Family Gather To Honor Mr. Phillips

Mr. Albert J. Phillips of Harrington (above), welcomed by members of his family on Tuesday evening when fifty-eight of them gathered at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Harold Stead of Brackley, to celebrate his 90th birthday anniversary.

This most unusual man who has never had a doctor and has never been sick a day in his life so far as his family can remember. He has twelve living children, forty-seven grandchildren, forty-five great grandchildren and four great-great grandchildren.

Mr. Phillips has been a member of the Presbyterian church for sixty-five years, and a member of the Orange Lodge for fifty-four years.

He was on the Police force in Summerside for fifteen years and was later a Crown investigator in Prince County for some four or five years. He moved to Harrington some thirty-five years ago where he has resided since that time. His wife predeceased him in 1942.

Those who did him honor on his birthday anniversary were his twelve living children and their husbands and wives, and their children who are Mr. Phillips grandchildren.

A half-brother, Robert Phillips, who resides in Summerside, was also present at the notable gathering.

Was Widely Known In Fashion World

The death of Mrs. Leah M. Jenkins, which occurred while on a business trip in Chicago on May 14th, came as a great shock to her numerous friends in Charlottetown and New York. Her loss is shared not only by her immediate family and friends but by the entire fashion world for Mrs. Jenkins was as well known as a designer in Europe as in New York. She was a member of the firm of Jenkins in Paris, which for many years had headquarters in Paris and offices in London, New York and Montreal.

Recently the firm re-established business in New York, where Mrs. Jenkins had many associates and connections. She leaves to mourn besides her sorrowing husband, Mr. Harry G. Jenkins, the following sisters and brother: Mrs. F. P. Hennessey, Mrs. Ray MacEhale, of Charlottetown; Miss Ethel Blanche Mullen, of New York; Miss Viola Mullen, of Boston; Mr. Louis Mullen, of Ontario.

The funeral will be held from the residence of her sister, Mrs. Hennessey, 82 Rochford Street, on Wednesday morning, to St. Dunstan's Basilica.

Mr. Daniel Dart and family wish to thank all the neighbours who came and helped during their time of sorrow, and those who sent letters and cards of sympathy.

Describes Wartime Experience In Many European Countries

"It is difficult for us in Canada to realize the misery and suffering of many of the people in this world, nor can we who place such high value on human life comprehend its small value in these same countries," said Dr. George C. Fisher, D.V.M., V.S., Director of Veterinary Service for Prince Edward Island. He was speaking to Rotarians at their weekly luncheon yesterday in the Charlottetown Hotel.

Dr. Fisher spent three years in the Navy during World War II and later worked with U.N.R.R.A. in United States and Europe. It was in the latter organization that he visited about 20 countries, particularly those in Eastern Europe. As a veterinarian he was engaged in the shipment of horses to such countries as Poland, Albania, Greece, Czechoslovakia and Italy.

The destruction of such cities as Poland as Danzig and Gdynia and Warsaw was nearly 95 per cent for the Germans invaded that country and occupied it. Then the Russians invaded and occupied the territory. Dr. Fisher said it was his opinion that the Russian police are far more brutal than the Gestapo was, consequently it is very difficult for a visitor to get any information as to the real state of affairs, but it is believed that there are at least two million Poles being used as forced labour.

Greece is much more mountainous than it has thought before visiting there. So much so that the farmers there could not use the horses being shipped and mules had to be substituted. That country would now be under Communist control if it were not for the British who maintained three divisions there to keep law and order. The guerrillas still fighting in the mountains hate the British, said Dr. Fisher as he told a story of driving with an English secretary a distance of about seven miles into the mountains. A road blockade stopped them and their jeep taken from them. "Had I not warned my companion to remain silent her English accent might have brought much more serious consequences."

Athens itself is a very beautiful city, said the speaker, yet there is great suffering. His association with the Boy Scouts in Canada had made him particularly conscious of the thousands of homeless children who lived a pitiful existence in cellars or any shelter they could find. They were being helped to some extent by world organizations, but much more could be done for them if their plight could be brought to the attention of such people as ourselves who have so much.

Centuries Old System In Athens he visited the market place and was struck with their sewage system which was in operation centuries before other nations had anything comparable. It appeared to him that civilian runs in cycles and he wondered just where we are in the cycle. "Are we still climbing or have we gone over the top and are on the down grade."

Spent Exciting Furlough With Army Pals In Mexico

An interesting account of his experience in training with the U. S. Army medical force at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, and of a visit to Monterey and other places of interest in Mexico has been received by Pvt. George W. Campbell by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Campbell, Charlottetown. Following are excerpts from his letter:

"It seems as if the Army is short of medical officers, and is planning on opening a school right here at Fort Sam to train them." Pvt. Campbell writes. "The eligibility is that basic training must be complete, preferably some of it here, as I have done. A mark of 110 is necessary on the Army general classification list. I have 147. A year of college is necessary."

"They are also looking for those who at one time or another have held jobs as trainers, instructors, etc., where I fit again. The company commander seemed to think I had a very good chance of getting in it. I want to. The big thing is of course that I'll have to sign up for three years if I do go. Time alone will settle that decision."

