has taught us how to make the best Emulsion in the world; Experience has proved that this Emulsion is worthy of entire confidence. There are many imitations of Scott's Emulsion and all kinds of substitutes for it; but none equal it. If your doctor recommends you to take Cod-Liver Oil, or you know yourself that you need it, get SCOTT'S EMULSION; it is the best Cod-Liver Oil in the best form.

If we had your address we would send you a sample and a pamphlet telling more about it.

The Transvaal War

THE DIVINE HAND.

GREAT BRITAIN HAS A GREAT WORK TO DO FOR HUMANITY.

In Toronto, last Friday, the Rev. Mr. Johnson took his text from Genesis xiii, 8: "Let there be no striking between me and thee." He proceeded to show why there should be unity and harmony among those whose interests were common, such as the case with the fraternity whom he was addressing, the Sons of England. Such organizations had proved by their accumulating force that they were of divine origin, and should last. They were characterized by the same spirit as Christianity, fraternity, unity, helpfulness, and self-sacrifice. He denied that they were antagonistic to the Church; in fact, he knew from the power with which they sang the opening hymn that most of them were churchmen. They were helping to bring about that happy time when the lion and the lamb should lie down together. They had a common faith in Great Britain, which was simply Greater England. Were there any so stupid that they did not understand the work God had given England; were there any so deaf that they could not hear the message in the thunder rolling over South Africa? If so they cared not for their curses. The hand of God was upon England, guiding her.

The preacher referred to the war cloud hovering over America at the time of the Venezuela affair. Then Canada had half a million sons ready to defend her shores if need be—(applause) but, thank God, it was not necessary. Then came the war with Spain, and where was England? All prejudices laid aside, and while strictly preserving neutrality she was on the side of the States. She practically said, "We will see that you are not unrighteously interfered with." (Applause) That spirit sprang of God.

At that very hour a strong deputation from the Transvaal were seeking from the States anything that would be an insult to Great Britain. But not a single insult would be hurled at Great Britain. (Applause) It was impossible that there should be anything but perfect neutrality on the part of the United States. If men would look into the heavens they would see written across the very skies that the God who has taken care of our beloved Sovereign for 81 years was the same God who had poured out upon Great Britain evidences of His leadership. Had they not good reason to be proud of Great Britain? He never heard a patriotic strain but he thanked God he was a son of England.

BRITONS AND AMERICANS.

The fifth annual dinner of the British Schools and University Club was given a few nights ago at the Holland house, New York. There were 100 guests. The president of the club proposed toasts to the Queen, the President of the United States, and the Prince of Wales, which were drunk by the guests.

The Queen's message to the club was as follows:—"The Queen sincerely thanks you for your kind message of loyalty and good will."

Rudyard Kipling sent this:—"Good luck to you and ourselves, and the rest of us everywhere."

Joseph Chamberlain cabled:—"I regret that American opinion should be divided on the subject of the war, in which we are now engaged, although I hope the majority recognize in our policy and proceedings the same spirit and object which animated them during the Spanish-American war. Our sympathy on that occasion was freely given to our kinsmen in the United States, and I find it difficult to believe that it is not cordially reciprocated in our own time of trial."

The Right Hon. Professor Max Muller wrote:—"The ignorant abuse of England is certainly a crime. But Gentlemen,—While driving down very steep hill last August my horse stumbled and fell, cutting himself fearfully about the head and body. I used MINARD'S LINIMENT freely on him and in a few days he was as well as ever.

does it come from the educated classes? I have many friends in America, but only one who stands for the Boer Dutch. We can spare the Boers, but not the English. The Saxons of Germany, England, and the United States—these are my trio. No dog could bark if these three stood together."

Hon. W. E. H. Leck wrote:—"I do not think the present unhappy war could have been avoided, and I do not think that if Americans had been in our place they would have shown more patience—I doubt whether they would have shown as much as we did."

Professor Sir Richard Jobb stated:—"The issue at stake is this? Shall the dominant power in South Africa be an oligarchy like that at Pretoria, under which the rights of citizenship are confined to one race, and aliens remain the pariahs of a rude and unprogressive society. It has been a source of deep satisfaction to us to observe that the true issue has been rightly appreciated by so much of all that is best and soundest in the public opinions of the United States."

A copy of the Standard and Diggers' News of Pretoria of the issue of April 9 has been received. The paper says that the Volksraad upon re-assembling was opened in painful silence, as the members present noted the many empty seats of those who had fallen on the field of battle. The cheerfulness characteristic of the re-assembling of the house was entirely absent. All seemed oppressed by the fact that they were assisting at the last session of the free Parliament of a free country.

Lady Sarah Wilson has cabled to her sister, Lady Georgiana Curzon, that she is a living skeleton, the result of the privations and wearing anxieties she underwent in Mafeking during the siege. She lost twenty-nine pounds in weight in two months; consequently her clothes hang on her in folds. She wants a new outfit of reduced size before leaving Cape Town.

The Transvaal National Bank has suspended gold payments under authorization from the Government requiring the acceptance of bank notes. The institution has large assets, apparently, in London. One hundred and fifty thousand pounds were seized at Cape Town and £25,000 at Durban. Mr. Lucas, chairman of the London committee of the bank, says:—"The Transvaal Government is laying hands on every ounce of gold it can find in the country. The Government has nothing to lose and everything to gain thereby. Financial circles here are interested in many indirect ways especially as to whether the Transvaal's I. O. U.'s will be redeemed."

It is reported from Cape Town that President Kruger has received a communication from Mr. Abraham Fischer, one of the Boer delegates now in the United States, advising him to surrender on the best terms obtainable from Lord Roberts.

It is also understood that when Lord Roberts crosses the Vaal river, he will issue a proclamation, announcing that if the Burghers return to their farms their property and stock will be respected.

Itching Piles

A Fearfully Bad Case—Much Pain and Acute Misery From the Terrible Itching—Cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

It is doubtful if any remedy ever received so much grateful, unsolicited testimony as Dr. Chase's Ointment. The reason is not far to seek, for it is the only preparation known to man which never fails to cure piles.

Mr. F. G. Harding, a retired farmer, living at Nilesstown, Middlesex County, Ont., writes as follows:—"I have been troubled with bleeding and itching piles for four or five years, and suffered almost intense agony at times. I had tried almost everything, but could get nothing that would give relief. On hearing of Dr. Chase's Ointment I procured a box, and it only required part of it to completely cure me. I am recommending it to all afflicted as I was."

Such incontrovertible evidence from responsible persons cannot, for a moment, be doubted. A few applications of Dr. Chase's Ointment will convince the most skeptical of its wonderful healing and soothing influence. A box or two will positively cure the most severe case of piles; 50 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.
