PERSONAL

The Montreal Witness reports that Major-General Hutton, the new commander of the Canadian militia, looks every inch the soldier. Of medium height, with breadth of shoulder, athletic build, and the general aspect of being well set-up, he expresses in his features firmness and strength. The Major-General is in the prime of life. He has seen service both in India and Australia. It was he who introduced mounted infantry into the British service—an innovation which was much criticised, but which, as he says laughingly, 'is not ancient history.' The manner of the new commander is that of a polished gentleman, who has seen the world, mixed with men, and has the art of accommodating himself to circumstances.

THE PHILIPPINES.

Why England is Desirous That the Americans Should Occupy Them.

In his cable letter to the New York Tribune, Isaac N. Ford says: "The unanimity of English sentiment in favour of the American occupation of the Philippines is most remarkable. Mr. Labouchere sneers; and Mr. John Morley and Mr. James Bryce reflect in silence; but all other Radicals and Liberals seem to be of one mind in wishing the Americans God-speed in their new career of expansion, which will interest them deeply in what is going on in the far east. As for the Unionists, they are all American imperialists, and Mr. Chamberlain is the greatest enthusiast among them. There are signs of growing interest here in plans for the development and resources of the American navy, and nobody suggests that Mr. Goschen will find it necessary to increase the British navy in consequence of this outbreak of activity in naval construction. Englishmen know that Russia, France and Germany are working together against them in China; they want the Americans to hold the Philippines and have a strong navy because an Anglo-Saxon combination will be a great force for promoting peace and progress at the ends of the earth."

Why is it that one man is old and decrepit at 45, and another hale and hearty at 80? It depends on the care he takes of himself. Often a man's body gets out of repair—the trouble grows until it lays him out in bed. Whenever a man feels that he is not as well as he ought to be, whenever he is listless, without energy and without vitality, whenever he finds that he looses weight and that his ordinary work gives him undue fatigue, he needs Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If he keeps on working with his liver inactive and his impure—he keeps nerves and his body under a constant strain. He will not be hearty when he is old. The "Golden Medical Discovery" cures many so called diseases because nearly all illness springs from the same thing, bad digestion and consequent impure blood. The "Discovery" makes the appetite good, the digestion strong, assimilation easy, and the blood rich and pure.

PROWSE BROTHERS

The Wonderful Cheap Men

First Elephant in America.

It is not generally known that a former citizen of Owensboro brought across the ocean the first elephant that was ever in America. The name of the gentleman was Moses Smith, who at one time owned a vast body of land from the mouth of Panther creek up the river, embracing nearly all the present farms in the neighborhood of Sorgho. Mr. Smith was at Paris with his brother and had "more money than he knew what to do with." He told his brother that he intended taking something to America that the people had never seen. "You had better buy an elephant," said the jocular brother, and that was what Moses did.

He picked out the biggest animal he could find and paid an enormous price for it. He brought it to New York, where it was a nine days' wonder, but the owner soon found that he had something worse than the proverbial white elephant on his hands. He tried to sell it, but could find no buyer and at last undertook to give it away, in which he was equally unsuccessful. Finally he found a man who agreed to pay him $100 for it, and this individual put it on exhibition. He was so successful that he went into the show business and made a fortune out of Mr. Smith's folly. Colonel Frank McKeruan of Adairville is a grandson of Mr. Smith, who lived to a great age at his home in this county.—Owensboro (Ky.) Inquirer.
