

THE DAILY EXAMINER

FEBRUARY 15, 1895.

THE TUNNEL QUESTION.

With mails a fortnight overdue, it is, we think, high time that the election of Prince Edward Island ceased to disagree upon the question of a tunnel. Some persons sneer at the tunnel as always "bobbing up" before an election. That is precisely the time that it ought to bob up. The people of this Province should at such a time unite as one man in the election of representatives who will advocate the construction of a tunnel and demonstrate to the representatives of the other Provinces how greatly it is needed and how it is our due according to the terms of Confederation. A capital mistake was made at the last election in the rejection of Hon. Mr. Howland, Hon. Mr. Ferguson, Mr. Blake and Mr. Hunt, who would have united with Messrs. McDonald and McLean in forcing the tunnel question upon the attention of Parliament. Let not such a mistake be made again upon any consideration.

DEFEATED CANDIDATES.

It is amusing to read, now and again, in the columns of the Patriot, a reference to "tory defeated candidates." If a person who happens to be a defeated candidate by reason thereof occupies a degraded position, what must the members of the grit party feel every time they read the insulting epithet in their party organ? Let us see how they stand. To begin in the order of precedence, we first have the Hon. David Laird, P. C., who enjoys the distinction of being a "successful Islander" in this respect, both at home and abroad. The New London district, if we mistake not, first had the honor of "qualifying" Mr. Laird for "future favors from his party," while the wilds of the Northwest wound up his career, and sent him home with another qualifying examination. We next have a man high up in the party councils—no less a personage than Mr. Louis H. Davies himself, who through the ballot, was relegated by the intelligent electors of Charlottetown from public to private life. As yet he has but one to his credit, but he "hides a wee" he will have more. The local leader, Mr. Fred Peters, has a couple of defeats to his credit, given him by the electors of his native city, where he was well known. It is true he has been accepted on two occasions by the third district of Queen's, the electors of which are, however, now fast finding him out, and are but waiting an opportunity to give him another and final setback to a level with Mr. Laird. The Provincial Secretary and Treasurer and Commissioner of Public Lands has a large number of defeats on record, but whether he can beat his clerk, Mr. Richard Smith, it is impossible to say. The energetic secretary of our grit organ, Mr. Warburton, was also a defeated candidate before he succeeded Mr. Sutherland as a representative of the first district. How many defeats in the Hon. James R. McLean, C. P. W., can boast of no man outside of himself can tell without carefully examining the election returns for the last twenty years. The Speaker himself, our own Mr. Cunniff, also enjoys a notable record and will be able to compare favorably with many others of his party. We were almost forgetting our genial friends, Hector C. McDonald and Joseph Wise, both of whom have been returned—one to his many admirers, and the other to his family. Our jovial friend Captain Welsh, how does he compare with the rest of his party? Can he knock them out? Oh, no, he is just neck for neck with the Hon. David Laird, so far as endeavoring to get into the House of Commons is concerned. "Forty-nine," where he was bred and born, and where he wishes to die and be buried, rejected the Captain on two occasions, and when the time comes will doubtless do so again—and he will then lead Mr. Laird by one lap. Then, where is Perry the noble? He is now away up in West Prince trying to arrange to have defeated Speaker McLellan appointed Clerk of the Legislative Assembly, for the purpose of improving his slim chances of being elected for West Prince and saving himself from being the banner man. We have confined our present inquiry to the men who are now actually in public life. We have not gone into the ranks of those Grits who sought legislative honors and were sent back to private life for good. Looking to the record we admit frankly and fairly that the Grit Party can boast the Conservatives all hollow for its number of defeats and defeated candidates.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

A WRITER for The Week refers to the "discomfort and inconvenience which would result to some from disturbing the tariff as it happens to be now fixed," and not unreasonably remarks:

"All intelligent citizens know that radical changes in matters of policy, especially of trade policy, are in themselves, for the time being, disquieting and injurious to business. The capital invested in any industry affected by the tariff becomes timid and distrustful when changes are proposed, and a temporary dullness is likely to result. The only justification of the advocacy of any such change is the prospect of a greater good, which will more than counterbalance any immediate evil."

