In Memoriam

MRS. MAURICE CREAD
The community of Sturgeon was saddened and shocked by the sudden death on May 28th of one of its most beloved members, Mrs. Maurice Cread. Although for some years she could not number perfect health among the blessings
she enjoyed, yet uncomplainingly, and in a truly Christian manner, she carried on the duties of a loving wife and mother.
Her many friends, both old and young, to whom she was famously known as "Kaye", and some of whom had enjoyed her cheerful company and had witnessed her perform her ordinary household duties on the day of her death, feel that a noble woman has been taken from their midst.
Born at Stanhope on June 5, 1921, she was the daughter of Mr.
and Mrs. Thomas McCabe. Almost all her life prior to her marriage, with the exception of a couple of years in Charlottetown, was spent in her home district where, because of her kind and cheerful disposition, she was liked by all who knew her. That she was held in such high esteem by all was demonstrated by the number of neighbors and friends who came to share in the great sorrow of the bereaved family.
Married in November, 1948, she went to Sturgeon, the home of her sister, but happy wedded life.
Here, because of her high Christian principles and sterling character, she won a lasting and loving place in the hearts of the members of the community.
The leaves to mourn besides her sorrowing husband, one son and three daughters, Lewis, aged six; Margaret, a girl; Laura, three and Joanna Marie, seven weeks. Surviving to cherish the memory of a devoted daughter and sister are her father and mother; seven sisters, Mary (Mrs.
Ignatius Murphy) Charlottetown, Marion (Mrs. Reginald MacDonald) Charlottetown, Caroline
(Mrs. Courtney MacDonald)
Grand Tracadie, Agatha, Charlottetown, Laura (Sister James Charles) St. Vincent's Orphanage, Charlottetown, Anita (Mrs.
Fred Whelan) Lancaster, N. B., Clare, Stanhope, and one brother,
Joseph, Stanhope.
Her largely attended funeral
was held from her late residence
to St. Paul's Church, Sturgeon, where Requiem High Mass was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. F.
Mullally, who also officiated at the grave. Present in the sanctuary were: Rev. F. Wood, Rev.
J. A. Sullivan, Rev. Leonard Mc-Kenna, Rev. E. Roche, Rev. V.
Murnaghan and Rev. R. Mc-Keown, C.S.R. The pall bearers were: Howard Jamieson, Harold Jamieson, Godfrey Jamieson, Milton
Reynolds, Philip Jamieson
and James V. Cread.
May her soul rest in peace.

In Memoriam

MRS. MARGARET JARVIS
The death occurred in South
Rustico on April 11th at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Louis Pineau of Mrs. Margaret Jarvis in her 83rd year, after an illness of 2 1/2 years.
Mrs. Margaret Jarvis was the former Margaret Gallant, daughter of the late Arcade Gallant and Virginia Blanchard of South Rustico, where she lived practically all her life.
Although she had been confined to bed through illness for the past few years she was able to take a keen interest in the affairs of every day life until a few weeks before her passing; and she bore her suffering with true Christian fortitude.
She is survived by one daughter (Helena) Mrs. Louis Pineau;
also two brothers, Marin of Wellington and Luke of South Rustico, and one sister, Mrs. Felix Gallant of Rustico.
Her husband predeceased her
by nine years.
During her lengthy illness she was visited often by her pastor,
Rev. J. C. Pitre, who administered the last rites of Holy Mother Church.
The funeral under the direction of the "Andrew's Funeral Home"
was held from her late residence
to St. Augustine's Church, where Requiem High Mass was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. J. C. Pitre, who also conducted services
at the grave.
Pallbearers were: Messrs. Herbert Blanchard, James L. LePage,
John E. Gauthier, Elmer Gallant,
Ambrose Gallant and John Baker.
Dearest Mother, thou has left us
And our loss we deeply feel,
But 'tis God who has bereft us
He can all our sorrows heal.
Yet again we hope to meet thee
When the day of life is fled,
When a Heaven with joy to greet thee.
Where no farewell tears are shed.

British Worker Punished For Refusing To Strike

BARNESLEY, England (Reuters)—George Howarth's fellow-workers at the railway depot here decided to punish him for staying on the job when his union called a national rail strike last month.
Howarth was "sent to Coventry" for life—which means no one he works with will ever speak to him. When the veteran locomotive engineer finished work the other night, he found his bicycle smashed. He had to walk the two miles home.
And Saturday Howarth was x-rayed in the hospital here for suspected fractured ribs—the result, he said, of being kicked by his co-workers.
Being "sent to Coventry" usually has tragic consequences. In one case recently when a worker was snubbed by his colleagues—men he had worked with for years—he committed suicide.
The bitterness engendered by the rail strike has been shown in a variety of odd situations. In some trains, engineers and firemen in the cab on the same locomotive do not speak to each other. The wives of strikers have ostracized the wives of non-strikers—and the practice has even spread to their children.

