10,000 Shoppers

Continued from page 1 The idea of Washington's birthday sales originated 30 years ago in Washington, where government employees have the day off from work and are attracted to bargain counters. This was the first time New York's big stores had tried the idea.

Hearn's president said it was the biggest volume sales day in the store's history, surpassing even the greatest of Christmas shopping events.

Residents of Washington, meanwhile, started their biggest shopping spree since the holiday sales were inaugurated. Although the mobs there were more orderly, at least one store door was shattered. Washington bargains included a 1941 Nash sedan for 99 cents, TV sets at the same price.

Fourteen-year-old Philip Goldstein, seeking a 99-cent TV set, set up camp in front of one Washington department store Sunday afternoon. When the doors opened on the sale some 20 hours later, he was blocked off from an escalator. When he finally got where he was headed, the bargain TV sets were gone. He got a sprained back and a bruised leg for his troubles.

New Bridge Approaches At Montague Present Problem

It was learned unofficially yesterday that the approaches to the new Montague bridge will be ramped in the very near future. This work is of immediate necessity in view of the condition of the approaches to the temporary bridge, which, at present, are covered with ice and deep ruts which make the passage of cars hazardous and difficult. Permitting travel over the new bridge during the next month or more might eliminate this difficulty since with the melting of the ice and the drying up of the gravel bed, traffic might again resume over the temporary bridge. Moreover, it would permit heavy trucks to travel in Montague during a period when it is difficult to make the detour via Victoria Cross and Valleyfield.

Citizens, however, are grateful for the provision of the temporary bridge which has permitted ordinary traffic to continue uninterrupted in the usual way, and without it there would undoubtedly have been considerable inconvenience in the transaction of every day business. The news that the new bridge will be opened for traffic as soon as possible is welcomed not only by the pedestrians who are already using the bridge, but also by the many motorists who will welcome the more facile traveling between the north and south sections of the town.

Commenting on the above report, Hon. Dougald MacKinnon, Minister of Public Works and Highways said last evening: "Our engineers are much concerned over the situation at Montague and feel that with the frost coming out of the ground, the detour around Valleyfield will become impassable. However, the possibility of doing anything of a permanent nature on the new approaches is remote, as in this instance we would invariably be covering up frost pockets which would prove disastrous later on. We are confident that adequate temporary measures will be effected as quickly as possible."

Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Burgoyne and sons David and Russel, Charlottetown, were Sunday guests of Mrs. Burgoyne's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clair, Montague.

Medal Of Merit

Continued from page 1 in a heavily bombed City in England in 1942. As a result, he quickly became an ardent and active Scout during his stay in England. He was transferred to India where, during a year and a half of duty and convalescence from fever, with the assistance of a naval officer, he operated a Wolf Cub Pack of some twenty-five boys of various nationalities.

In 1945 Eric returned to his home in St. Eleanor's, and immediately organized a Wolf Cub Pack and Scout Troop, the first in that community. He has continued as an active Leader of both sections, without interruption, since they were organized.

From a community standpoint, Mr. Tanton has organized and been actively engaged in the leadership of the 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th Summerside Wolf Cub Packs and the 2nd and 3rd Troops devoting, during many years, an average of four nights a week. All Groups in Summerside are sponsored by the Y's Men's Club with Eric as the chief force behind the scenes.

Eric Tanton won his Gilwell Wood Badge in 1950 and was appointed a reader for Part I, Wood Badge Training, in 1953. He has been Camp Chief for eight district camps, both Scout and Cub, at Fernwood. He has taken a leadership part in all district training courses in the area, in organizing Apple Days and in all district functions. At the present time he is District Commissioner for the Summerside Area, a position which he has held since December, 1951.

Important Base Metals Discovery

TORONTO, (CP)—Manitowadge, a new base metals discovery in northwestern Ontario, is "the biggest thing to hit the province since Sudbury" said Cyril Young, a member of the Canadian Prospectors Association, Monday.

Mr. Young made the statement before the Ontario legislature's mining committee during a plea for more money for mining access roads. The mines department has spent $1,000,000 on mining roads. Mr. Young said twice that amount was needed to do the job properly. The question was referred to a sub-committee.

No Success In Relations With Red China

LONDON, (Reuters) — Britain's attempts to establish diplomatic relations with Communist China have had no success, Foreign Secretary Eden told the House of Commons Monday.

The British charge d'affaires in Peking has been unable to discuss matters with the Communist foreign affairs ministry, he said. Britain recognized the Communist regime in January, 1950, and then exchanged notes about the re-establishment of diplomatic relations. Britain's latest note on the topic was June 17, 1950. "And there the topic has rested," Eden said. Communist China so far still has not granted recognition of the British government.

In reply to a question by Reginald Sorenson, Labor, Eden added that Communist treatment accorded business men is "most unsatisfactory." He said that if China wants to improve relations with Britain, her first act must be to closer collaboration with Turkey." Nehru renewed his attack on the proposed Washington-Karachi military aid program in a speech before the lower House of the Indian Parliament.

"I am absolutely certain that instead of adding to the security of the region, it adds to the feelings of insecurity in Asia, and it adds to the fears," he said.

Nehru ridiculed suggestions that "because the United States is doing this weighing possible military aid to Pakistan, we will rush to the Soviet union and get their military aid."

He also rejected a proposal by certain Hindu elements that India seek American arms aid to keep pace with Pakistan.

Foreign Troops

Declaring that the presence of U. S. military personnel in Pakistan would be a "reversal of history," Nehru declared:

"One of the symbols of our independence from Britain has been the withdrawal of foreign armed forces. Whatever the motive may be, the return of foreign armed forces from any European or American country would be turning the clock back for us."

Even as he spoke, U. S. Air Force personnel retrain pilots and crews in the use of 26 C-119 Flying Boxcar transports just bought from the United States.

Chief cause of friction between Pakistan and India is the political future of the princely state of Kashmir, whose constituent assembly recently ratified accession to India. India has agreed to a plebiscite to settle the Kashmir question, and Mohammed Ali has demanded that Nehru repudiate the constituent assembly vote. Nehru Monday rejected this demand as "absurd."

Promises More Aid For Pakistan

The prime minister did not identify the "important projects in the eastern part of the country." But presumably they are similar to the development schemes underway in Karachi which Canada is now helping to finance. In the last three years Canadian economic aid to Pakistan has totalled about $35,000,000. This money has been used to build a cement factory, develop hydro projects, conduct an aerial survey, purchase railway equipment and establish a livestock farm.
