Wheatly River WI Will Hold Turkey Banquet

The annual meeting of Wheatly River Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Preston Rockham on November 3rd. Roll call was answered by 11 members and one visitor by naming an island citizen who became famous.

A card of thanks and a donation were received from a former member who had been remembered with a potted plant on her 90th birthday.

Four members volunteered to clean the school. Plans were made to celebrate the 40th anniversary of the institute with a turkey banquet for members and their husbands. It was decided to ask a neighboring institute to cater for this event.

The entire slate of officers was re-elected for the coming year. The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Leonard Ling. The school visitor will be Mrs. Lloyd Stead; the refreshment committee will be Mrs. Lloyd Stead and Mrs. Alfred Stead.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by the hostess and the committee in charge.

Alberton WI Annual Report

A pot luck supper at the home of Mrs. C. H. Weeks preceded the annual meeting of Alberton Women's Institute annual meeting on Thursday, November 3.

Officers elected for the coming year are president, Mrs. James Hodgson; vice-president Shirley MacArthur; secretary, Mrs. C. H. Weeks (with Mrs. W. J. Phillips to act as interim secretary during the winter months); treasurer, Mrs. Arthur Wilkie; directors Mrs. W. R. Oulton, Mrs. Joseph Callaghan, Mrs. C. R. Hunter and Mrs. Edward Lewis; auditors, Mrs. C. R. Hunter and Mrs. Edward Lewis; hall convener, Mrs. Graham Bennett.

The secretary's annual report showed a membership of 19. Activities included the making and sale of four quilts, carol singing at the hospital, treats for hospital patients and for elderly and shut-in folks at Christmas, the sending of a sunshine box to a member who was ill, the sponsoring of a candidate for queen at the Summerside Lobster Carnival and the entertaining of a neighboring institute.

The treasurer reported that financial receipts had included membership fees, collections at meetings, hall rentals, sale of quilts, donations and receipts from a food sale. Expenditures had included a contribution toward a school name sign, school prizes, expenses in connection with the hall, Christmas treats, flowers, gifts, postage, and the sponsoring of a contestant in the Lobster Festival. Contributions were made to several funds and projects.

Mrs. Graham Bennett volunteered to contact teachers in the Elementary School to enlist their cooperation in ordering fish oil capsules for the pupils whose parents wished to have them.

The December meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Bennett with Mrs. Wilkie and Mrs. Callaghan as co-hostesses. Roll call is to be answered with a gift for the Canadian Mental Health Association which will be used to help make Christmas happier for patients in the provincial mental hospital.

Women Should Want Changes Says Alderman

TORONTO (CP)—There's nothing like a woman for exerting pressure on civic authorities says Toronto Alderman June Marks.

Mrs. Marks told the opening session of the three-day convention of Central Ontario Area Women's Institutes that women and women's groups can get improvements in their communities if they exert pressure.

"Don't be put off where you see something that needs to be done—there's nothing like the pressure of women," she said. "Don't be told by laws prohibit such a thing; go ahead, ask for it, keep after it until you get it."

Mrs. Marks said there is a "truly great need" for the housewife to participate more fully in politics.

MR. AND MRS. IRWIN BROWN

Brown-Worsley Marriage Held In Cambray, Ontario

White 'mums red carnations and maiden-hair ferns was the setting for the marriage of Heather Annie Worsley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Worsley, Cambray, to Irwin Brown, son of Mrs. Mae Brown, Long River, P.E.I., solemnized by Rev. E. Snelgrove assisted by Rev. H. Belbin of Hope United Church, Toronto, on Oct. 15, at 3 p.m., at St. Paul's United Church, Cambray, Ont.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, while the Jenny Bouch choir sang the 23rd Psalm. The organist was Mrs. Jenny Bouch, Toronto.

The bride was attired in a floor-length A-line gown of white velvet. A chapel length train of peau de sole and French lace fell from an empire waistline. She carried a cascade of red roses.

As the wedding party assembled at the altar, the soloist, Jane Webster, sang the Wedding Prayer.

