WOULD HAVE

will kill war." Pasteur held that future weapons would make war so destructive, that there would no longer be victors or vanquished, and the peoples of the world would therefore have to stop going to war.

"It is possible that we now are approaching the era foreseen by Pasteur," the committee says. "A country possessing 1,000 or less atom bombs and a few scores of biological weapons together with the means of delivering them all to their targets would have a permanent and sufficient potential for destruction to make the prospect of war practically impossible."

At present, it goes on, Western Europe is in no position to resist a Soviet attack. For lack of money, the signatories of the Brussels Pact (Britain, France and the Benelux countries) have been able to form only 15 of the 36 divisions they had planned on paper.

"It appears impossible to see how 15 or even 36 divisions could stem for long the advance of 250 Russian divisions," the committee declares.

Michael MacNeil was thrown through the windshield. Both MacNeils are miners and Campbell, who was asleep in the back seat at the time of the accident, is a student at the Nova Scotia Technical College in Halifax.

Mr. H. G. Burnham, strawberry purchasing agent for the Boston firm of Mason W. Alger Co., arrived in Charlottetown on Saturday on the annual trip for his company.

The berries purchased on Prince Edward Island are all shipped by this company via air, and Mr. Burnham expects the first plane load to leave tonight. This is the third year they have imported the island berries, and usually their purchases run close to the $40,000 mark.

Boston markets have a price of about forty cents on berries at present, and Mr. Burnham states that he expects to find a good crop on Prince Edward Island if the weather will hold fine until the berries are harvested. Prince Edward Island is the only Canadian Province from which they receive berries, and Mr. Burnham expects to be here for a week or ten days.

North Korean Spies Cause Serious Trouble

WITH AMERICAN FORCES IN KOREA, July 9.—(Reuters)—North Korean spies, changing their uniforms for white peasant clothing, are outflanking and observing American defence positions, two senior American formation commanders said today.

One said: "It's an old problem here. I saw 12 or 14 North Koreans enter a hut during an engagement Saturday. They emerged wearing white clothing and were taken on by four machine-guns."

In Sunday's fighting, I saw a group of peasants seated about two miles away from an American position on a flanking ridge overlooking the battlefield.

A young infantry officer instructed one man to try and frighten away the observers with a single shot. It did not work.

Then American machine-guns were brought to bear, and the observers scrambled. Two Korean peasants wear white trousers rolled just below the knees and a white shirt hanging outside the trousers.

Late Sunday, American troops were evacuating all natives from the possible battle area.

Here To Attend Diamond Jubilee

Most Rev. J. A. O'Sullivan, Archbishop of Kingston, (above) arrived in Charlottetown Saturday evening to be present for the Diamond Jubilee celebration of the ordination to the priesthood of Very Rev. A. A. McAulay, which takes place in St. Peter's, Bay tomorrow.

Archbishop O'Sullivan was Bishop of the Charlottetown Diocese for 13 years from 1931 until April 25, 1944. This is his first visit to the Island since he left for Kingston.

His Grace will preach the sermon at the Pontifical Mass celebrated by the Bishop on the day of Father McAulay's diamond jubilee celebration, Father McAulay was 60 years a priest on June 5 but the celebration was delayed until July 11.

Archbishop O'Sullivan is a native of Hamilton, Ontario where he was ordained in 1911 after studying in Grand Seminary, Montreal. He was attached to his native parish until 1921 when he was appointed Chancellor of the Hamilton Diocese. In 1925 he was made Rector of St. Augustine's Seminary, Toronto and in 1931 appointed Bishop of Charlottetown.

Squirrel Causes Uproar In Hotel

NEW YORK, July 9.—(AP)—A brass brown squirrel invaded the fashionable Sherry-Netherlands Hotel Saturday, and kept the main lobby in a turmoil for more than two hours.

The miscreant sent one man to a hospital with a cut lip. The squirrel, apparently from nearby Central Park, withstood the combined efforts of a platoon of bellboys, porters, clerks and hotel housekeepers to oust him.

It took an animal expert to do the job. The squirrel leaped to the shoulders of half a dozen of his would-be captors, but nobody could lay a hand on him.

Boost Telephone Rates In Ontario And Quebec

OTTAWA, July 9.—(CP)—The Bell Telephone Company has been authorized by the Board of Transport Commissioners to make an interim increase in rates in Ontario and Quebec, it was announced today.

The interim increase will amount to about 20 per cent on long distance, private line, extensions, service connections, and the like. It will remain in effect pending final disposition by the Board of the Company's application for an average increase of 20 per cent in rates.

The interim increase on exchange rates will amount to about 10 per cent. The Board's order, dated July 7, indicated that the interim increase will go into effect almost immediately.

But the Board said that as far as exchange rates go, there will have to be a comprehensive regrouping of exchanges before the interim increase will be applied.

The exchange rates are those that apply mainly to persons with telephones in their homes.

The Board said that on an annual basis, the rates and charges allowed are expected to yield an increase in revenues of approximately 16 per cent in lieu of the 20.6 per cent sought by the company.

However, as the first half of the year has passed, the amount of the increase from the new rates for the balance of the year will amount to about seven per cent.

