Hill-Rogers Wedding At St. Peter's Cathedral

At eleven o'clock this morning at St. Peter's Cathedral, the wedding will take place of Rosemary Margaret Rogers, daughter of Mrs. George Jonah Rogers and the late Mr. Rogers to Mr. Harry Douglas Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Henry Hill, Charlottetown. Rev. Canon E. M. Malone will officiate. Miss Suzanne Brenton, L.Mus., will play the wedding music. The church will be decorated in a color scheme of pink and white gladioli.

Given in marriage by her brother Mr. George J. Rogers, she will wear a gown of white satin with lace front panel and lace sleeves, the fitted bodice with lace insertion, the skirt gathered over the hips and flowing in a train applied with lace. Her full-length veil will be held in place by a headdress of white and pink flowers and she will carry a cascade bouquet of Lester Hibbard roses.

The maid of honour is Miss Barbara Quigley of Halifax, N. S. She will wear a gown of rosebud satin with a low square neckline and full skirt. She will carry a bouquet of Tallman roses. For her headdress Miss Quigley will wear a bandeau of brown and yellow ostrich feathers. The bridesmaids, Miss Elaine Godfrey of Ottawa, Ont., and Miss Marjorie Hill, sister of the groom, will be gowned alike in floor-length frolic brown satin fashioned on the same lines as the maid of honour's gown and they will wear similar head-dresses. They will carry bouquets of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums.

Mr. Hill will be attended by his brother Mr. Donald Hill as best man. The ushers will be Mr. Thomas N. Rogers, brother of the bride and Mr. William Bear.

Mrs. Rogers, the bride's mother has chosen a gown of brown crepe with lace bodice and long lace sleeves and matching hat. Her corsage will be of yellow gladioli. Mrs. Hill will be gowned in a grey-blue dress with matching bolero and wine accessories.

A reception will follow at "Faltholm", residence of the bride's mother, Dr. R. F. Seaman will propose the toast to the bride.

Following the reception Mr. and Mrs. Hill will leave on a motor trip to the White Mountains and New York. For travelling the bride will wear a brown suit and brown feather hat with a corsage of yellow roses.

Out of town guests present will be Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Thorne, Halifax, Mrs. F. G. Elkin, Saint John, N. B., Miss Barbara Quigley of Halifax, N. S., Miss Elaine Godfrey, Ottawa, Ont., Miss Elizabeth Dawson, Mr. George Dawson, Sherbrooke, Que., Miss Edith Jones, Saint John, N. B., Mrs. R. D. Quigley, Halifax, N.S.

Tyler-Gehrke Wedding

Nuptial vows were exchanged at Knox Presbyterian Church by Miss Lillian Gehrke and Mr. Frederick Harry Tyler, both of whom travelled from Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, for the ceremony. The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Gehrke, of Red Deer, and the groom the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tyler, of Cutknife, Sask. Both are employed as program secretaries at the Y. M. C. A. in Charlottetown, P. E. I. They are graduates of the University of Alberta, and also hold degrees in social work from the University of British Columbia.

Streamers and flowers in pink and white were used as decorations in both the church and at the home of the bride's parents, where the reception was held afterward. White bows were caught up with small nosegays of pink and white sweet peas to mark the pews, and baskets of flowers were arranged at the front of the church. Rev. W. R. Bell officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a floor-length gown of white satin. The bodice was of lace and the sleeves were long with light points at the wrist. A beaded corsage held the bride's full-length veil and her bouquet was of pink and white gladioli. A string of pearls was her only jewellery.

The bridesmaid was Miss Hazel Suffern, R.N., Powell River. Her gown was of pink velveta-ray, and her corsage of flowers held a matching net veil in place. Pink and white snapdragons formed her arm bouquet.

Patricia Gehrke, sister of the bride, was flower girl. Her floor-length gown was of pink organza and she wore a matching corsage. Her nosegay was of pink and white sweet peas.

Mr. Ronald Manery, Edmonton, was best man, and the ushers were Mr. William Gehrke and Mr. John Butler, both of Red Deer. Miss Lily Cluendel played the wedding music, and during the signing of the register, Mr. R. E. Barrett sang "O Promise Me."

Seventy-five guests were entertained at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Gehrke, following the ceremony. For the occasion, the bride's mother chose a street-length frock of navy crepe with white accessories and corsage of red roses. Mrs. Tyler, mother of the groom, chose a brown floral jersey with brown accessories and corsage of yellow roses.

The bride's table was laid with a hand-crocheted lace cloth, and silver tapers flanked the three-tiered wedding cake. Vases of asters, sweet peas and gladioli in pink and white were used throughout the room.

Mr. Bell proposed the toast to the bride. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. John Niblock, Innisfail, Mrs. George Butler, and Mrs. William Gatz. Misses Pauline Arnett, Mildred Rosenberger, Muriel Jones and Mrs. Ronald Manery, all of Edmonton, assisted in serving.

The bride and groom will spend their honeymoon making the return trip to Prince Edward Island, where they will reside. For travelling, the bride chose a green checked suit with white accessories and yellow roses in corsage.

