Final Game Today

The New York Yankees with Yogi Berra at the helm fought back from the brink of elimination to down the St. Louis Cardinals 8-3 in the sixth game of the World Series and for a seventh game for this afternoon at Busch Stadium.

The Cardinals jumped into a 1-0 lead in the first inning and looked like they were going to bomb Jim Bouton off the mound, but the big youngster with the peculiar style fought hard to stay alive.

The Cardinals maintained their 1-0 margin until the fifth inning when Jim Bouton came up with a key single to aid his own cause by bringing the tying run across the plate.

Roger Maris unloaded with a well hit homer in the sixth inning to break the 1-1 deadlock and put the Yanks ahead 2-1. Mickey Mantle was the next batter and Mickey, not to be outdone by Maris, sent Simmons' first delivery out of the park and the American League champions were leading 3-1.

Johnny Keane needed a relief hurler and he sent out the call for Barney Shultz to relief Simmons. Weil Barney promply got the St. Louis squad into more trouble and had the bases loaded and the Yanks out in front 4-1 before Keane lifted him for Gord Richardson in the eighth. Joe Pepitone then broke loose for the first time in the series and belted a bases loaded homer off Richardson and put the icing on the cake for the Yankees; gunning them an 8-1 bulge going into the final frame.

We thought that maybe we were suffering from an optical illusion when we saw Barney Shultz strolling to the mound to relieve Curt Simmons in yesterday's game. We kept remembering what happened to old Barney in the third game of the series, and couldn't imagine any difficult fate for the knuckleball artist, in this instance.

Johnny Keane is a lot better qualified to determine what is best for the St. Louis club then us, but we fail to understand his reasoning in bringing in the veteran hurler; unless he was making a stab in the dark, hoping that this is the day that Barney is in top form and will throw the Yankee's hitting barrage off with his knuckle ball.

Although, three runs is hardly enough to win a ball game we think that if Keane had been able to insert someone that was capable of holding the Yanks' power, even after the M and M boys had exploded with their back to back homers, that the Cardinals would have been world champions in six games. We were thinking of Roger Craig or possibly Ron Taylor.

Fastballer, Bob Gibson will likely get the nod for today's start on the St. Louis mound and Yogi Berra will be going with Mel Stottlemyre. Whitey Ford, veteran star of the yankees, is still ailing with a sore heel and is a doubtful performer in the final game of the fall classic.

We called for the Cards to emerge victorious after seven games and we think we are in pretty good shape going into the crucial game. We feel that if Gibson is rested sufficiently there will be no fear of seeing a repeat of what happened yesterday. Anything can happen in a ball game and whatever way it goes today we have watched two great ball clubs in a great series.

Tid Bits From Here And There

The Ed Hilton coached St. Dunstan's university football team will travel to Wolfville, N.S. this Saturday where they will tangle with Acadia University in their third game of the season in the Atlantic Football Conference. The Saints were nipped 6-0 in their opening tilt by the league leading Stadacona Sailors; but were clobbered 53-6 by Gus MacFarlane's Mount Allison Mounties at Sackville last Saturday. The Saints coach said that the score was not a true picture of the strength of the two teams. The St. Dunstan's team just had a bad day and didn't play well at all. Ron Cote who missed Saturday's game due to injury will be back in the Hilton line-up this Saturday when they go against the Axemen.

Saint John boxer Jackie Burke has been signed to fight for the vacant Canadian Bantamweight Championship. The 21-year-old former Maritime Golden Gloves champion will meet Johnny Devision of Glace Bay, N.S. in a 12 round title bout to be held in New Glasgow, N.S. Announcement of the fight was made in Saint John by Burke's trainor, Maritime heavyweight champion Ron Brothers. Burke has had only two professional fights.

Ted Lindsay, who captained the Detroit Red Wings during the "glory years" of the 1950's announced Wednesday that he is coming out of retirement to play with the Red Wings. I guess Ted figured when he sees what the Toronto Maple Leafs have been doing with players who played in his era such as Red Kelly, Allan Stanley and Johnny Bower that he is still capable of giving the present Red Wings club a shot in the arm.

