Airman Killed In Accident On Highway West Of Summerside

Pinned beneath an overturned car, the body of LAC Joseph Horace Raoul Tiernan, 29 year-old native of Montreal, stationed at R.C.A.F. Station, Summerside, was found yesterday morning in a ditch on the Linkletter Road about five miles west of Summerside.

LAC Teirnan, unmarried, was a son of James Tiernan, 6768 Des Ecores St., Montreal East, Province of Quebec, and had been stationed at Summerside since May of this year, after completing a tour of service in Germany.

The car, a 1950 Chev. coach, was first observed in the ditch by Mr. Gordon Linkletter, a passing motorist, who discovered the body of the airman pinned beneath the left rear fender in the grass-covered, swampy ditch.

Tire tracks indicated that the car had been proceeding westward, and, on a straight stretch, entered the ditch from the left hand side, striking the bank and overturning at least once before coming to rest on its hood. The top of the car was completely demolished.

The R.C.M.P. were called to the scene of the accident and took charge of the investigation.

Mr. John E. Cameron, Justice of the Peace, convened an inquest and after the body had been identified by Cpl. John Crowell of the R.C.A.F., the inquest was adjourned to a later date.

Members of the jury are: Albert Linkletter, Foreman, Sterling Reeves, Angus Cameron, Benjamin Doucette, Siguard MacKinnon, Duncan MacKendrick, and Scott Forbischer.

Eisenhower Pledges To Work For Peaceful Suez Solution

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower pledged Friday "to exhaust every possible method of peaceful settlement" of the dangerous Suez Canal dispute with Egypt.

He declined to comment on French troop and warship movements in the Mediterranean which are reported to have disturbed American officials.

Obviously seeking to ease Mid-East tensions, Eisenhower met with soft words Egyptian President Nasser's objection to his view that the strategic Suez Canal was internationalized in 1888.

Nasser's objections, the president told a press conference, result from "an apparent misunderstanding" of the American stand as outlined in White House and state department statements.

"We are, I think, talking at cross purposes," Eisenhower said. "I referred to the Suez Canal as a waterway internationalized by the treaty of 1888.

"That treaty gives many nations rights in and to the canal. It does not mean that these nations own the canal."

SEEK PEACEFUL SOLUTION

The president told reporters the 103-mile waterway "is internationalized" but only "in the sense of the use of the canal." He has said before that Egypt's sovereignty will be respected in the area.

While refusing to be drawn into a public argument with Nasser, Eisenhower nevertheless stressed that Egypt "cannot now or in the future jeopardize the rights" of foreign ships to use the canal.

The president's mildly - worded reply seemed clearly aimed at reassuring Nasser of American determination to settle the Suez crisis by diplomacy rather than force, despite British-French military preparations around Cyprus.

Asked whether he had ordered any precautionary military moves by American forces in the Mediterranean, Eisenhower declined to answer directly but he said he had done "nothing that isn't absolutely consistent" with his desire to avoid a war over the canal.

Wheat Crop Figures High

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's 1956 wheat crop was estimated by the bureau of statistics Friday at a better - then - average 512,250,000 bushes. The Prairie portion was placed at 490,000,000 bushels.

The estimate, first of the season, was based on yields indicated Aug. 15. If realized, a crop of this size would be four per cent higher than last year's 494,116,000 bushels. It would be 10 per cent higher than the 10-year 1946-55 average of 463,659,000.

Last year's Prarie crop was 472,000,000 bushels.

All - Canada crop forecasts for other major grains with last year's figures in brackets:

Sees Spirit Of Dissatisfaction Among Nurses

ST. ANDREWS, N.B. (CP)—Dr. W. Ross Wright said in his presidential address to the New Brunswick Medical Society here Friday that a spirit of dissatisfaction and unrest is "prevalent" throughout the nursing profession.

Dr. Wright said hospital administrators are faced with the "disturbing factor" of being unable to keep trained personnel in key positions.