The question, then, is: what prospect is there of a "greater good" that will justify the adoption of the Opposition policy? We have repeatedly put this question to the morning and evening organs of the Opposition. It is a question which must be satisfactorily answered before an intelligent electorate will vote for the change which the Opposition desire. What is the reasonable inference to be drawn from the organs' failure to answer it? Is it not that the "greater good" "which will more than counterbalance any immediate evil" cannot be indicated? The immediate evil of high duties on cuts and collars, kerosene oil, pots and pans, etc.—we know what it amounts to. But what if these duties be taken off? What about the credit of the country, now at its height? What about the direct taxation which must result? What about the needed improvements required throughout Canada, and most of all by Prince Edward Island? The Opposition organs, representing the views of a party which desire the people to put them into office in order that they may lower the tariff to a Free Trade basis, ought to answer and discuss these questions. But these questions are shirked. There has admittedly been a great expansion of trade under the N. P.; is it likely that there will be a still greater expansion of trade if the grits get in? Looking back to the 1874-78 period, there seems to be no ground for such a hope in the past. Looking to the fact that we now have free trade with Great Britain and that every other nation upon earth protects its markets by means of high tariffs, there seems to be no ground for such hope under present conditions. Looking to the future, what hope is there for such a change of national and commercial conditions as will justify the people of Canada in anticipating a "greater good" as a result of the change proposed by the Opposition?

Of the immediate "discomfort and inconvenience" incident to such a change, the "commercial disturbance" and "national loss" we have lately seen an illustration in the United States where thousands upon thousands of thriving men and women have been utterly ruined. Certainly the people of Canada have cause to beware of tariff tinkering and good reason to require of those who desire a change of tariff, the fullest and most highly satisfactory answer to every question pertinent to the great issue before the people.

County Lodge, L. O. A. B. A., held its annual meeting in Prince Arthur Lodge Room, Craupod, on Wednesday, the 14th inst. In the absence of the County Master, Deputy Master A. D. McKernan took the chair, J. J. McLeod, acting as Deputy Master, and R. K. Bruce, Secretary. About fifty delegates were present from all parts of the county, and they were hospitably entertained by the brethren of Prince Arthur Lodge. The following officers were appointed for the ensuing year:— County Master—Murdock McLeod. Deputy Master—Crisp Moore. Chaplain—Hugh McClure. Recording Secretary—O. B. Wadman. Treasurer—Neil Shaw. Financial Secretary—William Henderson. Director of Ceremonies—William Collett. Lecturer—James Waddell. (Guardian and Patriot please copy).

PERSONAL.

Hon. J. W. Richards, Bileford, is in the city. He is registered at the Hotel Davy. Hon. Peter Sinclair, Summerfield, and Hon. Alex. Laird, North Bedouque, registered at the Queen this forenoon. James Ross, Mount Stewart, is in the city. The Misses Grainger, who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Robillard, Concession Street, leave tomorrow for Charlottetown, P. E. I.—Ottawa Free Press. It is announced that John Gaffney, Esq., of Summerside, is to deliver the oration at the Benevolent Irish Society's concert at Emerald on St. Patrick's night. The name of Miss L. Halloran was in an advertent omission when mentioning those who took part at the League of the Cross concert. She played the accompaniments for the Choral Society.

This is Concentration.

One pill a dose, one box 25 cents. One pill relieves constipation. One box cures an ordinary case. One pill taken weekly neutralizes formation of uric acid in the blood and prevents Bright's Kidney disease and Diabetes. True only of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Waterproofed goods usually have a seedy dusty look which repels all people of taste. They are either rubber, and then you are suffocated with your own vapors, or the chemical process used stamps them as waterproofs in appearance. Priestley's Cravenette waterproof dress goods are absolutely indistinguishable from the non-waterproof goods of a peculiar and important merit which no other waterproofed goods possess. They may be had in the newest fabrics, and though they are perfectly rainproof, there is nothing whatever to indicate. Perfectly porous and non-odoriferous Cravenette, exactly meets the need for rainproof garments which can equal in beauty the finest materials. See that "The Varinised Brand," Priestley's trade mark, is in each piece. The genuine Tyke serges seems to be stamped just now for gentlemen's suits. Stage Tyke on every 2 1/2 yards. DESTITUTION IN NEWFOUNDLAND.

As an appeal to Christian Charity from the Clergy.

It is with mingled feelings of the deepest distress and regret that we have to appeal to the benevolent for support in our great emergency. We remember your humane sympathy and practical charity at a time when our devastated city and rendered thousands homeless and destitute. That calamity, however, was slight, compared to the present one. St. John's alone suffered then, but nearly every home in the land is affected to its serious detriment by this financial collapse on the part of our monetary institutions. The results indeed are already appalling. The difficulty and need are daily increasing. It is calculated that at the present moment 1000 families in St. John's alone are seeking relief—a number daily increasing—but the greatest fear and apprehension exist that these numbers will be magnified by an influx from the neighboring outports and intensified by the already growing cry of want in the more distant settlements.

