

Bishop Davis To Start Annual Spring Visit To P.E.I. Sunday

SUMMERSIDE — The Rt. Rev. W.W. Davis, Bishop Co-adjutor of the Anglican Diocese of Nova Scotia will make his spring episcopal visit to the Diocese of P.E.I. from April 12th to 18th.

On Sunday morning Bishop Davis will be in the parishes of St. Eleanor and Summerside. He will be celebrating at Holy Eucharist at 8:00 a.m. in St. Mary's Summerside; at 9:00 a.m. he will officiate at the service of morning prayer in St. John's St. Eleanor's and at 11:00 a.m. he will administer the sacrament of Holy Confirmation and celebrate the Holy Eucharist in St. Mary's.

The Rev. D.S.H. Mantou, rector of the Crapaud-Springfield parish, will present the candidates to be confirmed and assist in the celebration of the Holy Eucharist. Bishop Davis will preach at the service of evening prayer at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in St. Mark's Kensington.

Monday evening Bishop Davis will induct the Rev. Michael Roy Nass as rector of the Alberton Parish. This service will be at 7:30 p.m. in St. Peter's Church, Alberton. A reception will follow the service. There are three other churches in this parish in O'Leary Kidage and Alma.

Tuesday His Lordship will administer the holy rite of the laying on of hands in the sacrament of Holy Confirmation in St. Peter's Cathedral, Charlottetown.

The candidates will be presented by the Rev. Canon J.R. Davis.

Thursday afternoon at first vice president of the Diocesan Church Society of P.E.I. he will be chairman of the 115th annual meeting of the society.

Thursday evening he will preach at a combined service of the Diocesan Church Society and the

BISHOP DAVIS

New Cancer Method Found

MONTREAL (CP)—Two Montreal doctors have developed a method of inducing cancer in the stomach of rats.

The technique makes possible a new study of stomach cancer — responsible for one in every four cancer deaths in humans.

The new method was developed by Dr. D. R. Webster, surgeon-in-chief at the Royal Victoria Hospital and professor of surgery at McGill University, and Dr. G.C. Skoryna, project director of the department of experimental surgery at McGill.

"We've been working on this for more than five years," said Dr. Skoryna.

"We tried feeding carcinogens (cancer-causing substances) injecting them into the stomach walls, painting them on the stomach, injury and everything else under the sun. Nothing worked."

USED COTTON THREAD

Two years ago the researchers began experimenting with cotton threads soaked in a powerful carcinogen called methylnitrosamine. These were implanted in the wall of the stomach and fixed there with sutures. Gradually they sank into the wall. After this was repeated three times with each rat, eight per cent of them developed stomach cancer.

This method of inducing tumors, Dr. Skoryna said, will help investigators to study the manner in which tumors develop in the stomach as well as factors that enhance stomach cancers — such as types of food, drugs and other substances.

Doctors will also be able to test substances that inhibit tumor

Flag Promoter To See Troops

HALIFAX (CP)—John Heysel, self-appointed "salesman of a distinctive Canadian flag," headed for his Thorold, Ont. home this weekend after a coast-to-coast trip selling nationalism.

Heysel, 27, arrived here Thursday. This is the last provincial capital he will visit. But he isn't finished his selling job yet.

"I'm going to sell my car and wait around until Christmas," he said in an interview next to his flag-draped station wagon in downtown Halifax. "Then I'm going around the world visiting Canadian troops and see what they feel about a flag of their own."

ENTHUSIASTIC AREAS

Heysel says he has found the most rabid supporters of a distinctive national flag in Quebec and Cape Breton.

"Everybody seems to want Canada to have a flag of her own," he said. "The most enthusiastic people are students and new immigrants."

Bystanders here seemed more amused than enthused by Heysel's campaign.

One unidentified man said "I'd like to tear down that flag and trample on it." He pointed to a flag designed by Heysel which has a white cross, flanked by blue and red inset blocks and centered by a maple leaf.

An unidentified supporter of Heysel said: "More power to him. He and Joey Smallwood should get together and get some action on this thing."