"When the salaries . . . are brought to a level comparable with those in other walks of life we can hope more nurses will chooose these fields as their life work," he said.

Dr. Wright said that among New Brunswick's 14 schools of nursing are one class with only one student registered and another with only two students.

URGES PROMOTION

He suggested promotion of nursing as a career for men and elimination of many secretarial chores now handled by nurses as means of meeting the acute shortage.

He described charting duties by nurses as a waste of valuable time. If supervisors were relieved of the pen-pushing, there would be time for supervision.

Dr. Wright also urged doctors to take the lead in providing nurses with requested information on "the type of nursing service which we require and expect of the nursing profession today."

Provinces Will Meet At Victoria For Tax Talks

OTTAWA (CP)—Provincial governments may tip their hands next month on the federal government's long-pending offer to share taxes.

The provinces have been withholding their decisions for several months. Officials here said Friday they believe it likely the provincial views will be made known at confidential talks now scheduled for Sept. 10-11 at Victoria.

Deputy finance ministers of the federal and provincial governments will attend this session, which would prepare the technical groundwork for any inter-government agreements to be signed later.

The federal offer — which has been standing since last March—would supplant the existing five-year tax rental agreements that expire next April 1. It has been received cooly by several of the provinces, but none has yet said an outright yes or no.

WOULD SPLIT TAXES

The federal offer involves a split between the central and provincial governments of personal and corporation income taxes and succession duties. Provincial taxpayers would be allowed to deduct from their federal payments up to 10 per cent of federal personal income tax, nine per cent of taxable corporation income and 50 per cent of federal succession duties.

In addition, provinces would be paid equalization subsidies from the federal treasury, to bring all up to the average per capita level of Ontario and British Columbia, the two wealthiest; in the income tax-succession duties field.

The existing agreements take in nine provinces — all except Quebec. Eight provinces rent the three forms of taxes to the central government. Ontario rents personal and corporation income taxes but retains succession duties.

Asks Damages From China

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Friday charged Communist China with an "unjustified" attack on a U.S. Navy plane and demanded damages for the loss of life and the aircraft shot down off the China coast last week.

Russia Tests New A-Weapon

MOSCOW AP)—The Russians announced Friday they have detonated a new and different nuclear weapon "applicable to the arming of various kinds of troops."

This device was reported set off Thursday in the second of tests started Aug. 24 "to perfect nuclear weapons."

The Moscow radio, indicating the Russians are working on a tactical nuclear weapon, said:

"New tests of nuclear weapons were made in the Soviet Union on Aug. 24 and Aug. 30.

"These tests and impending ones aim at perfecting nuclear weapons and developing new types which could be used for equipment by various arms of the services."

FIRST ANNOUNCEMENT

It is unprecedented for the Soviet Union to volunteer information of this kind. The belief here was that the Russians wanted to make the announcement of the second test before the United States reported it. Thirteen previous nuclear blasts in the Soviet Union were first announced by the United States.

(But Moscow semed behind on this, too. President Eisenhower announced at his morning press conference in Washington the Russians had touched off still another atomic explosion. He said this was more powerful than the test a week ago, which had the force of almost 1,000,000 tons of tnt. London monitors picked up a Moscow broadcast announcement about 90 minutes later.)

The official government news agency Tass said the explosions were touched off "at great height" to reduce danger from radioactive fallout.

STILL SEEK BAN

The announcement that the new Russian device is "applicable to the arming of various kinds of troops" seemed to imply an effort to harness nuclear power for tactical use by ground and air forces as well as for strategic bombing.

The United States has developed atomic artillery and rocket squadrons armed with atomic warheads.

Tass stressed that the Soviet government wants atomic and hydrogen weapons banned, but said the United States and some other Western powers block such a step.

"The Soviet government cannot fail to take these circumstances into consideration and is forced, guided by the interests of its security, to pay due attention to nuclear weapon tests.

