Dwarfs and Poison.

Henry M. Stanley, in describing his journey through the forests of Africa, says that the most formidable foes he encountered, those that caused the greatest loss of life to his caravan and came nearest to defeating his expedition, were the Wambutti dwarfs.

These diminutive men had only bows and arrows for weapons, so small that they looked like children's playthings, but upon the tip of each tiny arrow was a drop of poison which would kill an elephant or a man as surely and quickly as a rifle. Their defense was by means of poison and traps.

They would steal through the dense forest, and waiting in ambush let fly their arrows before they could be discovered. They dug ditches and carefully covered them over with sticks and leaves. They fixed spikes in the ground and tipped them with poison. Into these ditches and on these spikes man and beast would fall or step to their death. One of the strangest things about it was that their poison was mixed with honey.

The Sequel to the Joke.

Many years ago a visitor to Edinburgh was being shown over the high court of judicature. He made some remark concerning the dock and its duties, and in reply the official jokingly said the visitor might one day be sentenced to be hanged in that very room. The sightseer was the notorious Dr. Pritchard. Two years had barely passed when in the dock he had so closely inspected he was doomed to death for poisoning his wife and mother-in-law.—London Mail.

Judges in England have worn the peculiar wigs they now wear ever since the reign of Charles II.

The ancients took the owl for a symbol of wisdom because he always minds his own business.

"She Carries Her Heart on Her Sleeve"

What a boon to many a man or woman if this were literally so—How many spirits are broken because this particular organ is shackled by disease—and yet how many times has Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart brushed against the grim reaper and robbed him of his victim.

Diseases of the heart are by far the most treacherous of ailments which afflict humanity—ruthless to old and young alike—not insidious but violent, for when the heart fails the whole system suffers violence. Discussing causes here will not console the suffering one. The one great yearning of the heart-sickened patient is how to get relief and a cure. Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart stands pre-eminently to-day as the star of hope to sufferers from heart trouble, and so far past the experimental period that thousands to-day proclaim, in no uncertain sound, the belief that were it not for this great remedy they would have long ago passed into the great beyond.

Most eminent doctors, whom heart cases have baffled, have tested Dr. Agnew's claims, and to-day they prescribe it in their practice as the quickest and safest heart remedy known to medical science. What are the symptoms? Palpitation, fluttering, shortness of breath, weak and irregular pulse, swelling of feet and ankles, pain in the left side, chilly sensations, fainting spells, uneasiness in sleeping, dropsical tendency and as many more indications that the heart is deranged. Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart is a heart specific; and no case too acute to find relief from it inside of thirty minutes—a powerful cure.

Mrs. Jno. FITZPATRICK, of Gananoque, Ont., after having been treated by eminent physicians for heart disease of five years' standing, was discharged from the hospital as a hopeless incurable. She suffered from acute pain and palpitation, her feet and ankles swollen, and there was every tendency to the dropsical form of heart disease, but the lady procured Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart as she declared, as a last hope. One dose relieved her of a very acute spasm in less than thirty minutes, and three bottles cured her—not a symptom of the trouble remaining.

CONDUCTOR WILLIAM G. LUCAS, of the N. & W.R.R., and living at Hagarstown, Md., suffered for years with acute valvular form of heart disease—cost him many a "lay off" from his daily duties on the road, and he spent a small fortune in remedies and treating with heart specialists in promise of a cure, and all ended in disappointment, until a good friend, who had been benefited, recommended Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. He tried it, and found it gave him relief and comfort almost immediately. He continued its use until a few bottles were taken, and to-day he is well and strong, and says, "Tell all heart sufferers that I can highly recommend this great remedy."

DR. AGNEW'S OINTMENT cures eczema, salt rheum, tetter, scald head and all itching skin diseases: cures piles in three to five nights. 35 cents.

DR. AGNEW'S CATARRHAL POWDER relieves cold in the head or hay fever in ten minutes—will cure most stubborn and long standing catarrh cases quickly and permanently.

DR. AGNEW'S LIVER PILLS cure constipation, biliousness, sick headache, torpid liver—clear the skin. 40 doses, 20 cents.