The Board's order contained no examples of how the existing rates will compare with the increased rates.

The Telephone Company filed its application last October for permission to increase rates. Hearing of the application began before the Board on March 9 and continued until June 2. The company applied May 9 for permission to make an interim increase ending final disposition of its main application.

Russian Paper Levels Sharp Charges At Lie

MOSCOW, July 9.—(AP)—The Literary Gazette Saturday levelled the strongest Russian attack yet made on Secretary-General Trygve Lie and the United Nations.

Commenting on Lie's role in the Korean case, the Gazette called him a stooge of Wall Street and an "abettor of American aggression" who is helping wreck the U. N.

Six members of the Security Council who voted for military aid to South Korea were called "bloody fools." The U. N. secretariat was declared to be riddled with agents of the American Federal Bureau of Investigation.

(The attack may wreck any prospect of Lie being re-elected. His five-year term is up early in 1951. The U. N. charter requires that the five permanent members of the Security Council—Russia, China, the United States, Britain and France—agree on a nomination. Though Lie has insisted he is not a candidate, the energetic Norwegian has been widely mentioned as possibly the only man on whom all five powers could agree. Russia has boycotted 30 U. N. agencies since Jan. 10, but maintains close contact with headquarters at Lake Success. Lie had no comment on the Gazette charges.)

The magazine mentioned the political situation, declaring Lie had abandoned his principles in the hope of being re-elected.

The Gazette is the organ of the Union of Soviet Writers and speaks with considerable authority. Its attack was in two articles. One listed as various kinds of "fools" all the delegates in the Security Council—except Nationalist China—who voted for the June 28 resolution to aid South Korea. Russia no longer recognizes Nationalist China.

London Prepares For Trucking Strike

LONDON, July 9.—(Reuters)—Thousands of soldiers and airmen today were drafted to London to be ready to man essential transport services if 30,000 of the capital's truck drivers strike tomorrow.

The stoppage, called by unofficial leaders in support of higher wages, is aimed at all forms of road transport, including food, coal and gasoline, but not buses or street-cars.

It has been condemned by Secretary Arthur Deakin of the Transport Union as Communist-inspired. Deakin's lieutenants were busy all day in an effort to persuade the drivers to ignore the wild-cat strike order.

More than 1,500 troops, some of the 2,700 who delivered London's meat last week when 4,000 meat truck drivers struck work, were camped in a London park. A fleet of 200 service vehicles was ready for them.

Special trains brought hundreds of airmen into the capital.

LONDON, July 5.—(AP)—Major Gen. Eric Hugh O'Donnell, former director of public relations to the War Office, died Tuesday. He was 57.

Pastor's Tribute

The Rev. Mr. Webster following the unveiling paid tribute to these men as follows:

"In this hour of Dedication we have sought to do honour to the men of this Congregation who have laid down their lives in the Second World War. It is becoming of us that we should do so. What we have done is little in comparison to what they have done for us. They gave their all for their country—their last and best gift of devotion for us and our fellowmen, that we might continue to enjoy the blessings of a free land, the blessings of peace, and justice equily and liberly."

"These men were known and beloved by us. They were dear to our hearts. They were part of us. They were forth bravely and courageously to do battle on the sea or land or in the air, knowing full well the price that might be required of them and yet they volunteered, not giving their lives for the sake of others. They had learned something of the real meaning of life—how to live and die sacrificially."

"To-day their loved ones and friends, as well as their comrades-in-arms, so many of whom, in the Providence of God, were spared and permitted to return to us, pay tribute to these brave young heroes of our homes and Church and community."

"In this beautiful window, which has been erected under the auspices of our Women's Auxiliary we seek to perpetuate their cherished memory. The central figure is that of the Risen Christ, reminding us of Him, who by His resurrection has brought life and immortality to all who trust in Him. Redeeming love and hope, because He came to live again. The flanking figures depict David and Jonathan with the words 'Faith and Valour' and 'Love and Loyalty'."

In the upper part of the window, the shields representing the Navy, Army and Airforce have been introduced one in each panel. In the lower centre panel we have the words 'Live by the sword, as you know, is the emblem of our Presbyterian Church—'Nec tamen consumebatur'—burning but not consumed. In the lower sections, left and right, are inscribed the names of the fourteen young men who went out from us but did not return. The inscription at the bottom reads 'The Glory of God, end in everlasting remembrance of those of this Church who died in defence of Justice, Liberty and Righteousness, 1939-1945.'"

"I heard a voice from Heaven, saying unto me; Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord, from henceforth, Yea, said the Spirit, that they may rest from their labours and their works do follow them."

The service was attended by Lt. Col. P. S. Fielding, representing Lieut. Governor J. A. Bernard, Hon. Premier J. Walter Jones, His Worship B. Earle MacDonald, and also by the Legion who attended in body. The armed services were represented by large groups from the local Navy and Army units and the R. C. A. F. at Summerside.

Taking as his text "Your Excuse for being Alive", Rev. Mr. Goforth based his discussion on the verses of the Second Chapter of Isaiah, "The Glory of God, end in everlasting remembrance of those of this Church who died in defence of Justice, Liberty and Righteousness, 1939-1945."
