to overtake the first-place Baltimore Orioles of their fifth successive American League pennant.

Although Berra had all his relievers tested and ready, he chose to bring in starter Al Downing in the ninth inning Tuesday night in the Yankees' triumph over Washington. The young left-hander responded by striking out three men, preserving Whitey Ford's 13th victory and his first since July 15.

"Downing needed the work," said Berra, careful not to make it appear he was critical of his relief corps. "He hadn't pitched since Saturday and he is not due to start again until Friday."

He did not, didn't he? And Jim Bouton tomorrow. And Ford on Saturday. Will have them in the bullpen.

GAVE THE WORD

"Way not? They go down there to throw some away. I told Downing not to start tonight until I gave the word to save it to him in the eighth inning. All I want from those guys is an inning, or even to pitch to one batter, if the game is close."

"If I figure instead of throwing for exercise, they can help us tonight."

Easily the most gratifying thing to Berra about Tuesday night's victory was Ford's ability to pitch strongly for eight innings. The star lefty, who said he felt no pain and apparently has fully recovered from a strains pull, retired the last 10 batters he faced.

Down through the years, Ford has had a number of outstanding relief pitchers, such as Johnny Sain, Rye Duran, Luis Arroyo and Charles Bridges, come to his rescue in late innings.

"I asked how he liked his latest rescuer Downing. Ford beamed.

Montreal Meets New York Team

An innovation will bring the Chicago Black Hawks, Detroit Red Wings and New York Rangers to Montreal for six Wednesday night games.

Canadians wind up their home schedule against Boston on Saturday, March 7.