The matron of honour, Mrs. Marion Snyder, of Moffatt, was attired in a floor-length A-line gown of red velvet, with a round neckline and elbow length sleeves, and a red velvet bow with attached veil. Her flowers were a nosegay of white 'mums, red and white carnations and red roses.

The bridesmaids were Sharon Webster, Oakwood, cousin of the bride, Mrs. Dorothy Worsley, Markham, and Mrs. Donna Worsley, sister-in-law of the bride. The flower girl was Holly Worsley, Cambray, niece of the bride. The bridesmaids and flower girls' gowns were identical to that worn by the matron of honour and each attendant wore a pearl drop necklace, gift of the bride.

Grafton Brown, of Long River, P. E. I., brother of the groom, was best man, and Bill Goodfellow, Toronto, Jim Worsley, Markham, and Ken Worsley, Cambray, brothers of the bride, were ushers.

During the ceremony, the soloist sang The Lord's Prayer and while signing the register, sang Father, All Creating. At the reception in the church parlour, the bride's mother received wearing a two-piece burgundy brocade dress and a hat in blending shades of feathers and tulle with black accessories and a corsage of red sweetheart roses.

The groom's mother assisted wearing a jade green lace over taffeta dress with a matching three-quarter length coat, and a hat in blending shades of green, with brown accessories and a corsage of bronze roses.

During the reception Bill Goodfellow acted as M.C. The soloist sang "One Hand, One Heart" and the guests were entertained by the Jenny Bouch Singers, in several numbers. The bride's going away outfit was a three piece suit of wool in shades of beige and brown with a fox collar and beige and brown accessories. Her corsage was a cymbidium orchid.

Amid shower of confetti and good wishes, the happy couple left for a honeymoon in the Southern United States. Guests were from P.E.I., and Omece, Markham, and Cambray, Ont.

MARY HAWORTH

Reader Admits Fibbing In Anonymous Letters

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I hope this revelation of human weakness may touch off a much instructive reader-reaction as did the letter, some months ago, from a woman who was worried about being hooked on movie magazines and, moreover, sneaky about it—pretending indifference to such lowbrow fare.

Like her, I work so hard at the intellectual image that I am underhanded about some of my literary exercises. With that preliminary, I come to my question: Is a person who writes anonymous letters to editors a sick-sick character, or a moral coward?

For the past year I have been an article on abortion by the same Dr. X who wrote "Intern". Later, two comment letters were published, one of which was mine. I had asked that even the name of the city be withheld.

I wrote that Dr. X wasn't exaggerating in saying that 60 per cent of abortion patients are married women and that abortionists couldn't stay in business if it weren't for referrals from legitimate practitioners.

My letter appeared in its entirety, which I think reflects no discredit on the magazine's integrity. But I would be less than fair, in asking your appraisal of my motivation, if I didn't admit that, contrary to what my letter said, I am not a nurse and do not work for "a prominent doctor."

I was merely parroting what I had heard a relative, a gynecologist, and his doctor friends say on the subject.

In conclusion, I'd like to ask (if it's not a trade secret): Do many of the letters you receive sound nutty? E. E.

DEAR E. E.: Whether the foregoing revelation of yours is as phony as the output it describes, or whether it is "for real" (for a change), it prompts me to disclose that this department has been aware of your masked letter-writing binge for quite a long while; and aware, also, that the compulsion seems to be driving you harder of recent months.

Just a few weeks ago I began setting aside the mounting influx of letters from you, which from then until now totals 25, on almost as many different styles of stationery, of assorted sizes, shapes, colors and quality, some typewritten, others handwritten in different shades of ink!

And the plots you propose for advisory discussion are as imaginatively diverse, one from another, as the correspondence sheets on which they are written. So are the ideas submitted in your "comment" letters—often two or three; from different angles, on the same subject!

Incidentally, it's not true that you've never given a false street address. Once, to test my sense that your letters are phony, I checked out the "identifying" name and street address, and learned there was no such street, or number, or family name, in the area indicated.