Fisheries Cooking School Slated For Lobster Carnival

SUMMERSIDE — A fisheries cooking school under direction of the federal department of fisheries will be conducted twice daily at the Summerside Lobster Carnival, July 15 to 18, Carnival director Charles Hogan told a committee meeting last night in reporting on progress of events that are being finalized for the fourth annual Lobster Carnival.

The committee will meet again at the Summerside Stadium in two weeks time to decide the allocation of space and the location of the lobster supper tables.

The Bill Lynch midway shows will be located on the carnival grounds beside the stadium for the entire carnival week, including two nights prior to the opening of the carnival and the committee accepted the offer of Mr. Lynch to donate an annual plaque to the best float in the carnival parade, where 31 floats are already indicated and many more expected to participate.

Vaughan Groom, chairman of the committee in charge of a junior and senior track and field day, announced that this event would be staged on Saturday afternoon, July 18. Other events for this final day of the carnival will include boat races and water sports, and a soap box derby and doll carriage parade.

Roy Johnson, chairman of the 1959 Lobster Carnival committee, presided at the meeting.

IS SERGEANT

The promotion to Sergeant of R.K. Dunbar, 39, son of Mrs. J. A. Dunbar, Alma, P.E.I. has been announced by the R.C.A.F.

Sgt. Dunbar was born and raised in Alma and first enlisted in the R.C.A.F. in January, 1948, serving until the end of the war. He re-enlisted in August, 1956, in the trade of Painter. He served at Summerside until January, 1955, when he was transferred to his present unit at R.C.A.F. Station, Namao, Alta.

Space Flight Men Named

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three U.S. Air Force jet pilots, three navy men and a marine have been picked by the government as the Americans best equipped to attempt space flight. Their names were announced Thursday.

One of them two years hence may orbit the earth at an altitude of 100 to 150 miles in a satellite flight. The others probably will take similar space rides in the months following.

The seven chosen from a rigorous selection program, testing both physique and personality, are:

Navy Lieut. Malcolm S. Carpenter, 33, of Garden Grove, Calif.

Air Force Capt. Leroy G. Cooper Jr., 33, of Carbondale, Colo.

Marine Lt.-Col. John H. Glenn.

SUMMERLEA RESTAURANT

Summerside

OPENING

Sunday, April 12th

Hours Daily
8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Excellent Menu

Beginning May 22nd
Hours will be
6 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Daily

Summerlea Restaurant

SUMMERSIDE — PHONE 2388

Smaller

(Continued from page 1)

The general sales tax increase. The budget left unchanged the special taxes on pipe and roll-your-own tobacco, beer, automobiles, radios and television sets.

Mr. Fleming's new slice from personal incomes first increase since 1952, was done without altering basic personal exemptions of $1,000 for single taxpayers, $2,000 for a married taxpayer and $250 for each child. The new rates will apply more heavily on higher incomes.

ADJUST TAX LAW

The budget made a number of adjustments in the income tax law, none of which will have any appreciable effect on the treasury.

Effective at once the budget widens tax exemption on death benefits paid by employers to widows and dependents. The exemption will be on amounts equivalent to a year's pay up to $10,000, instead of the present limit of 90 days' wages.

Mr. Fleming's expectations of rising revenues were based, besides the tax increases, on a forecast seven per cent rise in national production this year.

SEES PRODUCTION RISE

He predicted that gross national production — value of all goods and services produced — will rise to $34,500,000,000 in this calendar year from $32,184,000,000 in 1959.

The budgetary income from personal income tax is forecast to rise to $1,578,000,000 in 1960 from $1,371,000,000 last year to account for 30 per cent of budget revenues.

The corporate income tax is forecast to rise to $1,097,000,000 from $1,029,000,000 — a relatively minor increase because corporations have the option of paying monthly tax instalments on the basis of the previous year's profits.

Mr. Fleming predicted that budgetary income from sales tax will be $756,000,000 as against $694,000,000, but that doesn't include the increase in the tax earmarked for the pension fund.

Budgetary expenditures for the new fiscal year have already been divided up, in spending estimates put before the Commons last Feb. 5, with 30 per cent going to national defence, 12 per cent to carrying the national debt, nine per cent to family allowances and eight per cent to payments to the provinces.