"Nevertheless, the Soviet government intends also in future to continue ceaselessly in its efforts to achieve an international agreement on the complete banning of the manufacture, storing and use of nuclear weapons, as well as the banning of test explosions of these weapons."

Expect Boost In Trade To Follow Move

Trade between Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland gets a boost as a result of a subsidy agreement just concluded between the Federal and Provincial governments. An arrangement approved in Ottawa this week provides that the Federal Government will subsidize the service to a maximum of $80,000 and the Provincial Government to a maximum of $20,000 depending on what loss there may be on the year's transportation business. The ship carrying produce and other materials between the two provinces is the "Fergus", owned and operated by the Ferguson Industries people in Pictou. The agreement is to run from April 1, 1956 for a period of three years.

The matter has been the subject of negotiation for the past several months. Some time ago Hon Dougald MacKinnon, Minister of Industries and Natural Resources, P.A. Murnaghan, his deputy minister, and W. E. Agnew, Director of Trade for the Province went to Ottawa to discuss the matter with the Canadian Maritime Commission and Hon George Marler, Minister of Transport and some of his officials. At that time they conferred with Prince Edward Island members of Parliament and also with Newfoundland members, all of whom were ready to co-operate in any way possible.

Since that time Premier A. W. Matheson has been in Ottawa and has conferred with the Commission and the Department of Transport on the proposal. J. Watson MacNaught, M.P. Parliamentary assistant to the Minister of Fisheries, Neil A. Matheson, M. P. and T. J. Kickham, M. P., have all been keeping in close touch with the problem since it was first proposed.

The Fergus will make three trips monthly and will call at St. Johns and Cornerbrook. The boat has been in service this summer and has considerably more capacity than the Blue Prince which has been operating on this service for the past four years.

The Provincial Government has been taking an annual loss on the service in recent years and the loss was particularly heavy last year, a spokesman for the Department of Industry and Natural Resources told The Guardian last night.

The Blue Prince is owned by the Blue Peter Steamships Co. Ltd of St. John's, Newfoundland.

The Federal Government did pay a subsidy on the Prince Edward Island - Newfoundland service some years ago. At that time the boat providing the service was operated by the Clarke Steamships Company but the service was not always satisfactory because it was often pretty well loaded before it reached Charlottetown.

Travel Bookings Said Heavy For Three-Day Labor Holiday

TORONTO (CP) — Despite rain and generally poor weather during the last few days, travel bookings for the three-day Labor Day holiday weekend are heavy, perhaps the heaviest ever, transport officials said Friday.

All major transportation companies say they will draw on extra equipment to cope with the expected volume.

Canadian National Railways was expecting the heaviest volume of passengers for any Labor Day weekend.

Extra trains and equipment would be put in service on the most popular routes.

The Canadian Pacific Railway also will have extra equipment in service, particularly on the Montreal and Detroit runs.

Air line bookings, too, are heavy and TCA says it will have eight extra flights to New York, Cleveland, Montreal, Winnipeg and Northern Ontario cities, as well as 25 extra flights on other routes.

Although bad weather had resulted in irregular travel for the last few days, normal conditions were expected for the weekend.

62ND HOLIDAY

Meanwhile, in many Canadian communities labor groups are preparing their annual celebrations for thousands who will spend their weekend at home.

Most labor groups are to hold parades displaying the working man's pride in craftmanship and demonstrating his place in society.

This will be the 62nd annual Labor Day holiday since 1894 when the federal Parliament passed legislation making it a statutary holiday.

Since then organized labor has celebrated on the first Monday in each September, instead of May Day, the traditional labor holiday in Europe.

Police say all highway patrols are to be reinforced as is usual during holiday weekends.

Last year 55 of the 81 persons killed dring the Labor Day holiday died in traffic accidents.

Six Survivors Of Alaska Crash Arrive In Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—A bare 36 hours after they took off for Tokyo six survivors of the ill-fated Canadian Pacific Airliner returned Friday to Vancouver airport.