Now, as to why you busy yourself in this bizarre fashion, I can only guess that it means you are playing around with a solitary diversion of "let's pretend", in a half-kidding, half self-hypnotizing fashion so far. But you may be nearing the brink of losing the power to distinguish clearly between fantasy and reality. Hence your feverishly accelerated campaign of phony letter writing more recently.

My advice is, get first-hand psychoanalytic help in plumbing the "whys" and "why not" of your odd performance. As for your concluding question—do many of the letters I receive sound nutty?—my answer is: No; most are from overtaxed normal persons with no other helpful person to talk to. M. H.

St. Mark's ACW Holds 59th Annual Meeting Mrs. Lorne Silliker entertained the members of St. Mark's Senior ACW at her home in Kensington for the 59th annual meeting on Wednesday, November 2. The president, Mrs. Elmer Moase, presided and the worship service was conducted by Mrs. Harold Mill. Roll call was responded to by 16 members with the text word "love". The TV teach-in on the principles of union, was viewed by several of the members; the Diocesan Board meeting, held recently at Kensington, and the Little Helpers party held the previous Saturday, were each reported on a briefly. The usual 30:00 was voted towards a wreath for Remembrance Day.

Reports on the years' work were given by the officers. A moment's silence was observed in memory of the late Mrs. Townsend, a devoted life and charter member. The president spoke of the change in name from Woman's Auxiliary to Anglican Church Women; announced the resignation of Mrs. Albert Stafford as secretary, and expressed appreciation of the member's hospitality co-operation and faithful attendance, and asked for continued devoted service.

Following a discussion on the amalgamation of the women's groups of the church, the president, Mrs. Moase, and Mrs. Elmer Paynter were asked to approach the other groups in regard to the planning of a meeting for the purpose of discussing amalgamation.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ellis Proffitt when devotions will be conducted by Mrs. Elmer Paynter, the text word will be "Eternal" and a study will be held on the "Principle of Union".

The meeting closed with prayer and grace.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Silliker.

Vegetable Combinations Relished Fresh And Hot

Fresh vegetables are sometimes omitted from menus because, if they are cooked the same way, week in and week out, they become monotonous. The hot vegetable relishes we are recommending today are refreshingly different, easy to do, appetizing and, when served, take the place of a salad.

TRIO OF HOT FRESH VEGETABLE RELISHES Measurements level; recipes for 6

GREEN BEANS AND ONIONS 1/2 lb. small boiling onions 1 c. beef broth 2 c. cooked green beans drained

4 tsp. ground fill Pour boiling water over onions. Drain and remove outer skin. Cook onions in beef broth 15 to 20 min. or until fork-tender. Add cooked green beans and fill to cooked onions. Heat until boiling.

HOT CELERY AND GREEN PEPPER 6-branches crisp green celery, strings removed 1 large green pepper 1 1/2 chicken consommé or broth 1-peeled section garlic, crushed 2 tsp. melted butter or margarine

Wash celery and pepper. Cut celery in 2" pointed sticks. Halve and seed green pepper; cut lengthwise into 3/4" strips. Heat consommé; add celery and garlic. Boil 10 min. Add green pepper strips; boil 8 to 10 min. or until both vegetables are bite-tender. Remove vegetables and toss with butter.

CANDIED GINGER SQUASH 3/4 lb. "banana" squash or winter-type squash 2 tsp. chopped candied ginger 1/2 c. white corn syrup Cut squash into 2" cubes with rind on. Put in 2-qt. saucepan with 1/4 tsp. salt and 1/2 c. boiling water. Boil, covered, 15 min. or until just tender. Remove rind from squash with knife. Put in blender or mixer and buzz or whip, until smooth and fluffy. Transfer to serving dish. Meanwhile, combine and heat ginger and syrup. Pour over top of squash.

Auckland Is Safest City For Babies

AUCKLAND (CP)—This New Zealand city is the "safest city in the world for a baby to be born in," says Dr. A. W. Lilley, senior research fellow at the National Women's Hospital and a world authority on certain medical techniques in childbirth.

Statistics show that New Zealand has one of the lowest death rates in the world of mothers and babies. The death rate in Auckland, site of the National Women's Hospital, is much lower than in the New Zealand national average.