REGENT

Friday 7:15 - 9:10
Saturday 2:00 - 7:15 - 9:10

One great big happy CARNIVAL of fun!

All the crackling action...
All the rousing romance...
of America's brawlin' growing-up days!

THE MISSOURI TRAVELER TECHNICOLOUR

BRANDON WILDE - LEE MARVIN - GARY McRILL - PAUL FORD - MARY HOSFORD

CAMEO

Kensington
FRI., SAT. 7:15, 9:15
MAT. 1 P.M. ON SAT.

One of the best — Edward G. Robinson, Margaret O'Brien, James Craig and Butch Jenkins in "OUR VINES HAVE TENDER GRAPES" at Regular Prices.

$5 just for your opinion!

see page 14

Waddell Bros. of Crapaud

IT'S BECAUSE I MAKE 'EM WITH TASTY FOOD FROM

THE SANDWICHES ARE READY! COME ON IN, FOLKS!

OH, BOY! THESE SANDWICHES ARE DEE-LICIOUS, KITTY!

YOU'RE THE CHAMPION SANDWICH MAKER, KITTY!

Springtime Specials from WADDELL BROS.

Mayfair	2 for	Heinz Tomato SOUP	4 for	Fluffo SHORTENING	3 lbs.
BEEF, 12 oz.	69c	PEAS, 20 oz.	29c	MOLASSES	33c
Rindless Devon BACON	69c	Heinz Tomato JUICE	48 oz.	Giant Blue BREEZE	79c
Picnic HAMS	43c	Brown SUGAR	5 lbs.	Sunkist ORANGES	69c
Cured NECK RIBS	25c	Red Rose TEA	99c
Keta SALMON	45c

There are many more specials throughout the store.

• HOME IMPROVEMENT DEPT. SPECIALS •

Gold Seal CONGOLEUM — 3 yard width ..... yard $2.69
TABLE OILCLOTH — The Latest Patterns at BIG SAVINGS.
WALLPAPER — Complete Stock of New Patterns ..... 10% OFF
SAVE ON PAINT — BRUSHES — RUBBING COMPOUNDS

Hamilton Home Damaged By Thursday Afternoon Blaze

SUMMERSIDE — Fire caused extensive damage to the interior of the spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Carruthers, Hamilton, yesterday afternoon but was confined mainly to the attic portion of the residence by a bucket brigade and later by the Kensington Fire Department who quickly extinguished the blaze.

The fire was first noticed by Mr. Carruthers around 1:30 when he heard the familiar crackling sound of wood burning and soon discovered the blaze had originated between the floors in the attic portion of the large house.

A bucket brigade of neighbors soon was formed and the Kensington Fire Department were on the scene quickly to extinguish the blaze which had made considerable headway before being noticed.

There was considerable damage from water and smoke to the upstairs portion of the building with less amounts downstairs.

The loss was partly covered by insurance.

The Carruthers home is located about 5 miles from Kensington.

Mr. Carruthers is a well known farmer in that district.

The Carruthers children, Joan, Donna, Linda, Marilyn and James were all at school when the outbreak occurred.

Miscouche Man Pleads Not Guilty

SUMMERSIDE — A Miscouche man pleaded not guilty when he appeared in Magistrates Court here yesterday charged with driving while intoxicated.

The accused's case was adjourned until Tuesday and he was released on $300 bail. J. Watson MacNaught, Q.C. is defence counsel.

Another Miscouche man appeared on a charge of theft of two tires and wheels from a car owned by a Summerside firm. His case was adjourned until Tuesday.

Five men appeared on charges of being intoxicated in a public place. All had their cases adjourned until Monday. Each could obtain his release by posting $50 bail.

Harold Milligan, Justice of the Peace, presided in the absence of Magistrate R.S. Hinton, confined to his home with illness.

Smaller

(Continued from page 1)

The general sales tax increase. The budget left unchanged the special taxes on pipe and roll-your-own tobacco, beer, automobiles, radios and television sets.

