SIR CHARLES TUPPER.

THE PATRIOT, a few days ago intimated that the Montreal Star had come out against the leadership of Sir Charles Tupper. From the Star of the 23rd inst., we quote:

"Forty-five years of public life. Such is the almost unique record of the Conservative leader, Sir Charles Tupper. Forty-five years ago today he entered the Parliament of Nova Scotia as representative of his native county, Cumberland, and for thirty-one years he represented that constituency in the local or Federal Parliaments. His public life has been remarkable in many ways. He never experienced a personal defeat in an election, though he started out in his career with defeating one who was regarded as the strongest personality in Nova Scotia, the late Joseph Howe, the old-time Liberal leader. During his long career, Sir Charles has seen every man of distinguished ability, who was a political opponent in the old days of the Confederation struggle become a political friend; all the measures which he initiated or advocated in his native province or in the wider field of Federal politics prove of such lasting benefit to the country that none care to admit they ever opposed them.

Dauntless courage, an almost prophetic foresight, a keen observation and capacity for estimating men, and a loyalty and patriotism that were to him a very religion, have marked Sir Charles from the very first hour of his public life. His intercourse with the people as a skilful and devoted politician bred in him a sympathy with the desire to improve the condition of those he aimed to represent. Thus, one of the great measures which are gratefully remembered of him is the public free school act of Nova Scotia. Strangely enough, this law, broad, non-sectarian and practical, in its character—was intensely unpopular at the time, and really had more to do with the defeat of the Conservative party in Nova Scotia in 1867 than Confederation. There is no living man to lay opposed to it, and those who once were, refer to that opposition as one of their youthful follies.

In the union of the provinces, the building of railways, establishment of public works, the protection of the working people, his desire to make the country one desirable to live in, found practical expression. Some of his ideas were starting at the time he promulgated them, but years have shown the soundness of his judgment and proved the correctness of the seemingly boundless confidence in the future of his country.

When Confederation was accomplished, and the then young provincial statesman took his place among the aggregation of bright intellects in that first Canadian Parliament, his ability at once placed him in the front rank. When public duties took him to the Old World, where he was thrown in contact with the giants of the day his talents commanded respect and his views immediate attention. He was entrusted with the powers of a plenipotentiary to go to the Court of Spain and successfully negotiated a trade treaty.

As a leader, fearless, resourceful and aggressive, he has ever inspired confidence in his associates and followers. In the period following the defeat of his party, in 1874, his was the presence that put heart into those who were discouraged, brought into line the weakening ones, beat down all opposition, from province to province, and brought his party triumphantly back to power in 1878. It was during that election campaign, perhaps, for the first time, that his wonderful magnetism and generalship became fully recognized, commanding the admiration even of those who were most bitterly opposed to him.

A life of almost incredible activity, connected as it has been with all the great measures and important movements in this country, seems to have made no inroads upon his iron constitution. It is hard to realize that the clear ringing notes of the voice heard in outdoor and indoor public meetings, so full of life and hope and encouragement for his party, is that which has been used in public service for close upon half a century; that the vigorous personality which in night debates in Parliament can set an example to the youngest there, is that of a man whose name has been identified with arduous political work for forty-five years.

It is to the verdict of time all must appeal for justice, but it is not given to many to have that verdict rendered until the soil has thickened on a forgotten grave. The advancing greatness of the Dominion, the union of the colonies brought about; the vastness and wealth of the country, the Canadian Pacific Railway opened up; the fiscal policy even his political opponents have adopted, go to make a testimonial to Sir Charles Tupper during his life time, greater than any shaft of stone that may be erected hereafter.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

—In the partial elections of Ontario, the Liberals paid as much as $30 per vote; in the West Huron election they paid five dollars for each ballot stolen; and Le Journal wants to know where the money came from.

—Toryism, says the Fredericton Herald, "has been tried in the criminal courts of the country and has been sent to jail." "Grit criminals," replies the St. John Sun, "are rewarded with offices, and protected by the whole power of the Government." Moral: Dishonesty is the best policy under Grit rule.

—It has been suggested that Lord Cromer should be sent to South Africa, after the war is ended, to work there the financial and administrative miracle he had worked in Egypt. Nothing would be more piquant than the spectacle of Cromer and Kitchener transferring their energies from one region of Africa to another for the benefit of the Empire. There is one thing certain: an eminent financial administrator will be wanted as soon as Lord Roberts has finished his work.

—There is ground for the belief that Sir Wilfrid is deceiving the public by promising a judicial enquiry into the recent political frauds of his party. It is pointed out that "Sir Wilfrid has not said that he will appoint his commission forthwith. He has not agreed to allow the opposition to name a prosecutor. Sir Charles could not draw from him a statement that the enquiry would be pushed through and a report made before the close of the session. Nor would the premier undertake that the West Huron and Brockville cases would be the first ones referred to the commission. For anything that the house yet knows the commissioners may be sent to try some election case in the Kootenay, and the election may be over before they even touch the border of the crimes committed in Ontario. It was after the failure of Sir Charles to get a definite statement as to the practical working of this commission that the vote was taken. Sir Charles proposed that Borden's motion would be withdrawn if the minister would give a definite statement that his enquiry would cover the case. The premier refused. He would make no bargain about it, and he has not yet given an assurance that the enquiry will be different from that instituted by Premier Ross. The latter has appointed as one of his commissioners a recently appointed judge, who figured in many of the recent bye-elections as a liberal campaigner while the prospector had been up to the time of his appointment the counsel and advocate of the organization."

VICTORY FOR DODD'S

Kidney Diseases Decrease Where
 Dodd's Kidney Pills are Used.

Proof that Dodd's Kidney Pills Have Cured Every Case of Kidney Disease for which they Have Been Used — They Have Never Failed.

OTNBAG, N.B., May 25.—Some months ago a statement was made to the effect that in all sections where Dodd's Kidney Pills are used, Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Rheumatism, Lambago, Sciatica, Gravel, Stone in the Bladder, Heart Disease, Paralysis, Gout, Dropsy, Disease of Women, Urinary Troubles, and every other form of Kidney Disease were rapidly decreasing.

Some doubt was expressed as to the correctness of this assertion. A committee of citizens was appointed to investigate. Strict examination was made, by hearing the evidence of those who had used Dodd's Kidney Pills for any form of Kidney Disease, and now the committee has reported that the claim was strictly true.

Further, the report says: "We find on the evidence of those who have used them, that Dodd's Kidney Pills have cured every case of Kidney Disease for which they have been used. Also, that they have never been known to fail to cure, in any case where they have been given a fair trial."

We are firmly convinced that Dodd's Kidney Pills are an absolute certain cure for Kidney Diseases, and that they are the only remedy that can be depended upon, with perfect confidence to cure such diseases.

The correctness of the theory on which Dodd's Kidney Pills are compounded receives fresh proof every day.

Keep the kidneys healthy. Then they will keep the blood pure and rich. If the blood is pure and rich there can be no Kidney Disease.
