Steel Demand Is Increasing

CLEVELAND (AP)—Strong demand for automotive steel is stiffening the market and brightening the fourth-quarter outlook, Steel Magazine said Saturday.

Automakers are ordering extra tonnage and asking suppliers to ship some of their December steel ahead of schedule, the metal-working weekly reported. "If new car sales continue at a level approaching last month's record pace and auto makers build as many cars as we've tentatively programmed for November . . . there's a good chance for a continued upturn in steel production."

Although auto makers are largely responsible for the steel market's improvement, the magazine said other users also have stepped up their buying. "Pressure for quick deliveries is mounting and that suggests that inventories are returning to normal levels," Steel said.

Steel production this week will be slightly higher than the 10,000,000 tons estimated for last week, Steel said. Last week's output was the highest since the first week of May.

25th Anniversary Is Observed

A large number of relatives and friends called at the Prince Street home of Mr. and Mrs. E.H. Worth, recently on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary.

An address was read to the couple by Mrs. Joseph Smith, Millville, which was followed by the presentation of a gift, to which both Mr. and Mrs. Worth replied.

A highlight of the social evening took place at the end of the luncheon when the anniversary cake was cut. Mr. and Mrs. Worth also received a number of greetings from relatives in Boston and New York, who were unable to be present for the festivities.

Out of town guests were Mrs. Raymond Smith, Mrs. Leo MacKenna and Irving A. Beaton all of Brighton, Mass.

False Statement Results In Fine

J. Daniel Lewis, Morell, was fined $30 and costs Friday under section 81 (1) of the Highway Traffic Act, making a false statement in an application. He appeared in city police court before Magistrate James Haslam.

One motorist was fined $5 and costs for failing to stop at a red sign and another was fined a similar amount for having no front license plate.

One drunk and incapable completed the docket. He was fined $10 and costs.

nobody's surprise. It resumed its rally Friday. In the last nine sessions, the market has rallied vigorously on all but two.

The Associated Press advised that the Cuban crisis had eased, there was some good news about dividends.

Chief among these was the declaration by General Motors of a $1 extra dividend compared with 50 cents a year. Wall Street's morale also was fed by booming U.S. auto sales and production, a rise in steel output, a brighter outlook for that metal, and record totals for September in manufacturing, wholesale, and retail lines.

The four-day trading week was cut short by Tuesday's congressional and state elections. The results were received in deadpan fashion by Wall Street, some analysts maintaining that the mixed picture—cheered both by Democrats and Republicans—left little to go on.

But the market advanced on election eve and again the day after election. It paused for profit taking on Thursday, but Wall Street's morale also was fed by booming U.S. auto sales and production, a rise in steel output, a brighter outlook for that metal, and record totals for September in manufacturing, wholesale, and retail lines.