Mr. Fleming's new slice from personal incomes first increase since 1952, was done without altering basic personal exemptions of $1,000 for single taxpayers, $2,000 for a married taxpayer and $250 for each child. The new rates will apply more heavily on higher incomes.

ADJUST TAX LAW

The budget made a number of adjustments in the income tax law, none of which will have any appreciable effect on the treasury.

Effective at once the budget widens tax exemption on death benefits paid by employers to widows and dependents. The exemption will be on amounts equivalent to a year's pay up to $10,000, instead of the present limit of 90 days' wages.

Mr. Fleming's expectations of rising revenues were based, besides the tax increases, on a forecast seven per cent rise in national production this year.

SEES PRODUCTION RISE

He predicted that gross national production — value of all goods and services produced — will rise to $34,500,000,000 in this calendar year from $32,184,000,000 in 1959.

The budgetary income from personal income tax is forecast to rise to $1,578,000,000 in 1960 from $1,371,000,000 last year to account for 30 per cent of budget revenues.

The corporate income tax is forecast to rise to $1,097,000,000 from $1,029,000,000 — a relatively minor increase because corporations have the option of paying monthly tax instalments on the basis of the previous year's profits.

Mr. Fleming predicted that budgetary income from sales tax will be $756,000,000 as against $694,000,000, but that doesn't include the increase in the tax earmarked for the pension fund.

Budgetary expenditures for the new fiscal year have already been divided up, in spending estimates put before the Commons last Feb. 5, with 30 per cent going to national defence, 12 per cent to carrying the national debt, nine per cent to family allowances and eight per cent to payments to the provinces.

Smaller

(Continued from page 1)

The general sales tax increase. The budget left unchanged the special taxes on pipe and roll-your-own tobacco, beer, automobiles, radios and television sets.

Mr. Fleming's new slice from personal incomes first increase since 1952, was done without altering basic personal exemptions of $1,000 for single taxpayers, $2,000 for a married taxpayer and $250 for each child. The new rates will apply more heavily on higher incomes.

ADJUST TAX LAW

The budget made a number of adjustments in the income tax law, none of which will have any appreciable effect on the treasury.

Effective at once the budget widens tax exemption on death benefits paid by employers to widows and dependents. The exemption will be on amounts equivalent to a year's pay up to $10,000, instead of the present limit of 90 days' wages.

Mr. Fleming's expectations of rising revenues were based, besides the tax increases, on a forecast seven per cent rise in national production this year.

SEES PRODUCTION RISE

He predicted that gross national production — value of all goods and services produced — will rise to $34,500,000,000 in this calendar year from $32,184,000,000 in 1959.

The budgetary income from personal income tax is forecast to rise to $1,578,000,000 in 1960 from $1,371,000,000 last year to account for 30 per cent of budget revenues.

The corporate income tax is forecast to rise to $1,097,000,000 from $1,029,000,000 — a relatively minor increase because corporations have the option of paying monthly tax instalments on the basis of the previous year's profits.

Mr. Fleming predicted that budgetary income from sales tax will be $756,000,000 as against $694,000,000, but that doesn't include the increase in the tax earmarked for the pension fund.

Budgetary expenditures for the new fiscal year have already been divided up, in spending estimates put before the Commons last Feb. 5, with 30 per cent going to national defence, 12 per cent to carrying the national debt, nine per cent to family allowances and eight per cent to payments to the provinces.

Smaller

(Continued from page 1)

The general sales tax increase. The budget left unchanged the special taxes on pipe and roll-your-own tobacco, beer, automobiles, radios and television sets.

Mr. Fleming's new slice from personal incomes first increase since 1952, was done without altering basic personal exemptions of $1,000 for single taxpayers, $2,000 for a married taxpayer and $250 for each child. The new rates will apply more heavily on higher incomes.

ADJUST TAX LAW

The budget made a number of adjustments in the income tax law, none of which will have any appreciable effect on the treasury.

Effective at once the budget widens tax exemption on death benefits paid by employers to widows and dependents. The exemption will be on amounts equivalent to a year's pay up to $10,000, instead of the present limit of 90 days' wages.

Mr. Fleming's expectations of rising revenues were based, besides the tax increases, on a forecast seven per cent rise in national production this year.

