Cabinet Recieves Association Brief

A brief expressing concern over the depletion of the wild life on P.E.I. and urging the government to make a number of amendments to the Fish and Game Protection Act was presented to the Cabinet yesterday by Nelson E. Harry, of the P.E.I. Fish and Game Association and Wallace Rodd of the P.E.I. Tourist Association.

Among the suggested amendments were sections dealing with the establishment of hunting preserves and fishing preserves to be operated either as public preserves or private ones.

Another amendment asked for was the establishment of wildlife management areas to be under the direction of a director of the fish and wildlife division of the department of the industry and natural resources.

The brief pointed out the island because of its geographical location and pastoral atmosphere is uniquely able to act to preserve our wildlife heritage.

It also pointed out that the Fish and Game Protection Act as it now stands does not allow for a reasonable assessment of license fees or other methods of raising sufficient funds to carry out a balanced conservation and management program. Nor does it allow the scope or flexibility to take advantage of federal monies and cost sharing programs.

The brief expressed the opinion that the present method of conservation enforcement places an unfair burden on the RCMP, who often have neither the training nor the inclination for the dedication and specialized knowledge required for the proper implementation of the Act.

It also expressed the belief that trout farms and preserves, public and private game preserves could lengthen the tourist season on the island.

It urged the establishment of up-to-date and efficient methods of predator control and a program of public education to arouse the awareness of the public to the necessity of protecting our wildlife.

Ice Slows Crossing

Ferry boat crossings at Borden were slowed considerably yesterday due to heavy ice which moved into the Northumberland Strait Tuesday morning.

Average crossings were about two hours behind schedule in the afternoon with the S.S. P.E.I. making her crossing from Cape Tormentine in four hours.

A spokesman for Canadian National Railways said this was the first major hold up this winter.

Captain E.R. Pike, port captain at Borden, last night reported that ice began moving into the Strait Monday and by Tuesday morning ice jammed the strait two thirds across.

Reports indicated that heavy flows came down the strait Monday driven by north west winds of 40 gusting 45 miles per hour.

Conditions could change if the ice died off and the tide slackened.

Gifts Presented Retired Firemen

Helmets and boots have been laid aside, and four men who have answered the urgent call of the fire horn for the last time were honored with special gifts by a grateful fire department membership at the annual dinner of the Charlottetown Volunteer Fire Department last night.

The presentations were made to former Chief H. H. Jewell, Gerald Maddigan, Leslie Larier and Alfred Frizzell in the presence of their former mates and many civic dignitaries at Confederation Centre.

At the same time Mayor Walter J. Cox presented 25-year service watches on behalf of the City to Firemen Ralph Crockett and William Campbell.

ATTEND RECEPTION
One of the more pleasing functions of the young year, the firemen with their wives and guests attended a reception prior to the dinner, and then finished the evening with a dance in the lower foyer.

Among the guests were Mayor Walter J. Cox and Mrs. Cox, City Comptroller John Butler and Mrs. Butler, Water Commissioners Sidney Green and Mrs. Green and Earl Taylor and Mrs. Taylor, Chief of Police Sterns Webster and Mrs. Webster, RCMP Superintendent A. S. McNeill and Mrs. McNeill and several City Councillors including Mrs. Dorothy Corrigan, Arthur Wright, John Morris, Louis Johnston and Arthur Gormley.

Antagonism Is Real Problem Between Pulp, Lumbermen

MONTREAL (CP) - Competition and antagonism in eastern Canada between the pulp and paper and the lumber industries is a real problem in no easy solution, J. G. Burchill, of George Burchill and Sons of New Brunswick, said here Tuesday.

He was speaking at the 58th annual convention of the Canadian Lumbermen's Association. Government protection of big trees may be one approach, at least as a start, said Mr. Burchill.

"We're worth saving," he said. Small lumber firms bring foreign exchange into Canada, doing society a service.

Other delegates echoed Mr. Burchill. They said smaller lumbermen in eastern Canada must unite, if they are to compete successfully with their larger corporate brothers.

SUGGESTS POOL
Lumbermen should pool their expertise. Neighboring sawmills in a community, for example, could choose areas in which only one would become expert, and then combine to make an effective force in the industry.

One might become expert in engineering, his neighbor expert in industrial safety, money borrowing or labor negotiations. Pulp and paper companies have the upper hand for historical reasons, J. G. MacLeod, woodlands vice-president of Consolidated Paper Corp., told the conference.

During the 1930s they obtained vast timberlands from the lumber companies not interested in long-term supplies, he said.

Spruce and balsam operators now were feeling the pinch, having used up their reserves.

The pulp and paper companies were willing to exchange wood on a "volume for volume" basis only. Lumber companies could still get their limits, but only by going "way up around Hudson Bay."

TAKE OVER BUSINESS
French casinos are believed to have lost 60 per cent of their business since gambling was legalized in Britain.
