

SCIENCE, RESIDENCE BUILDINGS PLANNED

Expansion is due at SDU

Steady building progress at St. Dunstan's University during the past years, and even greater projections for the next 10, were noted recently by Very Rev. George A. Macdonald, president of St. Dunstan's University.

"Our present chapel and dining rooms were completed in 1927," Father Macdonald noted, "the gymnasium - auditorium in 1951, our ladies' residence, Marian College, in 1956, and a new rink the same year. And, of course, our new library was officially opened just last fall."

"At the present time," he continued, "we are working on a projected 10-year program. A new science building is in the planning stages and new men's and ladies' residences will be needed soon and are part of our program. A planing team from St. Dunstan's University is going to Montreal to attend a seminar which has been arranged for Canada's universities with enrollments of less than 2,000 students. Experts from the United States will be on hand for the seminar to assist the universities in their planning."

COFFEE SHOP
This air of new expansion and construction is also being breathed by the students. Recently they came up with a proposal to build a students' coffee shop which was approved by the faculty and which is now being planned for.

FATHER MACDONALD

The student population has shown an increase proportionate with the building program. Ten years ago there were 135 students in university years. This year a record number of 510 young men and women enrolled as full-time students.

Rev. Owen Sharkey, dean of studies at St. Dunstan's University, has words of praise for the calibre of student now attending university. "Statistics from our placement tests show that the quality of students has been rising steadily," he said. "Also figures from our library reveal that today's students are reading more and are much more aware of the necessity for education and study."

"The demands made on the students by professors is increasing each year," he went on, "and for the most part the students are meeting the challenge. The fact that more and more students are going on to graduate work each year shows the value they place on education. And as for maturity, the fact they are taking on the task of building a $40,000 coffee shop speaks for itself."

INCREASE PENALTY
TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario government plans to increase the penalties for motorists who lie about having insurance or who fail to produce evidence of insurance. At present, a motorist must have evidence of insurance or must pay an additional $20 before getting his plates.

CHILDREN DIE

WEST GARDNER, Me. (AP)—Two boys and two girls died in a fire at their basement home on the Lewiston road Tuesday. Town clerk Virginia Curtis said they were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Thompson. They were identified as Karel, 13, and Kaye, 9, both girls; Karl, 2, and Kelly, 11, weens, both boys.

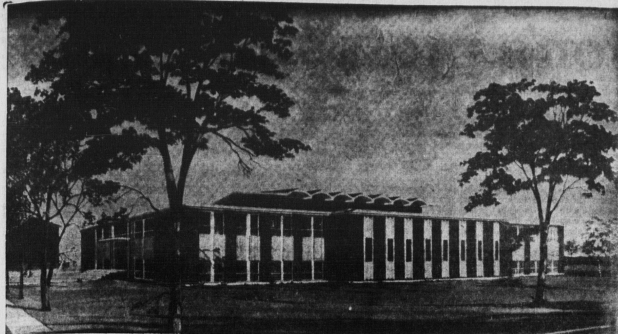

Faculty enrolment at St. Dunstan's University is on the upsurge, too, with plans underway to increase the present faculty by 10 additional members by the next fall to handle an expected registration of 600 students.

At the present time, 38 per cent of the faculty is at the Ph.D. level with 50 per cent having M.A.'s or M.Sc.'s and the remaining 15 per cent being at the B.A. or B.Sc. level.

