

Four Beatles Are Honored On Queen's Birthday List

By CAROL KENNEDY
LONDON (CP) — Now it's John, Paul, George and Ringo, M.B.E.

The Beatles have made the topmost hit parade of all—the Queen's birthday honors list. In one of the biggest surprises ever to spring from the twice-yearly honors ritual, all four of the shaggy-haired pop-singing idols who sent the Mersey beat resounding round the world are made members of the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire. They are the first pop-singing group ever to be honored in this way.

Their ticket to ride to Buckingham Palace will probably come in the fall, when the Queen will decorate them at one of six or seven investitures held for the birthday honors.

The Beatles, who once wickered at a show-business presentation that it was nice to get an award each because it was difficult dividing everything into four, add a light-hearted touch to a list touching almost every field of British life but significantly dominated by the Wilsonian themes of efficiency and exports.

Pictou Harbor Project Requires Federal Okay

CAPITAL BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN
OTTAWA — Work on the Trans-Canada Highway across Pictou Harbor has not yet been approved, Public Works Minister Lucien Caron said in the Commons Friday.

He was replying to questions from John Mullally, MP for Kings, who referred to an announcement from Premier Robert Stanfield of Nova Scotia that work should begin immediately on the highway.

Since this is the Trans-Canada Highway route to Prince Edward Island I should like to ask whether this announcement is accurate," Mr. Mullally said.

Mr. Caron said that the necessary approval under the Navigable Waters Protection Act had not yet been given and that the public notice of the construction which is required under the act has not yet been made.

In reply to another question from Mr. Mullally, Mr. Caron said that the general location of the Trans-Canada route up to Truro had been selected but the proposed by-pass of Truro had not been approved by the federal government.

THOUGHT OKAY
HALIFAX (CP) — Premier Stanfield said Friday it "was my understanding that all had been approved" for a proposed $5,000,000 causeway dam across Pictou Harbor near New Glasgow.

He was commenting on a statement in the Commons by Works Minister Caron who said the federal government had not yet approved the project, the harbor section had not been approved under the federal Navigable Waters Protection Act and the provincial government had not published the public notice required by the act.

Premier Stanfield said he had understood all these matters had been approved by the federal agencies concerned before he announced the project Wednesday.

"We'll look into it further," he said.

Extension Sought In Cyprus Force

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Secretary-General U Thant asked the Security Council Friday to extend the life of the United Nations Cyprus force for another six months after its mandate expires June 28.

He said "no real progress" has been made toward settling differences between the Greek and Turkish communities on the island and warned that fighting will probably resume if the UN troops leave.

Since the force was set up in March, 1964, the mandate has been renewed every three months. But this time Thant suggested that a six-month term would be cheaper and more efficient.

railways, is made a life baron. Beeching, 52-year-old top technocrat whose axe-wielding plan to make the railways pay was blunted by hostile traditionalists now is back in his old job as a director of Imperial Chemical Industries. He is also vice-president of ICI of Canada.

ICI, one of the world's biggest industrial complexes, gets a double accolade in the birthday honors. Paul Chambers, soft-spoken, 61-year-old chairman of the giant corporation and onetime income tax official, is made a Knight Commander of the Order of the British Empire.

Another significant honor is the bestowal of a knighthood on Donald Stokes, managing director and deputy chairman of the export-boosting Leyland Motors Corp. The list is crammed with honors of various degrees "for services to exports," ranging from heavy industry to wholesale fashion.

Veteran socialists are honored too. A knighthood goes to Victor Gollancz, 71, white-haired maverick of British publishing who founded the Left Book Club in 1936 and still campaigns tirelessly for left-wing causes.

Emanuel (Manny) Shinwell, last of the romantic revolutionary socialists in Parliament, an eloquent 86-year-old who held office in Britain's first labor government under Ramsay MacDonald in 1924, becomes a Companion of Honor. This exclusive order is limited to 50 members who have performed "conspicuous national service" and carries no title.

DURS SARK RULER
A specially appropriate honor goes to Mrs. Sibiyl Hathaway, hereditary ruler of the tiny Channel Island of Sark, who is made a Dame of the Order of the British Empire. The female equivalent to a knighthood, Mrs. Hathaway, 80, whose mother came from Montreal, is traditionally called "Dame Sark."

Now she will be known officially as Dame Sibiyl Hathaway.

Another pop singer, Frankie Vaughan, is made an officer of the Order of the British Empire — one rung above the Beatles rank — for "services to the welfare of youth."

