LARGEST INDUSTRIES

Agriculture and textiles constitute the largest industries in Northern Ireland.

Miramichi River Deepening Is Sought In Ottawa Talks

OTTAWA (CP) — A 30-man delegation from the Miramichi River area of New Brunswick met Federal Works Minister Deschatelets for 1½ hours here on deepening of the Miramichi River channel and extension and improvement of the wharves at Newcastle and Chatham.

The delegation, headed by mayors J. D. Whalen of Newcastle and William J. Kerr of Chatham, reported it received a good hearing from the minister and his officials. No commitments were made to the visitors, who were to return east by chartered plane Tuesday night.

The meeting was a follow-up to the request of a 1961 delegation for deepening of the river channel to 26 feet from the present 18.

Some experimental dredging was carried out this summer and this was followed by soundings. An interim report was favorable but a final report will be made next spring after the ice moves out.

It is felt that if the area is to meet stiffer competition in woods products markets overseas the river channel must be deepened so that the Miramichi can accommodate deeper draught vessels capable of carrying out larger cargoes. This also applies to mcrketing of the area's mine concentrns.

G. Roy McWilliam, Liberal m e m ber of Parliament for Northumberland — Miramichi, who sat in on the talks, said many points were cleared up regarding engineering feasibility and there also was an extended discussion of economic feasibility.

With Mr. Deschatelets were officials of the harbors and rivers and economics branches of the works department.

Represented on the delegation were the town councils of Newcastle and Chatham, the warden of the municipality of Northumberland, representatives of the boards of trade in the two towns and of the Fraser Companies Limited and South Nelson Forest Products Corporation.

Cattlemen Are Interested In Northwest Rangelands

OTTAWA (CP)—Southern Canadian cattlemen are interested in the grassy rangelands of the southwestern p l a i n s of the Northwest Territories.

But none has yet made an application for grazing leases or land permits in the Slave River Valley south of Great Slave Lake, territorial Commissioner R. G. Siverts told the Northwest Territories Council here in reporting the southern interest.

At the same time, he said, a soils survey of the Hay River Valley has been followed up by two settlers who plan to farm there.

Mr. Sivertz spoke at the continuing emergency session of the nine-man council, summoned hastily to Ottawa to deal with the fact that its life expires at midnight Thursday because parliamentary legislation for a replacement has failed to make progress.

But, as on Monday, much of the discussion Tuesday continued on problems on the Mackenzie River district—the most populous and western end of the northern third of Canada. Main concern is about providing jobs rather than relief for many of the residents, as well as youngsters who are beginning to emerge from northern schools. Repeated requests for various information by the five elected members of the council ran up against the fact, administration officials claimed, that the council had been convened too hurriedly to permit the usual preparations.

Scientists Take Calculated Risk In Bison Drive

OTTAWA (CP)—Taking what they admit is a calculated risk federal wildlife scientists have decided to drive 3,000 bison out of meadowlands along the Slave River in the Northwest Territories where an anthrax outbreak has been raging for two years.

The hope is that by moving the a n i m a l s out in cold weather, w h e n the anthrax spores seem dormant, the herd will break contact with the infection and it will gradually die out.

But the risk is that the tenacious anthrax spores will move with the herd and infect a new area inside Wood Buffalo National Park.

The 100 - mile drive, started early this month, is being done by helicopter. It will be completed in early December.

Anthrax first erupted in 1962 in an area about 80 miles north of Wood Buffalo Park, which sits astride the Alberta-N.W.T. boundary. About 300 animals died that summer before the outbreak died down. It broke out anew this summer, killing 13 bison in the original area and spreading about 60 miles to claim another 200.

The fast-killing infection produces growths on the limbs, shoulders and lungs and sometimes in the stomach. It can be transmitted to humans and was a much-feared disease until the advent of antibiotics which now provide a sure cure.

Quebec Seen Coming Of Age

TORONTO (CP)—Quebec is coming of age and the growing pains are more desirable than the archaic province of former times, a French-Canadian poet and playwright told a Toronto audience here.

Robert Choquette, d e p u t y c o m m i s s i o n e r of the National Centennial Administration, spoke earlier Tuesday at a luncheon in Montreal where he said his province should try to rise above schisms.