Usually the Government, under circumstances of public distress, provides works of relief, but the same cannot operate upon them, and they are unable to adopt any adequate remedial measures. The local charities are doing, and have done much, but their resources are limited. Our leading citizens and the general public, ever ready to respond to such personal sacrifice, are themselves overborne with surpassing difficulties. Labor has been largely curtailed, and a long and arduous winter is before us. The savings of the thrifty and industrious are either completely lost, or so depreciated in value that many who never knew want will need assistance.

It is with such circumstances as these we are called upon to deal. Indeed there lie before us all the conditions of distress that touch the quick, human hearts. And, therefore, we appeal to those "who love their fellow-men" to give us their aid liberally. They may to our call in this our hour of great and trying need. All contributions, in money or kind should be addressed to the care of the Secretary, Clerical Committee for Relief of St. John's, Newfoundland. Money may be remitted direct through the Bank of Montreal.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

THE SCHOOLMASTER ABROAD.

Sir,—Not long since, as is the usual custom in the country districts, a number of the boys and girls in a settlement not far from the city, met at a social gathering. Among other matters, the relative merits of the city newspapers were discussed. The district schoolteacher being present was appealed to for his opinion on the question. Teachers are generally looked up to on such occasions, as their utterances are expected to be free from party bias. The schoolmaster spoke. All present listened with profane silence to the oration of the speaker of which the following is a short extract. "With regard to the genius who occupies the editorial chair of the Guardian, I have only to say that I consider his politics an extremely muddled affair in short, a mixture and heterogeneous conglomeration of tremendous absurdities, calculated to be productive of nothing but hallucinations, emanating from contaminating influences such as are highly prejudicial in their baneful effects on body politics." Comment is unnecessary.

LAW AND ORDER IN THE MARKET.

Sir,—Law and order is needed in the Market House all through. Boys, dogs and sleighs, ought to be removed and not allowed to follow the police on Market Street from store to store. The Market Clerk's duties should not be interfered with by outsiders. It would add to the comfort and appearance of the Market House to have the coal kept in a more convenient place, and the vacant stalls kept in order. These boys and loafers that infest the upstony market and ladies' dressing-rooms, should be sent down with Harvie and McNeill for thirty days and seditious posted to that effect in the Market House upstairs and down, and carried into effect. We have as nice a market and Market House as there is in any country. It is possible that it cannot be protected? I don't see the pest in either end of the market. I don't see the pest in any place of business that I go in to, or it cannot even be found in a ram shop. Is our Market House to become the worst of all places of business? OSLOKKE.

INSULTING COUNTRYMEN.

Sir,—An old man, a farmer came from Belfast last Wednesday, wearing a beaver hat. In every other way the old gentleman was becomingly and suitably attired. While the wearing of a beaver hat may have been a little out of the mode on Saturday, there was no occasion for the Patriot to publish an insulting reference to the Belfast. Mr. Laird should remember that he himself was born in the country and to denigrate his own is his present position, as Charlottetown always voted strongly against him while Belfast stuck to him. Probably the very man whom he in his paper made fun of, cast the ballot for him. If he now has his reward. SCOTCHMAN.

WRITING MAGISTRATES.

Sir,—This morning's Guardian publishes some correspondence with the Stipendiary Magistrate for King's County. The parties who have been writing Mr. Blanchard should surely know how indecorous and indecent it is to write to a magistrate for advice and information regarding cases which are to come before him. Mr. Blanchard would have been justified in declining to answer these letters, and strictly speaking should have done so. JUSTICE.

LIBERAL-CONSERVATIVE CONVENTION IN KING'S.

Hon. W. Pugsley Takes the Field

HAMPTON, N. B., Feb. 15. The Liberal-Conservative convention yesterday was an immense gathering. Hon. Mr. Foster was first unanimously nominated. Hon. Mr. Foster explained that some one with greater physical strength would have to be found to carry on the campaign this year, as his doctor had forbidden him to undertake unnecessary labor and exposure. He very much regretted that he could not get through another fight with his friends in King's, but begged them to allow him to retire. He addressed the meeting at some length on the political issues of the day. Hon. William Pugsley was then nominated. The Prohibition Convention nominated Rev. Dr. McLeod.

The Elections and the Stanley.

HALIFAX, Feb. 15. The conclusion reached by the Halifax Herald's Ottawa correspondent is that the elections will not be held earlier than the first week in May.