The Queen's press secretary, Cmdr. Richard Colville, who has been chief Buckingham Palace spokesman since 1947, becomes a knight commander of the Royal Victorian Order — an order reserved for personal services to the sovereign.

Of special Canadian interest are Leonard Wakely, British deputy high commissioner in Ottawa since 1962, who becomes a Companion of the Order of St. Michael and St. George; and Joseph Andrew Whyte, Scottish-born liaison officer to the RCAF employed in Quebec by Scottish Aviation Ltd., who receives the M.B.E.

HONORS WIDESPREAD
Seewoosagar Ramgoolam, premier and finance minister of Mauritius, Britain's tiny colony in the Indian Ocean, also was knighted.

Robert Thompson, who until recently headed the British advisory mission in Saigon training the South Vietnamese in jungle warfare, was made a Knight Commander of the Order of the British Empire.

A lesser honor in the same order, an O.B.E., was given to Stafford Campbell, Britain's charge d'affaires in strife-torn Santo Domingo.

The world of sport was honored by M.B.E.'s to sprinter Dorothy Hyman and Jamaican-born weight-lifter Louis Martin, both members of Britain's Olympic team in Tokyo.

Britain Urges
Car Tariff Deal
With U.S. Gov't

LONDON (CP) — Britain has made an informal approach to the United States urging elimination of the U.S. tariff on automobiles at the manufacturers' level, a British official said Friday.

He said the suggestion was made as a result of the special arrangements between Canada and the U.S. establishing a free-trade market between the two countries in motor vehicles.

One British newspaper, The Sun, in reporting the British approach, said the U.S. reaction was sympathetic and that the American tariff of 6 1/2 per cent may be ended within two years.

However, a Canadian authority here suggested this report may be over-optimistic.

PM And Shastri
Exchange Views
On Viet Nam

OTTAWA (CP) — The prime ministers of India and Canada conferred for nearly 3 1/2 hours Friday, mainly about Viet Nam.

Aides to Mr. Shastri and Mr. Pearson said the talks were aimed at an exchange of ideas, not joint decisions.

The two leaders discussed possible methods of achieving a ceasefire in Viet Nam and the problem of getting negotiations started.

Mr. Pearson briefed Mr. Shastri on the difficulties the United States is facing in Viet Nam while the visitor told his host about Russia's views on the situation. Mr. Shastri visited Moscow recently.

Fire Outbreak
Is Contained

CENTRAL RAWDON, N.S. (CP) — A fire which burned 25 acres of slash and young growth in this area about 2 1/2 miles from Halifax was contained late Friday.

A spokesman for the lands and forests department said men were still at the scene of the fire, driven early Friday by winds up to 30 miles per hour.

Another fire near the Halifax suburb of Arnsdale burned about 25 acres of scrub land before being extinguished within two hours. A fire department spokesman said buildings were damaged.

Wide Changes Okayed By Commons In Procedure

OTTAWA (CP) — Sweeping changes in the Commons rules of procedure, including a controversial guillotine to cut off opposition filibusters, were approved Friday at the end of a 15-day debate.

The new rules take effect Monday and will remain in force for the remainder of this session and during the next session on a trial basis.

The guillotine rule, inspired by a device sometimes used in the British Parliament, was approved 103 to 33 in a roll-call vote.

Lining up with 73 Liberals were 12 New Democrats, 10 Creditists, five Social Credit MPs and three Conservatives who broke the party line—Eloise Jones (Saskatoon), R. G. L. Fairweather (Royal) and Paul Martineau (Pontiac-Temiscamingue).

The rule was opposed by 32 Conservatives and Arnold Peters (NDP—Timiskaming).

MANY ABSENT
The vote revealed unusually high absenteeism in the 265-seat House. The vote was missed by 58 Conservatives, including Opposition Leader Diefenbaker who denounced the guillotine as a threat to the rights of Parliament and as the weapon of autocratic bureaucrats. Mr. Diefenbaker was in Huntsville, Ont., to address a service club convention.

Also absent from the vote were 31 Liberals, including Prime Minister Pearson who was holding talks with visiting Indian Prime Minister Shastri, five New Democrats, four Social Credit MPs, three Creditists and the two independent members.

Johnson Promotes Space Twins During Visit To Houston Centre

By JOHN BARBOUR
HOUSTON (AP) — Two sharp-eyed U.S. space fliers told Friday of seeing the streetlights of earth and of a wonderful walk in the heavens carrying three sacred tokens. Then they met President Johnson, who promoted them on the spot.

The president bestowed command pilot James McDivitt and Edward White, both air force majors, to the rank of lieutenant-colonel.

