Healthy Dress for Women.

The great trouble with our feminine mode of dress is that the warmth is unevenly distributed over the surface of the body. The waist, hips and lower back are much over-heated by the lapping of the upper and lower garments, while the head, throat and extremities are usually only half protected. To this cause alone can be traced a great part of the ill health of the American women. Women often break down from over work; but working at a disadvantage in corsets and heavy skirts has a great deal to do with it. We cannot do so much nor do it as well as we could if public sentiment permitted women a hygienic mode of dress. Skirts reaching to the feet are an undoubted hindrance to free and easy motion; but as the petticoat is here, and has come to stay for a long time at least, we must study ways and means for making it as little harmful as possible.

Everybody knows that men owe much of their good health and success to their suitable style of dress. Now what women want is to secure the benefits of men's general mode of dress in their undergarments, using over these, the ordinary dress, in its most sensible form, as the badge of womanly modesty

To specify, the first garment put on should be some kind of a knit union suit with long sleeves, which is elastic and covers near the whole body. Unless this is very heavy and warm, it should be surmounted by another flannel union suit of cloth, at least in this northern climate. Then should follow a light flannel skirt, made in princess style without any heavy trimmings. In moderate climates, there is nothing better for this purpose than Jersy cloth; and for cold climates eider down flannel. Both wash well, and have a knitted web, which enables them to be fitted perfectly and yet give every muscle of the body full play. If the dress is in one piece, so much the better; if in two pieces sew short strong tapes to the seams of the waist just above the waist line, make button-holes in them, and place corresponding buttons on the loose yoke or band of the light-weight dress skirt. The idea is to have the whole body evenly covered, with few, if any bands around the waist, and all the weight depending from the shoulders. Let the clothing be as light as consistent with warmth.

Cushing's Manual at Court.

A raw citizen in Indaho, says the "Washington Critic," was elected a Justice of the Peace, and the only law book he had was a "Cushing's Manual."

The first case before him was that of cowboy for stealing a steer. When the case was called the only lawyer in the little town was there to defend the prisoner.

As there is no counsel for the other side, he said, I make a motion that the case be dismissed.

The Justice looked over his "Manual."

A motion has to be seconded, he said.

I second the motion, promptly responded the prisoner.

The motion has been made and seconded that the case be dismissed, said the court. All in favor will please say "aye."

The prisoner and his attorney voted aye.

All opposed say "no"

Nobody voted.

The motion is carried, and the case is now dismissed, remarked the court. A motion to adjourn is now in order.

The prisoner made the motion, and the court adjourned.

His Reason.

A jury composed of eleven business men and an old fellow from across the creek, retired to the jury room. The foreman, when selected, remarked that he thought the prisoner ought to be sent to the penitentiary for five years.

That ain't long enough, said the old fellow. Let's put it on him for ten.

Oh, no, that won't do.

Wall, then, stretching himself out on a bench, I'm with yer.

What, are you going to hang the jury?

That's about it.

My dear sir, we are anxious to get back to our business.

Then send him up for ten.

But that would be great injustice.

Then squat and make yourselves comfortable.

Have you any special reason why the prisoner should go up for ten years?

Think I have.

Will you please name it?

Yes, fur it won't take me long. He is my son-in-law, and I have been supporting him ever since he was married.

He went up for ten years.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain and the little shrub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, and take no other kind. feb 4 eod wk
