By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Stan Musial broke all major league records by hitting five home runs in one doubleheader Sunday to zoom into the 400 class with his St. Louis Cardinals had settled for a split with the New York Yankees.

Musial hit three in the first game, won by the Cards 10-6, and two more in the second, won by New York, 9-7, on the biggest day of his brilliant career. Never before had he hit three homers in one game.

This terrific batting feat also tied a major league record for homers hit in consecutive games on different days. Ralph Kiner did it in 1949 and Don Mueller, Ty Cobb, Tony Lazzeri and Cap Anson once each.

Six men had hit four in a doubleheader before Musial broke the record. Earl Averill of Cleveland, Jimmy Foss of the Philadelphia Athletics, Jim Tabor of the Boston Red Sox, Bill Nicholson of the Chicago Cubs, Gus Zernial of the Chicago White Sox and Kiner had done the trick.

SIX FOR SEVEN
At the end of the day, Musial had six hits in seven official at bats, including one single, and had walked twice. He had hit for 21 total bases, driven in nine runs and scored six runs.

There were other homers too, a total of 12 in the two games.

Philadelphia sneaked into the National League lead by shading Cincinnati, 4-3, on Bob Miller's stout relief pitching and Del Ennis' home run. A scheduled second game was called off. The opener had been delayed for one hour and 32 minutes by rain in the middle of the eighth.

Pittsburgh and Chicago slugged away, banging out a total of eight homers while dividing a doubleheader. The Cubs took the first, 5-3, with Hank Sater driving in three runs on a homer and single.

Pittsburgh scored eight in the first inning of the second game on the way to a 10-0 triumph, called after eight innings due to darkness. Sauer hit two more in the second.

The total of 12 home runs by National League clubs was high for the season but it didn't touch the record of 25 set by the league.

in seven games, July 16, 1950. The all-time record for both leagues in a day is 40, set May 30, 1950, with all teams playing doubleheaders.

A single game, Brooklyn at Milwaukee, was rained out.

SOX HOLD LEAD
The American League was relatively quiet with only four home runs in the entire afternoon. The Baltimore at Boston doubleheader was washed out.

Chicago clung to first place by splitting two in Philadelphia. After Don Johnson blanked the A's with two hits, 4-0, with the help of homers by rookie Bill Wilson and Chico Carrasquel, the Athletics came back to pull out the second, 2-1, on Elmer Valo's first hit of the year, a pinch single in the ninth.

Cleveland swept two from Washington, 6-4 and 6-3 in 10 innings. Fine relief pitching by Ray Narleski and Hal Newhouser held off the Senators in the opener. Wally Welke's double with the bases loaded in the 10th inning nailed down the second game after the Indians rallied to tie with two out in the ninth.

The New York Yankees staged their biggest inning of the season, scoring six times in the third inning of a 12-4 opening victory over Detroit, but Billy Hoelsh shut them out with the hit, 4-0, in the second game that was cut to five innings by darkness. Andy Carey's double with two out in the fifth robbed the young Tiger of an abbreviated no-hitter.

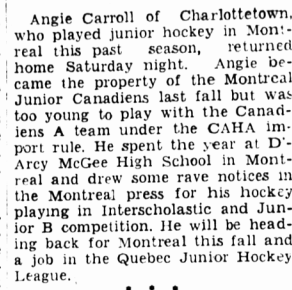

PITCHES ONE-HITTER
In the American League Saturday, Virgil Trucks pitched a one-hitter, fourth of the major league season, as Chicago White Sox defeated Boston 3-0. Detroit's 16-hit attack and Steve Gromek's fourth pitching defeated Washington 6-1.

George Strickland drove in three runs and Early Wynn gave up six hits for his second victory as Cleveland defeated New York Yankees 10-2. Philadelphia Athletics edged Baltimore 2-1 on rookie Jim Finigan's run-producing 10th-inning single.

In the National League, Cincinnati won 7-6 over Brooklyn with Johnny Temple singling home the winning run in the 11th. Granny Hamner's 400-foot double in the 10th scored two runs and gave Philadelphia Phils a 4-3 win over Milwaukee and a sweep of their three-game series.

Hank Sauer batted in three runs with a double and his fifth homer to help Johnny Klippstein and Chicago Cubs to a 4-3 victory over New York Giants. St. Louis beat Pittsburgh 5-4 with a bases-loaded fly by Rip Repulsin bringing in the winning run.

Angie Carroll of Charlottetown, who played junior hockey in Montreal this past season, returned home Saturday night. Angie became the property of the Montreal Junior Canadiens last fall but was too young to play with the Canadiens. He spent the year at D-Arcy McGee High School in Montreal and drew some of his hockey playing in interscholastic and Junior B competition. He will be heading back for Montreal this fall and a job in the Quebec Junior Hockey League.

Woman Wrestler Tough Customer

BOMBAY, (AP) — Hundreds in Baroda watched Sunday as Hamida Banu, a woman wrestler, beat Bab Pahlawan, a male matman, in her third bout to decide who should be her husband.

The heavyweights clashed with the promise by the woman to marry him if he got the better of her and an undertaking by Pahlawan to retire from the wrestling arena if he went down before her.

The bout lasted one minute and 34 seconds, when the woman won a fall and the referee declared him out of Hamida's wedding range. Pahlawan immediately announced he had had his last match.

He was the third wrestler to undertake the strange wooing of Hamida who since February has downed two other men wrestlers, Khadga Singh, a Sikh, and another Hindu from Calcutta.

McGill swept the relay team section taking first place in the 300-yard medley relay, the 200-yard relay and the 400-yard relay.

In the final round, the Thai fighter, ranked as the No. 2 contender, drew blood from Carruthers' mouth.