Capital Flow From U. S., Down From U. K. Higher

OTTAWA (CP)—United States investment for Canadian industrial development declined in 1954 while the flow of capital from Britain increased.
Mostly because of the U.S. decline, total imports of capital for industrial expansion from all countries dropped by $50,000,000 to $376,000,000, the bureau of statistics reported Friday.
It was the first decline in post-war years, but the amount of the investment was higher than in any year previous to 1953.
The flow from the U.S. declined by $55,000,000 to $376,000,000 while that from Britain increased by $18,000,000 to $68,000,000.
MINING INVESTMENT DOWN
Most of the U.S. drop resulted from a decline in mining investment. American capital directed to the oil industry rose to a record $207,000,000 from $158,000,000 in 1953, boosting the total investment in this field since 1945 to $827,000,000.
Investment for pulp and paper industries jumped to $23,000,000 from $1,000,000, but for the mining industry declined to $61,000,000 from $103,000,000.
However, with other forms of American investment in Canada continuing to rise, the total value of all investments in Canada, including holdings in government bonds, rose by $707,000,000 in 1954, boosting the year-end total to $9,547,000,000.
This almost double the $4,990,000,000 in 1945.

Brandon Plans Mass Evacuation

BRANDON (CP)—Proof that mass evacuation can be a picnic will come out of this western Manitoba city Sunday.
G. R. Rowe, civil defence director, said he expects about 5,000 of Brandon's 24,000 citizens will take part in the two-hour civil defence exercise starting at 3 p.m. CDT.
Three evacuation routes have been selected. And to encourage participation, organizers are throwing a giant barbecue at each reception area.
Farmers and city businessmen contributed the goods and services and even the meal has been worked into the over-all plan of what has been dubbed "Operation Barbecue."
The barbecue will provide a tasty demonstration of the civil defence emergency feeding course taught by the sub-area committee.
While Brandon isn't considered a likely target area, its civil defence group figures it would be called on to handle a large portion of Winnipeg's population should that larger city be attacked with nuclear weapons.

Fine Paper Prices Higher

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—Hammermill Paper Co. has increased paper prices $10 a ton.
The company makes fine papers, such as those for correspondence, printed business forms and advertising and sales literature.
The increase follows a four-per-cent wage increase recently granted Hammermill workers.
In recent weeks, Howard Smith Paper Mills Ltd., major Canadian manufacturer, boosted prices for all its grades of fine paper, and International Paper Co. and National Container Corp. announced increases on certain grades of kraft paperboard.

House Committee Approves Loans Bill

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons banking and commerce committee Thursday approved a bill enabling banks and credit unions to make government-guaranteed loans to fishermen.
The committee decided to include credit unions in the legislation after hearing representations from several co-operative credit organizations. The bill originally limited the government guarantee to bank loans.
The loans may be up to $4,000

Pinay Rejects Two Major Points In Peace Plan Proposed By Molotov

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay of France Thursday rejected two major points in Moscow's peace plan. He lined up firmly with continuing efforts to achieve peace and international trust through the United Nations.
Pinay said in a speech to the 10th anniversary conference of the UN that his government ruled out the "senseless" of a neutralized Germany. He also said France refuses to acknowledge that there are foreign military bases in any NATO country.
The French minister thus gave the UN the first major Western reaction to the proposals put before the conference Wednesday by Russia's V. M. Molotov.
UNOFFICIAL REACTION
The unofficial reaction of Western delegates is that Molotov's speech, raising once more the old Soviet criticisms of the West, did not jibe with his apparent policy of courting good will in the West and especially among the American people. These delegates said that while Molotov's words were in a slight measure more restrained than in the old days, the price for peace remained the same.
Molotov called on the great powers to withdraw their forces from Germany. This is part of the Moscow concept of a neutralized Germany in an European security belt. Molotov also urged the great powers to dismantle military bases on foreign territories. This hit mainly at the United States, which has bases on foreign territories through agreements with various countries.
On Germany, Pinay said German unity must be re-established with equal security for all.
"We must rule out the misconception of a neutral Germany which might some day become an overarmed Germany and also rule out the senselessness of a neutralized Germany for a great people cannot indefinitely be subjected to a trusteeship," Pinay said.
MUST GIVE CHOICE
"We must, in my opinion, give a free Germany the choice of her being associated to a system of security, including reciprocal limitation and control of armaments.
"My country is not prepared to abandon the security insured to it by the Atlantic organization. My