They left in Alaska the remaining survivor, Capt. Thornton Tweed, pilot of the plane who was too seriously injured to be moved south, and the bodies of 15 other occupants of the trans - Pacific DC6-B which plunged into a tidal marsh at remote Cold Bay, Alaska early Thursday.

Among the weary survivors numbed by an almost miraculous escape, there was high praise for stewardess Dolores Jordan, 26, of Calgary and Burnaby, B.C., one of their number.

The party returned with nurses and a doctor on the Empress of Tokyo, sister-ship of the stricken plane, which Thursday took CPA officials and medical aid to the scene of the crash.

Another plane was chartered to bring back bodies of the victims and was expected late Friday.

Stewardess Raymonde Ouelette, who flew on the Tokyo's mercy mission, said she learned from survivors how Miss Jordan took Sharon Edelstein, 16, and her sister Patricia, 8, from the wrecked airliner and through the marshland to safety.

THROWN FROM WRECK

"She saw they were in mud and water so she grabbed lifejackets, put them on the two youngsters and helped them out of the plane and towards dry land," Miss Ouelette said.

York Chan, 21, only other passenger to survive the crash which took lives of two cousins travelling with him to Hong Kong, told how he was thrown out of the plane and landed, still in his chair, in the marsh. He escaped injury.

The Edelstein girls, flying to join their father who is CPA manager in Hong Kong, were among first to get off the rescue plane. They were hustled from the airport by their mother.

Last off the airliner was second officer Robert Love, 28, of Victoria who has a possible fractured leg, and navigator Robert Short of Vancouver who suffered collapsed lung, fractured ribs and bruises. They were carried on stretchers to waiting ambulances.

Dr. Neil Stewart, CPA medical officer who flew on the mercy mission, said Capt. Tweed was flown to hospital at Kodiak, Alaska, in serious condition with skull fracture.

DENIES PLANE ABLAZE

Vice-President R. B. Phillips of CPA, the airlines operations chief, woh flew to the crash scene, denied in a statement from Cold Bay reports which said the airliner was in flames before it struck the ground.

The statement also said:

"Contrary to previous reports, the aircraft did not make two landing attempts. According to witnesses in the Cold Bay control tower, the airliner passed over the landing runway on the downwind leg of a routine radio range approach.

"The aircraft was in the clear, well under the cloud ceiling, and with visibility of approximately three miles. The pilot then started to make the normal left turn preliminary to his final landing run into the wind.

"It was at this point that the aircraft was seen to lose altitude and struck the ground."

The CPA's 20-man investigation team remained at the crash scene to make detailed reports. The United States Civil Aviation authority will conduct an official public inquiry.

U. S. Weather Plane Crashes

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—A U.S. ir Force weather observation B-50 crashed Friday on a sandy island in the Susitna River and a military spokesman said it is feared all of the 11 men aboard were killed.

An air force spokesman said five bodies had been recovered by a rescue team which flew to the crash site, about 50 miles northwest of Anchorage.

Maj. John Orr, air force information officer, said a search is being made for the posibility of parachutes.

At least parts of the wreckage were reported to have burned. Battered wreckage was strewn over a wide area.

The plane belonged to the 58th Weather Reconnaissance Squadron which flies from Elelson air force base, 26 miles from Fairbanks. It is a unit that runs regular flights over the North Pole in one direction and out over the Aleutians and the Bering Sea to the southwest.

Russian Says Contacts With Canadians Growing Warmer

OTTAWA (CP) — Soviet Fisheries Minister Alexander A. Ishkov said Friday his relations and contacts with Canadians have grown warmer during each day of his Canadian visit.

Mr. Ishkov spoke briefly to reporters through an interpreter on his arrival here by air in a transport department aircraft from Saint John, N.B., for a three-day visit to the capital.

He was accompanied on the flight from Saint John by Canadian Fisheries Minister Sinclair and Dmitri Chuvahin, Russian ambassador to Canada. At the airport he was met on behalf of the Canadian government by Veterans Minister Lapointe.