Sold by Dr. S. W. Dold and Geo. E. Hughes, Druggists.

A Cemetery For Old Clothes.

In the north of London there is a little plot of ground where old clothes are buried and afterward exhumed for a curious purpose. It is a flat, barren and desolate piece of ground and presents a very melancholy spectacle. Little wooden stumps, bearing numbers, mark the graves.

There is a paper mill near by, which finds it rather difficult to get suitable material for the manufacture of a special paper.

The ordinary old rags are no good. The rags themselves have to be manufactured. Old coats, old trousers and old dresses are covered with wet soil, and after a few weeks' rotting are exhumed.

A corner is set aside for old linen goods. The linen is placed in layers in a box, with soft rich soil between each layer, and then buried.

Lime-water is then sprinkled over the grave, and after a fortnight's rotting the linen is reduced to a mere skeleton, which is taken out of the box, laid flat in a warm blanket and brushed off to the paper mill.

Though it is only the size of a football ground, it contains 2,000 graves, which are marked by 2,000 wooden stumps, each bearing a number.

MAXIMS ON LOVE.

With true love there is trust.—Regnier.
To love is only in the power of the wise.—Epictetus.

If passion drives, let reason hold the reins.—Benjamin Franklin.
Love and religion are both stronger than friendship.—Benjamin Disraeli.

Who has loved well will never seek the loved one's ill.—Calderon de la Barca.
A mother alone knows what it is to love and be happy.—Adelbert von Chamisso.

There is nothing in love but what we imagine.—Charles Augustin Sainte-Beuve.

Love and death are the two great sympathies on which all human sympathies turn.—B. R. Haydon.

Love, like fire, cannot subsist without continual motion, and ceases to exist as soon as it ceases to hope and fear.—Francis de la Rochefoucauld.

Love is the most terrible and also the most generous of the passions. It is the only one that includes in its dream the happiness of some one else.—Alphonse Karr.

Benefit of Peacage.

Every one may not know what the term "benefit of peacage" implies. A peer can demand a private audience of the sovereign to represent his views on matters of public welfare. For treason or felony he can demand to be tried by his peers. He cannot be outlawed in any civil action, nor can he be arrested unless for an indictable offense, and he is exempt from serving on juries. He may sit with his hat on in courts of justice, and should be liable to the last penalty of the law he can demand a silken cord instead of a hempen rope.

Practical Remedy.

Caller (with manuscript)—Then you can't use the poem? May I ask what it is?
Editor—Well, it lacks what might be called the true poetic fire.
Caller—Couldn't that be—ah—imparted to it some way?
Editor—Well, you might try sticking it in the stove.

Country girls in Spain seldom wear hats or bonnets of any kind. It was in Spain, by the way, that the custom of a bride wearing orange blossoms in her hair originated.

Disgusted.

Old Lady (to driver of growler)—Now, driver, I want you to go very carefully.

"Certainly, mum."
"And not go racing with other cabs."
"No, mum."
"And not go round the corners quickly."
"No, mum."

After the job the old lady, handing him the exact fare, a shilling, said: "You have driven me very carefully and well, and here is a shilling for you. Have you driven a cab all your life?"

"No, mum. I used to drive a horse, and best if I don't go back to it. It's a better game than this. I hope I'll drive yer again, mum."—London Fun.

Poker Diet.

Daniel O'Connell's sarcastic and graphic description of a lady of stiff, cold and formal manners is very happy, "She has all the characteristics of a poker—except its occasional warmth."

This recalls the story of the two Irish servants who, discussing the stiff and unbending manners of the young lady of the family, agreed that "when she was a baby her mother must have fed her upon boiled pokers, underdone!"—London Standard.

Supper is to Many Indispensible

And the question arises, a What should we eat, drink and avoid? Supper being late refreshment

We Should Avoid Anything and everything that does not comply with the following, simple Hygienic rules.

We Should Eat That which readily assimilates, and does not overtax the digestive powers during the night.

We Should Drink Only that which induces healthy sleep, without any reactionary depression in the morning.
