BEAVER DAM BLAMED FOR WRECK

BUCKINGHAM, Que.—Some 30 lumbermen were injured when this one-coach train, powered by a 44-ton diesel, hit a washed out section of line and plunged into a 12-foot gorge early Thanksgiving Day. The accident occurred near Duhamel, Que., about 80 miles northeast of Ottawa. A beaver dam was blamed for the washout.

Baptist W.M.S. Met At Bonshaw

The October meeting of the Bonshaw Baptist W. M. S. met with Mrs. Russell Boyce on Wednesday evening, Oct. 1st, with the president, Mrs. Ed Bell presiding.

Meeting opened by singing, "A Charge To Keep I Have." Scripture reading from 2nd Peter and 2nd Timothy was read responsively and led by Mrs. E. C. Holm. Readings on Baptist Missionary work in Bolivia were given by Mrs. E. Bell, Mrs. J. MacEachern, Mrs. J. Gordon and Miss Charlotte MacEachern. A lovely poem was read by Mrs. L. Graves, entitled, "God Forgive me When I Whine." "Bringing In The Sheaves," was then sung by all, followed with prayer by Mrs. Graves.

Collection was taken which amounted to $3.75 and a letter was received by the secretary, Miss Belle Smith, re calendar year ending last of December instead of last of June, and it was decided half-yearly dues be paid before Dec. 31st, thus beginning new year on January 1st.

Roll call was answered by a Biblical verse on "Thanksgiving" by eight members and two visitors. Mrs. Russell Boyce read an interesting report from Provincial secretary for P. E. I.

A kind invitation was received from Mrs. Neil Salmon, Cornwall, to meet at her home in November. This invitation was readily accepted and much appreciated by all.

Meeting closed by singing "Soldiers of Christ Arise," followed by benediction. Lunch was then served by hostess and committee in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter McLellan Indian River, were Sunday visitors here, guests of Mrs. McLellan parents, Mr. and Mrs. P.R. Sinnott.

Mrs. Joseph Walsh and Mrs. P.R. Sinnott, were visitors to Indian River for a few days this week, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Peter McLellan.

Mrs. Fred Sinnott, has sold his farm property in this vicinity to Mr. George Kelly. The property has been idle for some years, since Mr. Sinnott retired from farming.

This scribe had a pleasant visit with an old friend, Eph. Malone on Sunday. All are pleased to see Mr. Malone much improved in health and around again.

Mr. W.A. O'Brien, was a weekend visitor to his old home in Bristol, guest of his sister Mabel. Despite the fact that Mr. O'Brien has been back home scores of times, this week-end was the first time he had stayed over night at the old home in sixteen years.

Mrs. Phillip Henneberry, who has been residing with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Barry, since her husband went out west last year, left last week for Elliott Bay, near the Ontario border to join her husband where they plan to make their home. All wish Mr. and Mrs. Henneberry every success in their new surroundings.

Mr. and Mrs. Len Kane, have returned to the old home at Kane's Corner to open a grocery store under the name of Kane's grocery.

ing training for the profession. It is because the nature of nursing requires its practitioners to be wise in many ways and its students to have foundations on which the learning of nursing can be based," she added.

ing training for the profession. It is because the nature of nursing requires its practitioners to be wise in many ways and its students to have foundations on which the learning of nursing can be based," she added.

She concluded, "Population grows rapidly, and the services to be rendered grow even more rapidly. And so we need more nurses everywhere."

"All our striving, for the past 50 years and the next has had and must have one aim—that the people be served."

BRISTOL

Mr. Maurice Martell, picked four lovely large ripe strawberries in his garden on Friday and to prove his picking, the berries were presented to this scribe, and were garden fresh. Mr. Martell is a top gardener.

Mrs. Joe Walsh, received word last week of the near drowning of her uncle Frank Hogan, in Somerville, Mass., while on a boating trip with a friend their small craft over-turned and both men clung to the overturned boat for some time. Mr. Hogan who is seventy-three was unable to swim so after waiting for a long time for help that did not come, his companion strapped two life preservers onto Mr. Hogan to keep him afloat while he swam ashore for help. Unable to attract anyone and fearing for the older man's life he swam back to the spot and dragged the helpless man to shore, where both collapsed, and were picked up later by a passer-by and taken to hospital. Later reports are that both are now off the danger list.

Those who are working at the fish plants in Souris no longer travel in the back of trucks half frozen and wet, as a large bus has been put on the route and is stationed here to go East in the morning and back at night fall.

The condition of Gerry McAdam who underwent a serious operation in veterans Hospital, Halifax, recently, remains about the same. Gerry has been partially crippled since his navy days, and it is hoped the operation will bring relief.

Mr. James Fitzgerald entered the Charlottetown Hospital last week for check-up and treatment.

Miss Joan Sinnott was in the city on Friday. Miss Sinnott is a second year student at the Village high school.

Mr. Billie Francis, was a visitor.

In a resolution passed at the closing session of the Nurses Association meeting, the association recommended that a nursing institute be set up for head nurses in which instruction could be given on ward teaching and ward administration. The nurses also asked that the instructors needed be secured from Dalhousie University.

NURSING EXPANDS

Concluding her address Miss MacLennan said "As the definition of health is broadened and as modern science advances, the responsibilities of nursing, like those of medicine and public health, expand.

"If we speak of improving the education or training of the nurse it is for this reason—that nurses be able, after that training, to meet their expanding responsibilities.

If we say that the young men and women who want to be nurses should have reached a higher stage of education before enter-

Rev. Paterson Discusses Aims of H & S Ass'n

MONTAGUE — At the regular meeting of the Montague Home and School, Rev. W. A. Paterson of Georgetown, gave an interesting discourse on the aims and purposes of the Association.