Give Figures On Strength Of Armed Forces

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—Combat strength of Canada's armed forces is less than half their total number of personnel.
The three services have 117,000 names on their roll-call. Of these, 52,400 are in actual fighting or operational units—28,000 in the army, 16,800 in the air force and 7,600 in the navy.
Officials said Wednesday that, all things considered, this proportion of combat to non-combat personnel is "good." The defence department also employs nearly 55,000 civilians.
To keep forces ready to fight, there must be large training, administration and headquarters staffs. The three services operate no less than 1,422 regular and militia units at home and abroad.
SCULPTOR ARRIVES
TORONTO (CP)—Scottish sculptor Bill Broome, 31, whose Terracotta nude entry in an Aberdeen art show was termed pornographic has arrived in Toronto. Broome, with his artist wife, June, hopes to set up a studio school here.
OLDEST LEGION MEMBER
BRANTFORD (CP)—Oldest active member of the Canadian Legion in Canada, 92-year-old William Farmer of Paris placed flowers Sunday when the Paris branch of the Legion held its annual decoration service. Mr. Farmer is a veteran of service in the Khyber pass, in the Afghan war, and in the South African war.

No Beer, Wine In Parliamentary Restaurant

OTTAWA (CP)—Commons Speaker Rene Beaudoin announced Wednesday that a proposal to sell beer and wine in the parliamentary restaurant has been dropped.
He made the announcement about 20 hours after disclosing that he and Senate Speaker Wishart Robertson were exploring the possibility of using the profits from such sales to reduce the annual subsidy granted to the restaurant and cafeteria by Parliament. The beer and wine would have been sold with meals.
Mr. Beaudoin's announcement said publicity received by his announcement Tuesday "has provoked sufficient discussion to make it clear that there is not a wide enough general agreement in favor of the proposal to warrant its being put into effect."
In the Commons Wednesday, Rev. Dan McIvor, 80-year-old United Church minister, said beer and wine should not be served with meals in the restaurant.

The folks who didn't like civilization

We knew a fellow once who wanted to be independent. "I don't want any more truck with soft, modern life," he said. "I'm going to stand on my own two feet!" . . .

And he did . . . for a while. Moved out of town, away from things like running water and automatic heating . . . even had the electricity cut off. Then he set to, busily chopping down all the handsome birch trees in the neighbourhood, for firewood.

My, he was proud of himself, those first few days. "We depend on nobody," he proclaimed. "Nobody," echoed his faithful wife.

After the first week of trimming wicks in smelly kerosene lamps, his wife said, "This independence is wonderful except for lighting. Be kind of nice if we had enough light to read by, now we've got no radio or television. Let's have the electric power turned on and we'll just use it for lights." So they did.

A couple of days later she had another idea. "Doesn't seem much sense to keep on having food go bad, when the power's right here in the house. Let's stay completely independent of all those soft civilized things except for an electric refrigerator." So they ordered their refrigerator out of storage and started eating better right away. Only now and then when the fire in the cook stove wouldn't burn right, the wife would have a little twinge of doubt.

Still, after they'd had their TV set sent out (didn't seem much sense not to, once they'd had the power turned on) and he'd had an automatic furnace installed (seemed a shame to cut down all those birches, besides it's such hard work) things seemed to go pretty well for a time. Then one day the wife heard a funny whining noise. "Why that rascal's using a power saw!" she muttered, and went right down cellar to tell him off. They had quite a little row about it.

But that was nothing to the day he came in and caught her going over the floors with her electric floor polisher. "I thought we left that in the city," he glowered. They yakked at one another till finally he threatened to just move back to civilization. "Fine," she said. "I never did really believe in this crazy notion of yours." And she started rummaging around for the real estate ads in the newspaper.

Well, as you see in the picture they've got themselves moved into a nice new house, with lots of those modern "electrical gadgets". "My goodness it makes you feel independent," they say. "No fires to tend, no laundry to slave over, no water to heat up . . . why we don't even have to wind our clocks! Independence . . . it's wonderful!"

FAR FETCHED? Far from it . . . the home pictured above will be equipped a little better than average, but no better than many thousands of Canadian homes, both old and new. These "electrical servants," and the modern lighting and adequate wiring that naturally go with them in a well-equipped home, make life vastly easier and pleasanter. Yet the cost of operating them is surprisingly little, for Canada's far-sighted electrical utilities are constantly expanding their facilities to provide abundant electricity at low cost. The total price of all the equipment in the picture would be only that of an average new automobile. Of course, you don't have to buy everything at once, it's easy to add one item at a time and financing can be arranged in any of a number of ways. While you're in the mood to live better, drop in and see your General Electric dealer.