SEES PRODUCTION RISE

He predicted that gross national production — value of all goods and services produced — will rise to $34,500,000,000 in this calendar year from $32,184,000,000 in 1959.

The budgetary income from personal income tax is forecast to rise to $1,578,000,000 in 1960 from $1,371,000,000 last year to account for 30 per cent of budget revenues.

The corporate income tax is forecast to rise to $1,097,000,000 from $1,029,000,000 — a relatively minor increase because corporations have the option of paying monthly tax instalments on the basis of the previous year's profits.

Mr. Fleming predicted that budgetary income from sales tax will be $756,000,000 as against $694,000,000, but that doesn't include the increase in the tax earmarked for the pension fund.

Budgetary expenditures for the new fiscal year have already been divided up, in spending estimates put before the Commons last Feb. 5, with 30 per cent going to national defence, 12 per cent to carrying the national debt, nine per cent to family allowances and eight per cent to payments to the provinces.

Smaller

(Continued from page 1)

The general sales tax increase. The budget left unchanged the special taxes on pipe and roll-your-own tobacco, beer, automobiles, radios and television sets.

Mr. Fleming's new slice from personal incomes first increase since 1952, was done without altering basic personal exemptions of $1,000 for single taxpayers, $2,000 for a married taxpayer and $250 for each child. The new rates will apply more heavily on higher incomes.

ADJUST TAX LAW

The budget made a number of adjustments in the income tax law, none of which will have any appreciable effect on the treasury.

Effective at once the budget widens tax exemption on death benefits paid by employers to widows and dependents. The exemption will be on amounts equivalent to a year's pay up to $10,000, instead of the present limit of 90 days' wages.

Mr. Fleming's expectations of rising revenues were based, besides the tax increases, on a forecast seven per cent rise in national production this year.

SEES PRODUCTION RISE

He predicted that gross national production — value of all goods and services produced — will rise to $34,500,000,000 in this calendar year from $32,184,000,000 in 1959.

The budgetary income from personal income tax is forecast to rise to $1,578,000,000 in 1960 from $1,371,000,000 last year to account for 30 per cent of budget revenues.

The corporate income tax is forecast to rise to $1,097,000,000 from $1,029,000,000 — a relatively minor increase because corporations have the option of paying monthly tax instalments on the basis of the previous year's profits.

Mr. Fleming predicted that budgetary income from sales tax will be $756,000,000 as against $694,000,000, but that doesn't include the increase in the tax earmarked for the pension fund.

Budgetary expenditures for the new fiscal year have already been divided up, in spending estimates put before the Commons last Feb. 5, with 30 per cent going to national defence, 12 per cent to carrying the national debt, nine per cent to family allowances and eight per cent to payments to the provinces.

Smaller

(Continued from page 1)

The general sales tax increase. The budget left unchanged the special taxes on pipe and roll-your-own tobacco, beer, automobiles, radios and television sets.

Mr. Fleming's new slice from personal incomes first increase since 1952, was done without altering basic personal exemptions of $1,000 for single taxpayers, $2,000 for a married taxpayer and $250 for each child. The new rates will apply more heavily on higher incomes.

ADJUST TAX LAW

The budget made a number of adjustments in the income tax law, none of which will have any appreciable effect on the treasury.

Effective at once the budget widens tax exemption on death benefits paid by employers to widows and dependents. The exemption will be on amounts equivalent to a year's pay up to $10,000, instead of the present limit of 90 days' wages.

Mr. Fleming's expectations of rising revenues were based, besides the tax increases, on a forecast seven per cent rise in national production this year.

SEES PRODUCTION RISE

He predicted that gross national production — value of all goods and services produced — will rise to $34,500,000,000 in this calendar year from $32,184,000,000 in 1959.

The budgetary income from personal income tax is forecast to rise to $1,578,000,000 in 1960 from $1,371,000,000 last year to account for 30 per cent of budget revenues.

The corporate income tax is forecast to rise to $1,097,000,000 from $1,029,000,000 — a relatively minor increase because corporations have the option of paying monthly tax instalments on the basis of the previous year's profits.