The president said this was the "little token" he had promised McDivitt and White. It was, he said, "something you can eat as well as wear."

At the same time, he nominated two other astronauts — Gemini III command pilot Virgil Grissom and Mercury astronaut Gordon Cooper — for the boost from air force major to lieutenant-colonel as well.

The joy and thrill and the exhilaration that Ed White felt on his walk from the Pacific Ocean to the Atlantic ran through the veins of all of us," Johnson said. He spoke in front of the mission control centre that directed the Gemini IV flight.

GIVES ALBUM
The astronauts gave Johnson a photograph album of chronological pictures of the Gemini IV flight.

The quick visit by the president and Mrs. Johnson, a stop-over on their way to the LBJ ranch, took something over an hour. Johnson said that the two newest astronauts had given up an invitation to the ranch because it would focus too much attention on them at the expense of others in the space program.

Just six hours before, the astronauts had described at the wide-ranging story of their four days in space — spiced with friendly banter.

McDivitt and White both said they could have lasted out another day in space, and wanted to.

White, who walked in space for some 20 minutes, said he had three sacred objects in his right-hand lower pocket for the occasion.

UN Commission Approves China At Arms Conference

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Over U.S. objections, the United Nations disarmament commission endorsed Friday an Asian-African proposal for a world arms conference that would include Communist China.

The vote in the 114-country commission was 89 to 0, with 16 abstentions. The United States and France abstained. Canada voted in favor.

The approved resolution welcomed the idea of a world disarmament meeting put forward last October at a Cairo meeting of non-aligned countries and recommended that the UN assembly give urgent consideration to the proposal at its fall session.

The U.S. expressed serious doubts as to the value of a world conference and said it might turn into a propaganda forum that would do more harm than good.

U.S. delegate William C. Foster appealed to the commission to leave the arms negotiations in the hands of the 17-country treaty commission which has met periodically in Geneva.

BACKED BY RUSSIA
The approved proposal was sponsored by 36 Asian and African countries. It was strongly backed by the Soviet bloc, which insisted it was important to see that all countries are invited to take part in the discussions.

The Nationalist Chinese delegation refused to take part in the vote.

Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin asked rhetorically whether any countries should be barred simply because the U.S. did not like them.

No time was suggested for the proposed conference, but many speakers in debate spoke of the spring or summer of 1966.

TO SPEAK HERE

Mrs. W. S. Watson of Vancouver, B.C., national field secretary for the Women's Christian Temperance Union, will speak at Zion Presbyterian Church, Charlottetown, tomorrow at 11 a.m., and Sunday evening at First Baptist Church. She will address the local WCTU Monday afternoon and evening. Mrs. Watson is past president of the WCTU and world recording secretary for the organization. She attended the world triennial convention in India in 1962 and will attend the world convention in Switzerland Sept. 1 to 18.

Parliament At A Glance

FRIDAY, June 11, 1965
The Commons would open 13 days of debate on rule changes with approval for the measures to streamline business procedures.

The formal vote on whether or not to impose a debate-limiting rule was approved 103 to 33.

The changes provide for limited question periods, limits for appropriations debates and abolition of the supper and lunch recesses.

They also revamp the Commons committees into 21 units corresponding to government agencies.

MONDAY, June 14
The Commons meets at 2:30 p.m. to study amendments to the Bank Act. The Senate stands adjourned until June 22.

Co-Op Abattoir Reports Profit

TRURO (CP) — The Nova Scotia Co-operative Abattoir ended the fiscal year with a $5,989 profit in contrast with a $127,000 deficit the previous year, president Douglas Curtis said here Friday.

Mr. Curtis said total sales last year were $5,071,001.

He attributed the gain to the increase of animals slaughtered as production more than tripled. Shareholders will attend the annual meeting here next Thursday. Guest speaker will be Agriculture Minister I.W. Akerley.

GUERRILLAS SOUGHT AT DONG XOAI

Viet Cong Use Captives For Shields In Assault

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese paratroopers pushed through dense jungle Friday, seeking a Viet Cong guerrilla force that devastated the town of Dong Xoai and its American special forces camp.

The 52nd South Vietnamese Ranger Battalion, which suffered heavy casualties in pushing the Communists out of the community 60 miles north of Saigon, remained behind, handling the many dead and wounded — soldier and civilian, adult and child.

South Vietnamese authorities said about 150 civilians were killed at Dong Xoai, including women and children. They listed 108 soldiers killed, 126 missing and 46 wounded.