Mr. Choquette told the Toronto executive lodge of B'nai B'rith, a Jewish service organization, that Quebec's coming of age means "the young fellow is getting more muscuIr."

"So much the better for Canada," he said. "So much the better if any province gains in vigor and stature.

"Even if pains of growth might be looked upon, at times, as pains in the neck, a Quebec fully awake is infinitely more desirable that the somnolent and archaic province of yesterday, a Quebec out of step with the times."

As he did earlier in Montreal, Mr. Choquette also appealed for participation by all Canadians in planning for the 1967 centennial.

Notes for the Montreal and Toronto speeches were given to reporters in advance of delivery.

U.S. Navy Asked To Aid In Swap Of Caribou, Birds

WASHINGTON (AP) —Another request for U.S. Navy aid in effecting a swap of caribou for partridges between Maine and Newfoundland has been made by Senator Edmund S. Muskie (Dem. Me.).

The deal, whereby the Canadian province would trade 20 adult caribou for several hundred Maine partridges, already has been worked out, he said. The problem is transport of the caribou, which weigh about 400 pounds each.

An original request to the navy from the Maine department of Inland fisheries and game for assistance in placing the caribou in Maine's Baxter State Park was refused. The navy felt such aid might deprive private helicopter operators of business.

Muskie said he has been advised that no commercial operator in Maine owns helicopters large enough to carry the caribou.

Helicopters are necessary because no roads exist in the area of the park planned for the animals. Muskie asked that the services of one air-sea rescue-type helicopter be provided for one day, without charge.

PRAIRIES FREEZE

EDMONTON (CP)—The Prairies crackled in below - zero temperatures Wednesday. Overnight temperatures reported were 18 below at Edmonton, 23 below at Calgary and seven below at both Lethbridge and Medicine Hat.

Amherst Branch Is Planned By Murphy's Limited

AMHERST (CP) — One of Nova Scotia's oldest industrial firms has announced its decision to locate a branch plant here.

E.J. Murphy, president of Murphy's Limited, a well-known Halifax clothing manufactuer, said his company had completed the purchase of the business and plant of the Maritime Paint Manufacturing Company which was operated here since 1924.

Mr. Murphy in his announcement said the local plant would be renovated to include the installation of new machinery and initially would employ 30 persons and up to 75 in 1964. He said he and other officials of his company had been impressed by the skills and co-operative attitude of the needle workers in Amherst and this had been a major influence in their decision to open a branch plant here.

The Halifax company has been in the clothing manufacturing business, specializing in work clothes, casual and sportswear, since 1872.

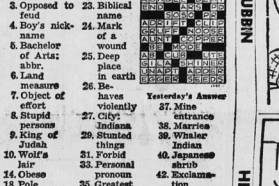
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Opening lead — queen of diamonds.

Declarer can occasionally disguise his plan of play, but most of the time it is not too difficult for the defense to see what he is trying to do.

Let's say you're sitting East, defending against four spades. West leads the queen of diamonds and declarer takes the ace and promptly ruffs a diamond. Right at this point you say to yourself that South is preparing some kind of endplay, since there is no particularly good reason for him to trump the diamond except that he wants to eliminate the suit from dummy.

Declarer now cashes the A-K of spades and then leads the jack of clubs from dummy. You duck, of course, and West wins with the king. He returns the four of clubs and you top the six with the seven, tosing to the nine.

South now cashes the ace of clubs, thus eliminating all the clubs from the North - South hands, and then enters dummy with a trump and leads a low heart. It is quite obvious by now that if you follow low your partner may be subject to an endplay.

Declarer has gone to a great deal of trouble to arrange the present situation. He no doubt intends to cover the seven with the nine, if he has it, and thus place your partner in a position where he will have to give South a ruff and discard or else return a heart with equally devastating effect.

So to prevent this from happening, you violate the rule of second hand low, and put up the queen. In the actual hand, once you do this, South is a dead duck. He must lose three heart tricks and no down one.

Note that if you play the seven instead of the queen, declarer makes the contract, whether he covers with the nine — which he should — or the king. In either case, he loses only two heart tricks and you have a little explaining to do to an irate partner.