Mr. Fleming predicted that budgetary income from sales tax will be $756,000,000 as against $694,000,000, but that doesn't include the increase in the tax earmarked for the pension fund.

Budgetary expenditures for the new fiscal year have already been divided up, in spending estimates put before the Commons last Feb. 5, with 30 per cent going to national defence, 12 per cent to carrying the national debt, nine per cent to family allowances and eight per cent to payments to the provinces.

Smaller

(Continued from page 1)

The general sales tax increase. The budget left unchanged the special taxes on pipe and roll-your-own tobacco, beer, automobiles, radios and television sets.

Mr. Fleming's new slice from personal incomes first increase since 1952, was done without altering basic personal exemptions of $1,000 for single taxpayers, $2,000 for a married taxpayer and $250 for each child. The new rates will apply more heavily on higher incomes.

ADJUST TAX LAW

The budget made a number of adjustments in the income tax law, none of which will have any appreciable effect on the treasury.

Effective at once the budget widens tax exemption on death benefits paid by employers to widows and dependents. The exemption will be on amounts equivalent to a year's pay up to $10,000, instead of the present limit of 90 days' wages.

Mr. Fleming's expectations of rising revenues were based, besides the tax increases, on a forecast seven per cent rise in national production this year.

SEES PRODUCTION RISE

He predicted that gross national production — value of all goods and services produced — will rise to $34,500,000,000 in this calendar year from $32,184,000,000 in 1959.

The budgetary income from personal income tax is forecast to rise to $1,578,000,000 in 1960 from $1,371,000,000 last year to account for 30 per cent of budget revenues.

The corporate income tax is forecast to rise to $1,097,000,000 from $1,029,000,000 — a relatively minor increase because corporations have the option of paying monthly tax instalments on the basis of the previous year's profits.

Mr. Fleming predicted that budgetary income from sales tax will be $756,000,000 as against $694,000,000, but that doesn't include the increase in the tax earmarked for the pension fund.

Budgetary expenditures for the new fiscal year have already been divided up, in spending estimates put before the Commons last Feb. 5, with 30 per cent going to national defence, 12 per cent to carrying the national debt, nine per cent to family allowances and eight per cent to payments to the provinces.

S'IDE FIRM TO SHOW PRODUCTS

The Summerside firm of Jenks Brothers is one of the business firms from Prince Edward Island which will be displaying products to people of Canada's northland during a visit of business men from the four Atlantic Provinces. Lester Jenkins, left, is a director of APEC, and will be making the trip. On the right is Lester's father W.E. Jenkins, president of the company in the background are some a number of the company's products.

Hamilton Home Damaged By Thursday Afternoon Blaze

SUMMERSIDE — Fire caused extensive damage to the interior of the spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Carruthers, Hamilton, yesterday afternoon but was confined mainly to the attic portion of the residence by a bucket brigade and later by the Kensington Fire Department who quickly extinguished the blaze.

The fire was first noticed by Mr. Carruthers around 1:30 when he heard the familiar crackling sound of wood burning and soon discovered the blaze had originated between the floors in the attic portion of the large house.

A bucket brigade of neighbors soon was formed and the Kensington Fire Department were on the scene quickly to extinguish the blaze which had made considerable headway before being noticed.

There was considerable damage from water and smoke to the upstairs portion of the building with less amounts downstairs.

The loss was partly covered by insurance.

The Carruthers home is located about 5 miles from Kensington.

Mr. Carruthers is a well known farmer in that district.

The Carruthers children, Joan, Donna, Linda, Marilyn and James were all at school when the outbreak occurred.

Smaller

(Continued from page 1)

The general sales tax increase. The budget left unchanged the special taxes on pipe and roll-your-own tobacco, beer, automobiles, radios and television sets.

Mr. Fleming's new slice from personal incomes first increase since 1952, was done without altering basic personal exemptions of $1,000 for single taxpayers, $2,000 for a married taxpayer and $250 for each child. The new rates will apply more heavily on higher incomes.

ADJUST TAX LAW

The budget made a number of adjustments in the income tax law, none of which will have any appreciable effect on the treasury.