Tackle Bill Frank, a major cog in the British Columbia Lions vaunted offence, has been dismissed by the Western Football Conference club. A statement from the club said simply that Frank had been suspended for his second violation of training rules. Earlier this month Frank, 26 was fined $350.00 for impaired driving. The Lions later fined him an aditional $500.00 and placed him on a strict curfew. Club literature says this of him: "In the short time he has been in the league Bill has earned the reputation of being one of the toughest, roughest and most respected linesmen in the CFL."

Pauli Nevali, a 24 year old strongman from Finland, won the javalin throw yesterday at the Tokyo games to give his country its first gold medal of the 1964 games. Nevali a rank outsider, won with a throw of 82.66 metres 271 feet, 2½ inches.

Pepitone Hits Grand Slam; Yanks Defeat Cards 8-3

By JACK HAND

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The slumbering New York Yankee power awoke with a grand - slam home run by Joe Pepitone and back-to-back blasts by Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle in an 8-3 victory behind Jim Bouton Wednesday that squared the World Series with St. Louis Cardinals at three games each.

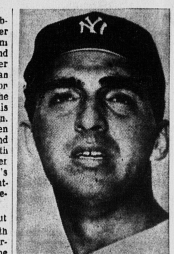
Maris and Mantle broke open a 1-1 duel between Bouton and 35-year-old Curt Simmons with a flash of old Yankee thunder in the sixth inning. Pepitone's slam atop the roof of the right-field pavilion climaxed a five-run burst in the eighth.

Until the M and M boys cut loose on Simmons in the sixth it had been a rerun of Saturday's battle between the same two pitchers, won by Mantle on a ninth - inning homer off reliever Barney Schultz.

It was Schultz again in this sixth game who was roughed up in the eighth although Pepitone's clout came off Gordon Richardson, a lanky left hander.

Bouton, a strong youngster who throws himself at the plate with every pitch, finally needed relief help from lefty Steve Hamilton to put out a last-gasp Card rally in the ninth. It was Bouton's second victory in a series that goes down to today's decisive seventh game.

Until Wednesday, nobody had hit back - to - back homers in series play since Babe Ruth and



JOE PEPITONE

Lou Gehrig accomplished the feat in 1928 and 1932.

LANDS ON PAVILION

Maris' drive to right was barely fair down the line and landed atop the pavilion. Before the crowd of 30,805 at Busch Stadium had settled down, Mantle drove Simmons' next pitch into the screen over the 322-mark in right. The ball stuck in the screen, gleaming in the bright sunshine.

Bouton, losing his cap periodically as he finished up with his hard follow through, had to get the base hit that squared matters in the fifth after giving up a Card run in the first inning.

Singles by the speedy Curt Flood and Lou Brock, the first two men to face Bouton, put men on first and third with none out. When Bill White rapped into a double play, Flood scored.

That run looked big as Simmons handcuffed the Yanks with his change-up and fine control until Tom Tresh bounced a ground - rule double into the stands in left field to open the fifth.

Simmons, working carefully, struck out Pepitone and made Clete Boyer roll out. But Bouton took a ball and then hit a change-up pitch into left for a single that scored Tresh with the tying run.

Then came the quick flashes by the M and M boys in the old tradition of Ruth and Gehrig. It was the fourth time players had hit homers in succession in a series. Mantle's blow plus a walk in the eighth, boosted his series total bases to a record 120, erasing a mark held by Yank manager Yogi Berra.

KEANE PULLS SIMMONS

It was still tight at 3-1 when the Yanks came up in the eighth but Cardinal manager Johnny Keane had yanked Simmons after the two homers and had to pinch hit for reliever Ron Taylor of Toronto, who succeeded Simmons.

Schultz, a knuckleball expert who played an important part in the Cards' National League pennant drive, simply did not have it.

Phil Linz singled to open the eighth and moved along on Bobby Richardson's sacrifice bunt. After Maris went out, Mantle was walked intentionally. Elston Howard contributed a single to centre, scoring Linz. After Tom Tresh walked on a 3-2 count, loading the bases, Keane replaced Schultz with Richardson.

Pepitone, booed soundly early in the game as a reminder of the controversial hit batsman incident in the second game at Busch Stadium, took the count to 2-2 and hit his grand-slam homer atop the right-field roof.