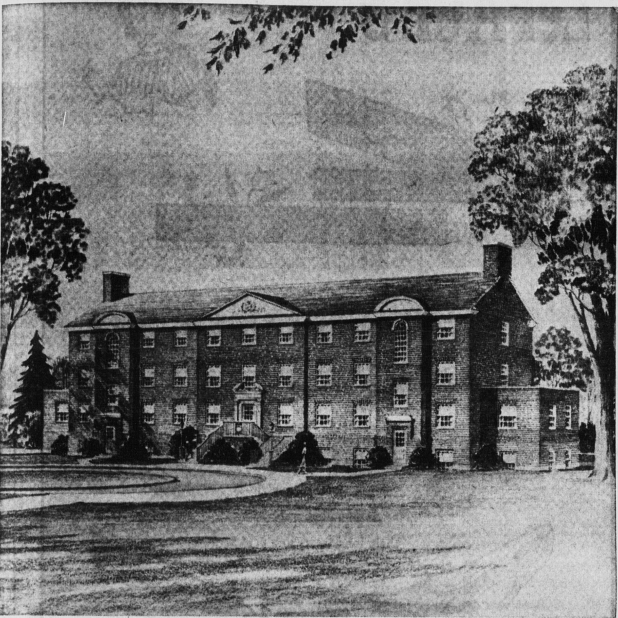

Other expansion shows that the annual St. Dunstan's University Summer School, which began in 1958 with 73 students, had grown last summer to 221 with a further increase expected this summer.

Figures from the registrar's office reveal that the 510 full-time students on campus this year represent seven provinces of Canada, six of the United States, Hong Kong, India, British Guiana, and Africa. Besides this number, an additional 170 are registered as part-time students.

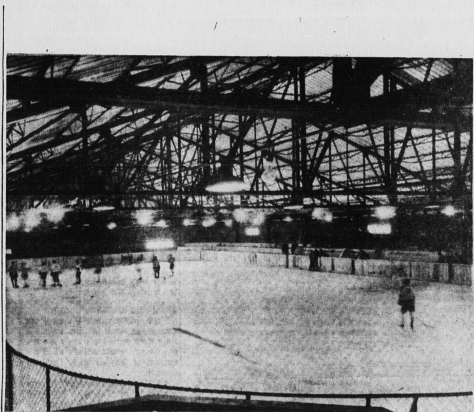

As at other Canadian universities, the growth picture at St. Dunstan's has been one of steady increase and shows no sign of slackening off. In fact, university authorities say their projections reveal that by 1973 St. Dunstan's University will have an enrolment of 1,200 students.

Centennial Day to be observed

In common with many Island centres Georgetown is making plans for a fitting observance of Centennial Year with particular emphasis being placed on Georgetown Day which is to be observed on July 22.

Plans for the celebration in the Kings County capital received a tremendous shot-in-the-arm at a meeting held in December, under the sponsorship of the mayor and Town Council

Taxpayers vote to join school

A big step forward in the field of educational opportunity was realized during the past year when the taxpayers of Georgetown School District voted to join the Montague Regional High School Unit.

Pupils from this district, numbering more than 53, are daily transported by bus to their classes in grades nine, 10, 11 and 12 and in commerce classes in the regional school.

Here they receive the best in degree teaching and specialized training, which can only be provided under a regional high school system. In the local school in Georgetown the remaining pupils, numbering over 200 in grades from one to eight are taught by 10 teachers, utilizing 10 rooms.

During the year considerable work was done on the school building to keep it in first class condition. A major step was the furnishing of an office in the school for the secretary of trustees and the setting out of regular office hours for the trustees to conduct their business with the secretary.

Here the Board of Trustees meets regularly under the chairmanship of Temple Macdonald. Educational problems and the providing of classroom facilities are almost certain to be a major problem in this area in the immediate future, due to the major industrial development planned for Georgetown and the resultant increase in population.

It is also felt that should a provincial police be eventually formed in the field of providing junior regional high schools that Georgetown could very well be the location of one such in addition to learning serving this town and surrounding areas.

and attended by a large representation of interested citizens, and organizations.

To further assure the organization and carrying out of the day's activities a number of committees were appointed to handle the various phases of the activities.

Among the activities planned are the holding of a mammoth parade with floats and bands on the track and field sports; water sports and boat races; a baseball game; a soap box derby; sky diving and a mammoth street dance.

It is hoped that at least one or more naval ships will be on hand for the occasion. It is planned to serve meals in the rink and canteen services will be provided at other locations.

Being discussed but not as yet finalized, as part of the parade, is the construction of a float bearing a sailing ship of the year 1864 and on the same float a model of one of the new type draggers to be under construction in this the year 1964 in the ship yard of Bahurst Marine Limited in Georgetown.

The planned activities were grouped into categories of athletic and sports; decorations; community activities and children's events and committees appointed for each.

Georgetownians are planning big things for the day set aside for them and their visitors to celebrate on a special day the Centennial Year observance throughout the province.