Out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Rad and son, Invermere, B. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wilson and daughter, Miss Iveligh Wilson, Calgary; Mr. Kenneth Weas, Calgary; Mrs. David Jones, Mr. and Mrs. John Niblock and family, all of Innisfail; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sodenberg, Peace River; Mr. and Mrs. Murray Peterson and family, Bentley; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Suffern, Peabold; Mr. H. Tyler, Cutknife, Sask.; and the following from Edmonton: Misses Pauline Arnett, Mildred Rosenberger and Muriel Jones, Mr. David Jones, and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Manery. (Red Deer Advocate, Alta.)

began to yelp its appreciation. "Wh-wh," the indignant orator began to sputter. "I never..." Then, as the light broke, he hastily went on with his speech keeping a careful eye on the stand ahead.

Modern Etiquette

Q. If a young man is engaged to be married, should he resent it if the girl's father asks him questions pertaining to his financial affairs, business position, and the like?

A. No; the father has a perfect right to be concerned about everything that might affect the nuptials of his daughter.

Q. What should a hostess do when a caller brings her a box of flowers?

A. First, of course, thank the caller sincerely and graciously. Then arrange the flowers immediately in a vase of water and display them prominently.

Q. What would be a good toast for a son to offer his father?

A. "I pay my hearty respects to the man who so singularly honored me—by being my father."

How Can I!!!

By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I push the brass curtain rods through the hems of lace curtains more easily?

A. Cover the end of the brass rod with an old glove finger, and it will not catch when running in the hems of lace, scrim, or net curtains.

Q. How can I prevent the scattering of crumbs when running bread through the food chopper?

A. Fasten a paper bag over the opening of the chopper with a rubber band.

Q. How can I steam-cook an apple pie?

A. When baking an open-top apple pie, invert another pie pan over it. This will make the steam cook the pie thoroughly.

Is Office Experience Best Training For Matrimony?

A young man wants to know if working girls make good wives. To which inquiry one must return the noncommittal answer of "Yes—and no."

Undoubtedly in many ways the best training a girl can get for matrimony is in business. It broadens her mind and clears her vision. It brings her down out of the clouds and plants her feet on a hard world. It cures her of sentimentalism and the propensity to make everything a personal issue, which are the curses of her sex.

It teaches her to control her temper and her emotions, for no girl could keep a job if she went into hysterics every time she was criticized. It teaches her promptness and accuracy, for her bread and butter depends on her punching the timeclock at the precise minute and turning out good work. It teaches her the value of money and how much labor and pain and weariness go into the making of every dollar.

TEACHES UNDERSTANDING

Above all, it teaches her understanding and sympathy with men. She knows, as the home-keeping girl cannot possibly know, how terrible

Candle Holders

Candle-holders for a children's party can be made by using polished red apples, hollowing out to receive the ends of the candles. These are especially nice where a color scheme of red and white is being scheme.

Remove the Spoon

Be sure never to leave a spoon in the saucepan if you wish the contents to boil quickly. The spoon will only serve to carry off much of the heat and delay the cooking.

Lumpy Sugar

If the sugar has become hard and lumpy, put it into the refrigerator for a day or two, and it will then be just as soft as ever.

DEATH RATE IN ACUTE APPENDICITIS HAS BEEN GREATLY REDUCED

Some years ago a cartoonist pictured two trees standing side by side, on one of which the tree surgeon had finished his operation by applications of cement. One tree was saying to the other, "Did I tell you about my operation?" The cartoon appeared about the time that operations for removal of the appendix were so common and the conversation at bridge, golf, or other games naturally was about these operations.

We do not hear or read so much these days about operations; usually conversations today are such about blood pressure because heart and brain attacks are in most cases caused by high blood pressure.

I have written before of what was called the Philadelphia experiment in which the physicians, and citizens also, of that city determined to establish a record in reducing the deaths from appendicitis. The efforts to reduce the death rate was so successful that a world's record was established. Three rules were followed: (1) no purgative, (2) no food, (3) early operation. These suggestions are now being followed practically all over the world.

In Archives of Surgery, Chicago, Drs. L. R. Slaterry, S. A. Yanniteil, and J. W. Hinton, state that during the past ten years there has been a spectacular drop in the death rate of acute appendicitis. There were 14,313 deaths due to appendicitis in the United States in 1939. While in 1946 there were only 5,285. These physicians review 952 cases of acute appendicitis treated in the Fourth Surgical Division of Bellevue Hospital during the 20 year period 1928-1947.

The greatest single factor in reduction of the death rate was

ELLEN'S DIARY

By An Island Farmer's Wife

Another September week is almost spent. Weekday tasks have been completed, night unfolds us, and we await The Lord's Day to come. It has been a good week, this one now passing contributing its share of lovely events for individual and family. Dawns have ushered in happy days, twilights have brought their pleasant close. There have been nice out-goings and homings, happenings so usual as often to be regarded casually, and meal-times have gathered unbroken circles about our tables—smiling, friendly faces gathered in from their interests of the day, come again to the goodly shelter of the familiar roof-tree. And looking about we are not unmindful that our recent days have been good, bearing us more happiness than indeed we deserved. Yet along human ways does he deal with us. But tonight while grateful for many a blessing in regard to home and family and friends we find our week ending on a sad note for us when it remains in mind that in many an Island home of late, and within our knowledge, illness and bereavement have brought their grim dark shadows.

There are, we know, those houses resting now beneath the quiet of this clearing star-set night where mothers and nurses keep vigilant watch beside a child's sleep that is restless and fever-tossed. And tragic that it is, there are as well those beds under eaves where once precious lads slept, with to

There came a long and tense pause, while a delighted audience