The Cards came back with a run in the eighth on a walk to Flood, Brock's double and an infield out by White.

In the ninth, after Mike Shannon and Jerry Buchek singled Berra took out Bouton and brought in Hamilton. Bob Skinner's pinch single scored Shannon, but Hamilton made Flood rap into a game - ending double play.

BERRA REMOVES BOUTON

Berra said Bouton's shoulder had tightened up a bit and he removed him to prevent further injury.

Mel Stottlemyre, 22-year-old rookie who won the second game and started the fifth, lost by Pete Mikkelsen in relief, will pitch for the Yanks in the seventh game. Berra said Whitey Ford, still troubled by a sore right heel, would have pitched the seventh if he had been all right.

Keane said Bob Gibson will pitch the seventh game if he looks okay in warmup action.

"I don't like to pitch a man with only two days rest," he said. "But I am leaning toward Gibson.

"Gibson is stiff all over but I am sure he will be all right tomorrow."

Hawks Defeat Bruins As Hall Gets Shutout

CHICAGO (AP) — Goalie Glenn Hall kicked out 32 shots as the Chicago Black Hawks blanked the Boston Bruins 3-0 in a National Hockey League opener here Wednesday night.

The loss was the second of the year for the Bruins, who opened the season Monday night against New York.

Rookie left wing John Brenneman started scoring for Chicago late in the first period when he rammed a rebound of Chico Maki's shot behind Bruins' netminder Ed Johnston.

Centre Phil Esposito put the Hawks out front 2-0 early in the middle frame when he carried the puck three - quarters of the ice and beat Johnston with a backhander from 15 feet out.

The third Chicago goal came in the final period when Johnny McKenzie poked in a rebound of a shot by rookie Doug Robinson.

The shutout was the 59th of his career for the veteran Hall who was starting his 11th NHL campaign.

He was bothered early in the game, when a rash of penalties kept the Hawks short - handed much of the way and again in the final frame when Pierre Pilote and Al MacNeil served successive penalties, called at 6:54 and 14:12.

Ted Lindsay Out Of Retirement

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings announced Wednesday that Ted Lindsay, the highest - scoring left wing in Detroit and National Hockey League history, is coming out of retirement and will play this season with Detroit.

Lindsay, 39, played 16 years in the NHL, 13 with Detroit and three with Chicago. He retired in the summer of 1960 and has been out of hockey for four years.

Manager - Coach Sid Abel explained that Lindsay has been working out every day since training camp opened last month.

The two former linemates had several talks concerning a possible comeback for Lindsay and agreed to wait until Lndsay got back into playing shap, Abel said.

Kelly Returns To Maple Leafs

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League completed the 1964-65 roster Wednesday when centre Leonard (Red) Kelly returned from the Olympic games in Tokyo and signed a contract.

Kelly, 37, will dress for Leafs' opening game Thursday in Detroit against the Red Wings, runners up last season to Leafs for the Stanley Cup championship.

Kelly, Liberal Member of Parliament for York West, was the official Canadian representative at the opening of the Olympics last weekend

Kennedy Fined $50

MONTREAL (CP)—The National Hockey League fined six players $50 each Wednesday for a brawl that erupted in an exhibition game Oct. 4 between Boston Bruins and New York Rangers.

Reg Fleming and Ted Green, both of Boston, were fined an additional $100 each for keeping the brawl going.

The $50 fine, automatic for game misconducts, also fell on Forbes Kennedy of the Bruins and Rod Seiling, Dave Richardson and Earl Ingarfield of the Rangers.

The brawl broke out at 4:57 of the third period. Boston defeated New York 8-1.

An NHL spokesman, announcing the fines on behalf of league President Clarence Campbell, said fining in exhibition games is somewhat unusual although he understood it has happened before.

Billy Cooper Is Rookie Of Year

REGINA (CP) — Halfback Billy Cooper of Winnipeg Blue Bombers was named Wednesday as Rookie of the Year in the Western Football Conference.

Bob Gillies, WFC secretary, said Cooper, a product of St James Rods, was 'away ahead" of three others who were tied for second.

Cooper, 19 years old, won in the balloting over fullback Henry Dorsch of Saskatchewan Roughriders and two members of Edmonton Eskimos, halfback Marcel Deleeuw, a product of Edmonton junior football, and end Barry Mitchellson, a draft choice from the University of Western Ontario.