HOW "VERY BEST"

Mr. Ishkov was asked to give reporters his impression of what he has seen to date of Canada.

"We feel that our relations and contacts with Canadians are growing warmer with every day of our stay," he said.

He was also asked what he thinks of Trade Minister Howe, whom he has invited to visit Russia. Mr. Howe has accepted the invitation but has not indicated when he will make the trip.

Mr. Ishkov described Mr. Howe as "very energetic and very virile."

"He's the very best," he said.

Mr. Ishkov said it is not his present intention to invite Prime Minister St. Laurent to visit Russia.

PRESS REPORTS ACCURATE

In reply to another question, he said Canadian officials have shown members of his party everything they have asked to see. He added that press reports have accurately reflected statements he has made in this country.

Mr. Ishkov will be in Ottawa until Sunday morning when he will fly to St. Catharines, Ont., from where he will motor to Niagara Falls, Ont. He will return to Ottawa by air Monday night and will confer Tuesday with officials of the fisheries department.

Mr. Sinclair will be host at a fish luncheon Tuesday in the fisheries department kitchens in the west block of the Parliament Buildings. On Tuesday night Mr. Ishkov will be guest of honor at a government dinner at the Country Club.

TEXAS MOB GETS OUT OF CONTROL

School Segregation Riot

By IRWIN FRANK

MANSFIELD, Tex. (AP) — A mob broke out of control Friday and roughed up photographers and an assistant district attorney as Mansfield residents kept their vow to bar Negroes from their high school.

While the mob action was at its highest, the U.S. fifth district court of appeals turned down a plea by the school board's attorney for a postponement of desegregation until next year. An appeal to the Supreme Court is expected.

There were these other developments:

1. Governor Allan Shivers ordered Texas Rangers to co-operate with local officers and "to arrest anyone, white or colored, whose actions are such as to represent a threat to the peace at Mansfield."

2. A lawyer for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People sought to register three Negro students by telegram, but the school superintendent, saying he was acting on lawyer's advice, rejected registration by mail.

ASKS FEDERAL AID

L. Clifford Davis, Fort Worth Negro lawyer representing the NAACP, who carried the whole Mansfield case successfully through the court, wired United States Attorney - General Herbert Brownell Friday, relating what was happening, and asking for federal help.

The school will not open again until next Tuesday.

Trouble started Thursday, first day of registration for the fall term. A mob ranging un to 300 persons appeared at the school but no violence occurred.

Some members threatened to use guns if officers sought to take Negroes into the school.

Friday the mob started gathering by 7 a.m., an hour before registration time, and swelled to 400 by mid-morning.

This was the day Negroes would have registered, because the 12 involved live outside the city limits and this was rural registration day. No Negroes appeared either day, and they were noticeably absent from Mansfield streets. The town has a total population of 1,450.

Violence broke out when assistant district attorney Grady Hight, a county official, walked toward the school building. Owen Metcalf a laborer who was given leadership of the mob by consent, said he understood second-hand that High made a remark to the effect that the demonstration was "silly."

REPORTER STANDS GROUND

Almost instantaneously, the mob swirled and packed around Hight. The men shouted at and cursed him. When he tried to break away the mob began shoving Hight.

Two officers broke through the crowd and rescued him. He was white and shaken.

One man grabbed a photographer's camera to keep him from taking pictures. Gordon Yoder, Telenews photographer from Dallas, sought to take pictures of this incident, and his camera either fell or was knocked to the ground.

Saying, "I've had enough," Yoder left, amid jeers from the mob

This reporter was ordered to "get out of here" by one of the men. "We don't want reporters around," another shouted. This reporter stood his ground and there was no attempt at violence against him.

Five of the 12 Negro high school students in the district went to Fort Worth Friday to register in the Negro school they attended last year. They were told to return Tuesday.

Monday being Labor Day and a statutory holiday, the next issue of The Guardian will be Tuesday, Sept. 4.
