U.S. Importing Foreign Steel At Higher Rate

CLEVELAND (AP) — Shipments of foreign made steel to the United States have been increased because of the "well advertised and practiced threat of a steelworkers' strike," Steel magazine says. "A combination of a high rate of steel consumption and an all-out effort to lay in strike hedge stocks pile up demand on the market," the magazine says. "Domestic mills, despite their capacity, could not supply tonnage as fast as users wanted it. Meanwhile the quality of foreign made steel—particularly J & P—has improved. And prices were below those of U.S. producers." Foreign producers responded to the opportunity, shipping 1,191,869 net tons of finished steel into the U.S. in June for a new monthly high, the magazine says. The previous high was 1,025,200 net tons in March. Steel imports in June were equal to 15.1 per cent of shipments by U.S. mills, Steel says.

NO NEED TO WORRY

"Stockpiling by users has eliminated any need for them to worry about the possibility of a steelworkers' strike on Sept. 1, the first date on which one can start," Steel says. "Steel inventories of all users total a record 28,000,000 or 29,000,000 tons." The magazine says that steel ingot production is holding at a high level as mill operators attempt to satisfy consumer demands for delivery of products prior to the strike deadline.

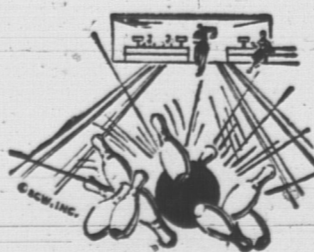

TENDERS

Tenders will be received by the undersigned up to Sept. 10, 1965, for the position of policeman for the Town of Alberton. Please state experience and salary expected.

Science Teaching By Painless Way Is Being Tried

TORONTO (CP) — A committee under the auspices of the Ontario Curriculum Institute is trying to teach science to children the painless way. The committee of 25 teachers is taking part in an experiment to determine whether they can bring Ontario classrooms a new way of teaching science. Instead of placing the emphasis on teaching and telling at the front of the room, the idea is more doing and discovery by the pupils. The science-teaching project was hit upon in the summer of 1963 when Prof. R. H. Stinson of the OC's science professors, and other university professors, high school teachers and public school people deliberated for several weeks on the problem. The task now is to learn if the average teacher can master the new methods.

MONTAGUE — A new $155,000 artificial ice rink will be built here on the Lane property on Sackville Street. Decision to build the rink was made Friday night at a general meeting in Montague Elementary School. The Community Welfare League executive, which has been working for months on plans and statistics, presented to the meeting a proposal for a natural ice rink and one for an artificial ice rink. Repayment will cost the district approximately $3,900 per year for 25 years. However the Town Council, and the Elementary School Board have already pledged $1,000 each for 25 years to help defray the cost of repayment. In order that work may proceed the welfare executive pointed out that a sum of at least $8,000 must be collected at once. Leonard Munroe was appointed as chairman to conduct a financial campaign in the area immediately. Gilbert Clements was appointed as chairman of a committee to contact school districts in the region regarding an application for centennial grants.

Week's Stock Average Climbs After Late Rally At New York

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed out this week with a sharp gain that put it well ahead for the period. It had been lethargic until a strong rally developed on Friday. Brokers attributed the big one-day advance to an accumulation of announcements, such as high corporate earnings, dividend increases, increased defence spending, record automobile production and sales and a boom in color television. Airline, airline and movie were standout performers during the week. A soft spot was foreign copper. They slumped on news of a move in the Chilean Senate to nationalize the copper industry in Chile. Anaconda and Kennecott were principally affected. The Associated Press 80 stock average gained 2.3 to 330.9 for the week. The Dow Jones average of 30 Industrials was up 6.31 to 883.82.