The South Vietnamese also claimed that 300 Viet Cong were killed in Dong Xoai and another 600 by U.S. and South Vietnamese air strikes three to four miles north of the town. These figures were not confirmed by U.S. authorities.

Three Americans were known dead, with 15 missing and another 15 wounded, U.S. military authorities said.

All of the 11 U.S. army special forces men and nine U.S. navy Seebies who had been at a camp adjoining Dong Xoai were listed as dead, wounded or missing. In addition, eight members of two U.S. helicopters destroyed while bringing reinforcements to the battle zone were listed as missing. The other five on the casualty list were believed to be Americans who came in with South Vietnamese reinforcements.

The three known deaths brought the total of American combat fatalities in Viet Nam since December, 1961, to 409.

Another eight Americans — two air force and six army men — were killed when a C-123 transport crashed in flames in central South Viet Nam. The plane was ferrying ammunition, fuel and supplies from Nha Trang to Pheikou Cause of the crash was not yet known.

Rangers who fought their way into Dong Xoai found the bodies of eight South Vietnamese soldiers with their hands tied behind their backs with wire. They apparently had been used as human shields in one of the Viet Cong attacks.

RECRUITS PANIC
Some of the Rangers were raw recruits who went into shock at the first taste of battle. With tears running down their cheeks they asked to be taken out. But Viet Cong automatic weapons emplacement made it impossible for evacuation helicopters to land.

After a few final feinting offensive jabs which kept the South Vietnamese pinned down while the major Communist force pulled back into the jungle, the Viet Cong withdrew Friday morning at 6 a.m.

The Rangers took over the town, finding broken charred bodies sprawled throughout the debris. Bodies of infants were crumpled as if they were discarded dolls.

Move Called Effort To Involve Canada

By DAVE McINTOSH
OTTAWA (CP) — Sultan Mohammed Khan, Pakistan high commissioner to Canada, said Friday he has brought to the attention of External Affairs Minister Martin a full-page advertisement by the Indian high commission in the Ottawa Citizen accusing Pakistan of naked aggression in the Rann of Kutch border dispute.

"I take strong exception to this and I am certainly going to report to my government," he said of the advertisement.

The advertisement was placed during the second day of Indian Prime Minister Shastri's five-day visit to Canada and immediately caused a full-scale diplomatic uproar.

Mr. Khan asked in an interview with a Canadian Press reporter "Why would the Indian high commission choose this time to do that when Mr. Shastri is paying a so-called goodwill visit?"

The advertisement was placed during the second day of Indian Prime Minister Shastri's five-day visit to Canada and immediately caused a full-scale diplomatic uproar.

Mr. Khan asked in an interview with a Canadian Press reporter "Why would the Indian high commission choose this time to do that when Mr. Shastri is paying a so-called goodwill visit?"

It was "very poor manners" for any government to use the occasion of a government leader's visit to issue an advertisement "to run down another country."

DEPLORES AD
"I must deplore this," the high commissioner said.

He said Pakistan will not buy newspaper space to express its views on the Rann of Kutch dispute in the India-Pakistan border area.

"Newspaper columns are hardly the place to lay a legal claim to territory," Mr. Khan said.

India had made a "very left-handed and awkward attempt to drag Canada" into the dispute. The advertisement would create misunderstandings between Canada and Pakistan.

"Mr. Shastri is called a man of peace, a devotee of Gandhi and a follower of Nehru who doesn't hesitate to use force when it suits his purpose," Mr. Khan declared.

"What manner of man would proclaim peace and spend more than $100 million on a war machine?"

ACCUSE PAKISTAN
The full-page ad — Mr. Khan said the word "advertisement" was in such small type that the reader won't see it and Canadians will see the headline and wonder what Pakistan is up to."

Mr. Young said it was a paid ad for which the Indian high commission takes full responsibility.

The Indian spokesman said "We want to have friendly relations with Pakistan but we thought that the facts had not been properly brought to the attention of the Canadian public. It was nothing else."

Bill Requires Breath Tests

OTTAWA (CP) — Barry Mather (NDP-New Westminster) introduced a bill in the Commons Friday to have driver breath analysis tests made compulsory. The tests measure the amount of alcohol in the blood stream.

Mr. Mather said the bill, if passed, would help reduce the number of traffic accidents and deaths. In 1963, one-third of all accidents involved alcohol, he said.

Outside the House, the MP added that his bill incorporates proposals made by the Canadian Bar Association in co-operation with the Canadian Medical Association. The bill would repeal sections of the Criminal Code which "protect the guilty but give no shield to the innocent."