Spanish Boxer Disqualified

TOKYO (AP) — Valentin Loren, the Spanish featherweight boxer who punched a referee after he had been disqualified, was banned Wednesday from Olympic and international amateur boxing for life. His second at the fight, Santa Cruz Palente, was suspended for the remainder of the Tokyo Olympics.

Badges Given At Meeting

A dinner meeting of the provincial A.A.U. of C. track and field committee was held at the Island Motor Lodge last night at which thirteen athletes, all members of the Islanders Track and Field Club who met national standards in track and field events in the past year, were presented with A.A.U of C. badges.

The following athletes were presented with badges: Alf Groom, Bob Simmond, Heather MacLean, Robert Smith, Joe Cheverie, Robert Waugh, Fran Whitlock, George Cheverie, Paul MacWilliams, Andy Arsenault, Bill Bishop, Arlis Belland and Dave Lapp. Brief reports were given by Jack Kane, Mercer Mullins, Charles Ballem, James Hogan and Dave Boswell.

The Islanders Track Club has won several of the major track and field events in the Maritimes in the past two years and this year won the Open Provincial Championships in Summerside and the Maritime Meet in Charlottetown. Track and field has improved greatly in P.E.I. in the past few years due to the better facilities, coaches and better competition and the increased interest in track and field in the physical education program in schools in P.E.I.

Sleeping Giants Come Alive

We hate stories with sad endings. That was the kind of show we saw on television yesterday. Joe Pepitone was the big villain of the drama with his grand slam homer in the eighth. Back-to-back homers by Maris and Mantle was another of those rare events in this series which seems to have so many oddities. Can you imagine how a pitcher must feel after having two homers in a row hit off his deliveries? Bill White must be talking to himself by now, and not using very choice language. A hitter of White's reputation getting one measley infield hit in 23 tries is hard to understand. Never mind, White is over due, and it shouldn't surprise anyone if his bat makes a shambles of the Yankee's cause today. We're counting on the law of averages, but hope it don't apply in the case of Maris. Roger has been another sleeping giant, until the sixth game, that is. Let's hope he'll go back to sleep again after that homer. Both Richardson and McCarver have a chance to break that "12 hits in a series" record. Richardson has 11, we believe, and McCarver has ten.

Three Maritime Crowns For Island

On the local scene the news is more pleasant. Summerside has come up with two Maritime championships over the Thanksgiving week-end. There were three Maritime crowns won on the Island, Charlottetown Juveniles taking a baseball title. Enman Drug won the same crown (Senior "B" Softball) as MacKenzies did two years ago, and a number of the boys were on both teams. Incidentally, each team beat Glace Bay for the title.

The Summerside Legionnaires achieved a rare feat in winning the junior hockey and baseball Maritime titles in the same year. It would be interesting to know how many times this has been accomplished in the Maritimes, and when? While congratulating all the boys who were on the Legionnaires and Enman Drug teams, we give a special salute to the three boys who were members of both our hockey and baseball Maritime championship teams. These boys are Paul MacWilliams, Gerry Smith, and Alan Gaudet. Not many athletes can boast of such an accomplishment, and we think there should be a special crest for such a double achievement. Well, here's a parody to commemorate the junior victory. The tune is "Take Me Out To The Ball Game."

ODE TO THE JUNIORS

Three "hip-hips" for the juniors,
Cheer our proud Legionnaires.
Take Paul MacWilliams, their pitching ace,
With his fireball they couldn't keep pace,
And Gerry Smith is another
They've also got Jackie Pate.
With those boys it's three strikes, you're out when You're at that plate.

Three "hip-hips" for the juniors,
Cheer those Maritime champs.
At the hot corner "Duck" Gunning stands.
That boy sure has a slick pair of hands.
And there's George McNeil with his big bat,
And brother Brian on deck.
With the Mathesons, David and Wayne, other teams they wreck.

Three "hip-hips" for the Juniors,
And coach Henry Gallant.
Circus catches are easy for Lip,
And let's not forget Darryl Newson,
Rich Allen, Rich Perry too.
Gary Somers makes up the lot,
a courageous crew.