"We have already completed a greater part of the work in Haematology, doing blood counts, smears, etc., and it's a lot of fun. I'm learning a lot more how to parcel and afterwards to the vendors."

"Gerald and I stayed outside while Gardiner went in and bought a bottle of gin. They took a couple of drinks in the truck and went to the restaurant for supper where we had a full course meal. We went back to the truck about seven and started for home."

Witness recalled that Solomon had the lights of the truck on while crossing the bridge. They did not stop at any time and the boys had no more drinks.

She stated that the tailboard jumped out of place when they crossed a bump and that Gardiner and Solomon got out to fix it. Solomon came back for a hammer and switched off the car lights while doing so.

After the lights were out she said she could see as far as the road was straight for her to see. They met no cars while she was sitting there but two or three passed on their way towards Georgetown.

The next thing she heard was the squeak of brakes and a crash. She jumped out of the truck and moved ahead four or five yards. She also noted that some of the tools fell out of the tool compartment that had been shut.

She saw Solomon on the road and Gardiner near the ditch. She later saw Mrs. Duffy come between the car and truck. About five minutes later she saw Judge Tweedy but she never saw Mrs. Seller. Witness said she saw Mr. W. F. Smith and Mr. Gordon Gay.

Cross examined by Mr. H. F. MacPhee, witness said her recollection was not as clear as if Gerald had been perfectly well.

HEARING OF

Witness recalled that Solomon had the lights of the truck on while crossing the bridge. They did not stop at any time and the boys had no more drinks.

She stated that the tailboard jumped out of place when they crossed a bump and that Gardiner and Solomon got out to fix it. Solomon came back for a hammer and switched off the car lights while doing so.

She saw Solomon on the road and Gardiner near the ditch. She later saw Mrs. Duffy come between the car and truck. About five minutes later she saw Judge Tweedy but she never saw Mrs. Seller. Witness said she saw Mr. W. F. Smith and Mr. Gordon Gay.

Cross examined by Mr. H. F. MacPhee, witness said her recollection was not as clear as if Gerald had been perfectly well.

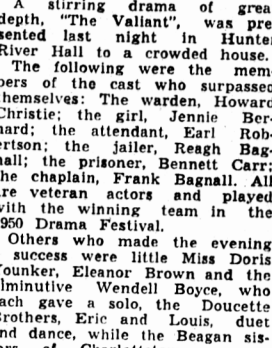

Witness said she saw two men fixing the tail board when she was crossing the field. When she almost reached Smith's back door she heard the sound of brakes and about the time she knocked on the door there was a crash.

Mr. Smith answered the door and she turned around and went towards the road. Witness said she saw Mrs. Seller and Judge Tweedy standing to the right of the car and she spoke to them as she passed by. She went around the car and saw deceased Gardiner and Miss MacDonald.

Witness said it was about dusk when the accident happened. She had no trouble seeing the men fixing the tail board when she was entering Mr. Smith's gate and she could see them by the light of the car.

She said that no cars passed in either direction about that time. The first car she saw was the one coming from Georgetown to the City. Witness said she left home about 7:15.

Trinity M. A. Holds Annual Meeting

Mr. Milton J. Barkhouse (above) was elected president last evening at the annual supper meeting of the Men's Association of Trinity United Church. The meeting which was largely attended, was held in the social hall of the church with the retiring president, Mr. J. Fulton Pierce, presiding.

Other officers elected last evening were Messrs. George Newman, vice president; John VanMarion, secretary treasurer; and the following executive: Dr. Lowrie Gordon MacDonald, Stanley Thompson, Bob Dalziel, Fred Gamble, Leith Brown, Harry Wood, Clifford MacDonald, Fulton Pierce, A. B. Cullifly.

Upwards of one hundred men sat down to a delicious turkey supper served by two groups of the Willing Circle of the King's Daughters.

An enjoyable sing-song, led by Walter Cox, with O. K. Presby at the piano, was entered into by everyone, and was concluded with the renowned hymn, "Heavenly Sunshine."

Retiring President Pierce gave a comprehensive review of the year's activities in his annual report, in which he concluded by congratulating his successor, and expressing the hope that he would be given the same splendid support as he had received during his term of office.

An encouraging financial statement was read by acting secretary-treasurer, Walter MacNeill. A highlight in this report was the handing over to the chairman of the building committee, Major Norman Lowther, of a cheque for one hundred dollars.

Brief reports were made by the following chairmen: Choir, George Newman; Visiting, Merritt Forsythe; Membership and Attendance, Myron Bell; Music, Walter Cox. These reports were adopted on motion of Major Lowther, seconded by Dr. Lloyd Shaw.

The president then called on the pastor, Rev. H. E. D. Ashford, who was assisted by Rev. J. T. Irwin and John A. MacNair, when the new executive were installed in office in an impressive manner.

The newly installed president, Mr. Barkhouse, thanked the Association for the honour they had conferred on him, and on behalf of the executive pledged their loyalty and support for a close year, after which a most successful full year was brought to a close with the Benediction.

For a time the ambulance and R. C. M. P. came along. Witness said it was about dusk and was not what would be called dark. We could see the truck by itself and noticed that its lights were on. He said he measured the distance from where he was standing to the scene of the accident and found it was about 264 yards.