Effective at once the budget widens tax exemption on death benefits paid by employers to widows and dependents. The exemption will be on amounts equivalent to a year's pay up to $10,000, instead of the present limit of 90 days' wages.

Mr. Fleming's expectations of rising revenues were based, besides the tax increases, on a forecast seven per cent rise in national production this year.

SEES PRODUCTION RISE

He predicted that gross national production — value of all goods and services produced — will rise to $34,500,000,000 in this calendar year from $32,184,000,000 in 1959.

The budgetary income from personal income tax is forecast to rise to $1,578,000,000 in 1960 from $1,371,000,000 last year to account for 30 per cent of budget revenues.

The corporate income tax is forecast to rise to $1,097,000,000 from $1,029,000,000 — a relatively minor increase because corporations have the option of paying monthly tax instalments on the basis of the previous year's profits.

Mr. Fleming predicted that budgetary income from sales tax will be $756,000,000 as against $694,000,000, but that doesn't include the increase in the tax earmarked for the pension fund.

Budgetary expenditures for the new fiscal year have already been divided up, in spending estimates put before the Commons last Feb. 5, with 30 per cent going to national defence, 12 per cent to carrying the national debt, nine per cent to family allowances and eight per cent to payments to the provinces.

Smaller

(Continued from page 1)

The general sales tax increase. The budget left unchanged the special taxes on pipe and roll-your-own tobacco, beer, automobiles, radios and television sets.

Mr. Fleming's new slice from personal incomes first increase since 1952, was done without altering basic personal exemptions of $1,000 for single taxpayers, $2,000 for a married taxpayer and $250 for each child. The new rates will apply more heavily on higher incomes.

ADJUST TAX LAW

The budget made a number of adjustments in the income tax law, none of which will have any appreciable effect on the treasury.

Effective at once the budget widens tax exemption on death benefits paid by employers to widows and dependents. The exemption will be on amounts equivalent to a year's pay up to $10,000, instead of the present limit of 90 days' wages.

Mr. Fleming's expectations of rising revenues were based, besides the tax increases, on a forecast seven per cent rise in national production this year.

SEES PRODUCTION RISE

He predicted that gross national production — value of all goods and services produced — will rise to $34,500,000,000 in this calendar year from $32,184,000,000 in 1959.

The budgetary income from personal income tax is forecast to rise to $1,578,000,000 in 1960 from $1,371,000,000 last year to account for 30 per cent of budget revenues.

The corporate income tax is forecast to rise to $1,097,000,000 from $1,029,000,000 — a relatively minor increase because corporations have the option of paying monthly tax instalments on the basis of the previous year's profits.

Mr. Fleming predicted that budgetary income from sales tax will be $756,000,000 as against $694,000,000, but that doesn't include the increase in the tax earmarked for the pension fund.

Budgetary expenditures for the new fiscal year have already been divided up, in spending estimates put before the Commons last Feb. 5, with 30 per cent going to national defence, 12 per cent to carrying the national debt, nine per cent to family allowances and eight per cent to payments to the provinces.

Smaller

(Continued from page 1)

The general sales tax increase. The budget left unchanged the special taxes on pipe and roll-your-own tobacco, beer, automobiles, radios and television sets.

Mr. Fleming's new slice from personal incomes first increase since 1952, was done without altering basic personal exemptions of $1,000 for single taxpayers, $2,000 for a married taxpayer and $250 for each child. The new rates will apply more heavily on higher incomes.

ADJUST TAX LAW

The budget made a number of adjustments in the income tax law, none of which will have any appreciable effect on the treasury.

Effective at once the budget widens tax exemption on death benefits paid by employers to widows and dependents. The exemption will be on amounts equivalent to a year's pay up to $10,000, instead of the present limit of 90 days' wages.

Mr. Fleming's expectations of rising revenues were based, besides the tax increases, on a forecast seven per cent rise in national production this year.

SEES PRODUCTION RISE

He predicted that gross national production — value of all goods and services produced — will rise to $34,500,000,000 in this calendar year from $32,184,000,000 in 1959.

The budgetary income from personal income tax is forecast to rise to $1,578,000,000 in 1960 from $1,371,000,000 last year to account for 30 per cent of budget revenues.

The corporate income tax is forecast to rise to $1,097,000,000 from $1,029,000,000 — a relatively minor increase because corporations have the option of paying monthly tax instalments on the basis of the previous year's profits.

Mr. Fleming predicted that budgetary income from sales tax will be $756,000,000 as against $694,000,000, but that doesn't include the increase in the tax earmarked for the pension fund.

Budgetary expenditures for the new fiscal year have already been divided up, in spending estimates put before the Commons last Feb. 5, with 30 per cent going to national defence, 12 per cent to carrying the national debt, nine per cent to family allowances and eight per cent to payments to the provinces.

Smaller

(Continued from page 1)

The general sales tax increase. The budget left unchanged the special taxes on pipe and roll-your-own tobacco, beer, automobiles, radios and television sets.

Mr. Fleming's new slice from personal incomes first increase since 1952, was done without altering basic personal exemptions of $1,000 for single taxpayers, $2,000 for a married taxpayer and $250 for each child. The new rates will apply more heavily on higher incomes.

ADJUST TAX LAW

The budget made a number of adjustments in the income tax law, none of which will have any appreciable effect on the treasury.

Effective at once the budget widens tax exemption on death benefits paid by employers to widows and dependents. The exemption will be on amounts equivalent to a year's pay up to $10,000, instead of the present limit of 90 days' wages.

Mr. Fleming's expectations of rising revenues were based, besides the tax increases, on a forecast seven per cent rise in national production this year.

SEES PRODUCTION RISE

He predicted that gross national production — value of all goods and services produced — will rise to $34,500,000,000 in this calendar year from $32,184,000,000 in 1959.

The budgetary income from personal income tax is forecast to rise to $1,578,000,000 in 1960 from $1,371,000,000 last year to account for 30 per cent of budget revenues.

The corporate income tax is forecast to rise to $1,097,000,000 from $1,029,000,000 — a relatively minor increase because corporations have the option of paying monthly tax instalments on the basis of the previous year's profits.

Mr. Fleming predicted that budgetary income from sales tax will be $756,000,000 as against $694,000,000, but that doesn't include the increase in the tax earmarked for the pension fund.

Budgetary expenditures for the new fiscal year have already been divided up, in spending estimates put before the Commons last Feb. 5, with 30 per cent going to national defence, 12 per cent to carrying the national debt, nine per cent to family allowances and eight per cent to payments to the provinces.

Smaller

(Continued from page 1)

The general sales tax increase. The budget left unchanged the special taxes on pipe and roll-your-own tobacco, beer, automobiles, radios and television sets.

Mr. Fleming's new slice from personal incomes first increase since 1952, was done without altering basic personal exemptions of $1,000 for single taxpayers, $2,000 for a married taxpayer and $250 for each child. The new rates will apply more heavily on higher incomes.

ADJUST TAX LAW

The budget made a number of adjustments in the income tax law, none of which will have any appreciable effect on the treasury.

Effective at once the budget widens tax exemption on death benefits paid by employers to widows and dependents. The exemption will be on amounts equivalent to a year's pay up to $10,000, instead of the present limit of 90 days' wages.

Mr. Fleming's expectations of rising revenues were based, besides the tax increases, on a forecast seven per cent rise in national production this year.

SEES PRODUCTION RISE

He predicted that gross national production — value of all goods and services produced — will rise to $34,500,000,000 in this calendar year from $32,184,000,000 in 1959.

The budgetary income from personal income tax is forecast to rise to $1,578,000,000 in 1960 from $1,371,000,000 last year to account for 30 per cent of budget revenues.

The corporate income tax is forecast to rise to $1,097,000,000 from $1,029,000,000 — a relatively minor increase because corporations have the option of paying monthly tax instalments on the basis of the previous year's profits.

Mr. Fleming predicted that budgetary income from sales tax will be $756,000,000 as against $694,000,000, but that doesn't include the increase in the tax earmarked for the pension fund.

Budgetary expenditures for the new fiscal year have already been divided up, in spending estimates put before the Commons last Feb. 5, with 30 per cent going to national defence,